SENATE BARES BOONDOGGLING IN LEND-LEASE

Juggling of Funds Eats Up Billions.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—The senate, astounded by a newly disclosed 8½ billion dollar lend-lease item, abruptly halted consideration of the administration's plea for a one year extension of the lend-lease program today.

Sen. Taft.

Sen. Taft [R., O.] sharply questioned administration leaders on the possibility of efforts to carry lend-lease spending into the post-war period. The senate then postponed voting until Monday, to give members a chance to study an 11th hour report on lend-lease and related spending which disclosed an extra 8½ billion dollars of spending.

The report, made public yesterday by Chairman McKellar of the appropriations committee, was crammed with facts which senators said they would demand to know more about before voting to extend lend-lease.

36 Billions More Available.

Sen. Bushfield [R., S. D.] drew especial attention to this one: Altho lend-lease spending reported before the 8½ billion extra was discovered is charged to President Roosevelt's 24½ billion dollar lend-lease appropriation, lend-lease transfers up to 36 billion dollars are also possible from funds appropriated to the war and navy departments and the maritime commission.

Some surprise was occasioned in the brief session today when Sen. Taft drew from Chairman Connally [D., Tex.] of the foreign relations committee the information that silver, supplied by the United States as metal, has been minted by the British. The coins thus produced, Connally said, will be used in the near east and other parts of the world.

Money for Banana Trade.

The report over which the senators expect to spend the week-end is 36 typewritten pages long, accompanied by voluminous charts. Its subjects range from a project described by senators as a "WPA" for banana trade workers in Honduras to American buying aggregating $4,172,856,091 in foreign lands.

The report was compiled by investigators whom McKellar's committee had assigned to get the entire picture of lend-lease from the various government agencies. But the committee members had not even seen the report until McKellar produced it yesterday as speed was being urged in passage of the extension.

The report showed lend-lease reported as such now totals $21,794,237,819. But other spending in foreign lands, which senators say is part of lend-lease operations, bring the actual total to $30,362,687,362.

Reported for First Time.

The hitherto undiscovered 8½ billion dollars extra was spent, lent, or given away by a number of government agencies, principally the army and navy, the foreign economic administration, and the Export-Import bank. Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] said this is the first time that the lend-lease spending of agencies which do not report directly to lend-lease authorities has ever been uncovered.

The largest share of the extra 8½ billions went to the British. Mc-

MEN IN PACIFIC GREET TRIBUNE AS OLD FRIEND

A new enlarged Overseas Tribune is now going to the areas which are surveyed in the following dispatch. At the request of the army exchange service THE TRIBUNE increased the editorial content of the Hawaiian edition by 50 per cent to include new comics, a short fiction story, a page reproduction of a pinup girl, and increased space for sports and general news. Plastic plates for the first issue of this new edition were flown out of Chicago April 20, bound for Honolulu where the edition is printed.

BY HAROLD SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEARL HARBOR, Honolulu, T. H., May 5.—Chicagoland men and women thruout the Pacific are giving a warm reception to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE overseas edition.

They greet the edition as an old friend who brings regular reports of what's going on far back in the well loved region from which they departed, in many cases as much as three years ago.

For many weeks, at training and rest camps hereabouts, they have been getting their new issues weekly from army post exchanges and navy ship service stores. Each edition brings them news from the home area even fresher than that contained in letters, for Overseas Tribunes are printed here from plates flown here by the fastest air service from the mainland.

Tribune at Battle Fronts.

These copies are finding their way to far-flung battle fronts in increasing numbers, as this writer discovered on a recent tour thru most of the Central and South Pacific.

The kits of infantrymen who captured Kwajalein and Eniwetok atolls contained copies of the miniature TRIBUNE.

Behind the lines in spots such as Tarawa, Funafuti, and Espiritu Santo dog-eared specimens of the Overseas TRIBUNE turned up. They were dropped off by airmen or travelers. The papers were almost worn out despite the recent dates they bore. Possessors of copies displayed them proudly to this correspondent on Munda, Guadalcanal, and Vella Lavella.

Soldiers on Bougainville were found passing back issues around so that all could keep up with the comics.

Edition Resembles Parent.

The bulkhead of at least one airplane bears pinups clipped from the overseas TRIBUNE. The reasons for the edition's mounting popularity are as varied as its contents. Former regular readers of THE TRIBUNE say the format of the junior edition closely resembles the parent.

Former nonreaders of THE TRIBUNE have said they gained THE TRIBUNE habit from perusal of the overseas edition.

"You get almost a personal attachment for a publication that brings you the words you are hungry to hear about people you know and events of which you once were a part," said one army colonel, back for a rest with his troops after the Eniwetok invasion. "You can put me down as a new friend of your paper."

Builds Up Morale.

Middle westerners like the Overseas TRIBUNE especially because it brings Chicago news out here shortly after it happens. Full sized newspapers travel fourth class and because of crowded transportation arrive from two to six weeks late.

Officials of service branches speak highly of the morale building value of the Overseas TRIBUNE among combat forces thousands of miles from home.

"In some respects a publication like this is actually better than mail from home," one high ranking officer said. "I don't mean that the men would rather get a newspaper than a personal letter. I am thinking, rather, of the over-all effect of the man in the field getting good news coverage from his home community."

While the circulation of the Overseas edition now is concentrated mainly in rest areas, because tremendous demands on all available shipping, plans are being perfected for the direct mailing of papers to combat zones from the printing points.

INDIAN LEADER AILING; GOES TO FRIEND'S HOME

Held Prisoner Since August, 1942.

LONDON, May 6 [Saturday] (AP).—Mohandas K. Gandhi, frail and ascetic Indian nationalist leader imprisoned 21 months ago, was released from detention at Poona, India, this morning.

A dispatch from Poona said Col. M. G. Bhandari, inspector general of prisons, took Gandhi to "Parnakuti," palatial residence of Vitall das Thackersey, old friend of Gandhi and widow of a Bombay merchant. Friends welcomed him there.

The British government had announced it decided on Gandhi's release because of his failing health.

Aim to Avert Conflict.

The death in detention of Gandhi, leader of millions in a long struggle for freedom from British domination, would have inspired agitators in all parts of India. The British action was believed to have been taken to avert conflict at a time when the allies are fighting the Japanese on the India-Burma front.

The announcement said: "In view of medical reports of Mr. Gandhi's health, the government of India have decided to release him unconditionally. This decision has been taken solely on medical grounds. The release takes place at 8 a. m. today [8:30 p. m. Friday, Chicago time]."

Imprisoned in 1942.

The 74 year old Hindu, whose flair for the theatrical carried him thru nine fasts since 1918, was imprisoned for the sixth time in August, 1942, after political activity which the British regarded as hampering India's resistance to Japan. He was confined in the Aga Khan's ornate palace at Poona.

Early this April it was announced Gandhi was suffering from malaria and was weak, and in the following weeks he grew worse. Five days ago he was said to be improving. It was announced no further bulletins would be issued unless necessary, but two days later the Bombay government said his improvement was not fully maintained and that a further examination was being made by specialists.

The decision to release Gandhi was made by the Indian government and Viceroy Wavell.

Seeks Consultations.

It was believed that Gandhi would have little contact if any with his political followers, because of the state of his health.

The secretary of the India league, V. K. Krishnamenon, said however that he hoped Gandhi would have full freedom "to consult his colleagues, because without such facilities release from prison cannot be a reality."

"It is essential," Krishnamenon said, "that he should be in no way restricted with regard to making efforts to bring about a new situation in India."

No Ruler Had More Power.

No mogul or emperor ever had more power in India than Gandhi, who without rank or post played on the heartstrings of a people accustomed to cherish preachers. His release probably will not stir up India's simmering political cauldron as his death in confinement would have.

In the events leading up to his imprisonment, Gandhi in July of 1942 demanded that Britain hand over the government of India entirely to the Indians and then withdraw. The British, then at war with Japan, refused, and Gandhi was jailed along with other leaders of the Indian congress, which had indorsed Gandhi's demand.

The government told the house of commons at the time that the move was taken to prevent the congress from carrying out a civil disobedience campaign proposed by Gandhi.

MISS KENNEDY'S WEDDING UPSET

Religious Differences May Halt Rite.

BY GRAHAM MILLER.
[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

LONDON, May 6 [Saturday].—Difference of religion caused uncertainty this morning as to whether the marriage of Kathleen Kennedy, 24, daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to the court of St. James's, and the marquis of Hartington, 26, would take place today as originally planned.

Miss Kennedy is a Catholic and the titled Briton, who is the son and heir of the duke of Devonshire, is a Protestant. The marriage was to be performed in the Chelsea registry office. However, it was learned that if Miss Kennedy becomes the wife of the marquis in a civil ceremony she will be regarded as living in sin, not only by her church, but also by her parents and Catholic relatives.

Hurries to Consult Son.

That is the situation that confronts the prospective bridegroom and both families this morning.

As the Crescent Arc club, where Miss Kennedy works, went ahead with plans for a celebration in expectation that the wedding would take place, the dowager duchess of Devonshire hurried to London to consult her son, the duke of Devonshire, as to what should be done. The Devonshire family apparently feels the same as the Kennedys—that the marriage would be a reckless venture.

No member of either family would comment on the situation. But the duke of Devonshire, after a long talk with his son and the dowager duchess, apparently despaired of finding any immediate solution. He walked around his favorite club, the exclusive Pratt's, occasionally pausing to drink port with his cronies, and trying to find what comfort he could. Incidentally, today is the duke's birthday.

Consults Archbishop.

Miss Kennedy, it was learned, discussed with Archbishop Godfrey, apostolic delegate to Britain, her position as a Catholic proposing to undertake a civil marriage. She tried to see if some loophole could be found. She was told that the marriage would not be recognized by the church and that any children resulting from it would be deemed illegitimate.

If the marquis marries her in the Catholic church he will have to agree that any children—and that means the eventual heirs to the dukedom of Devonshire—would be reared in the Catholic faith.

Hartington is not prepared to do that, for his family has been regarded as anti-Catholic for 100 years. The family fortune was founded when Henry VIII. broke away from Rome and did away with monasteries.

Shared Abbey Lands.

William Cavendish, who founded the Devonshire family, did very well for himself on his share of the rich Abbey lands. It was from this beginning that the present rank and extensive possessions of the family sprang.

These antecedents do not endear the marquis' family to the devoutly Catholic Kennedys.

Meanwhile, a closely guarded secret is being made of the whereabouts of Miss Kennedy and the marquis.

Mrs. Kennedy Silent.

Boston, Mass., May 5 [Special].—Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy today declined to say what religious adjustments, if any, will be made if her daughter marries the marquis of Hartington who, as the duke of Devonshire's heir, will some day inherit his father's position as head of the Masonic order in England.

Must Defeat Japs in China to Win, Asserts Staff Officer

BY CARL WIEGMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Joseph, Mo., May 5.—Japan will not be beaten until the United States retakes the great ports of China and puts vast armies ashore to fight on the Asiatic mainland, Col. Warren J. Clear of the army general staff in Washington asserted here today before the national convention of the Federated Organizations for Bataan Relief.

Col. Clear.

Col. Clear is one of the army's experts on strategy in the western Pacific. He was in the Philippines when the war began and was evacuated by submarine from Corregidor shortly before the fortress fell because he possessed many secret documents, maps, and information on Japanese military installations.

Talk of defeating Japan by means of bombing attacks from aircraft carriers is fantastic, Col. Clear said, and so is the talk of the "paper cities" of Japan. He explained that after the earthquake in 1923, Japanese cities were rebuilt from plans drawn by the Jap general staff, and every city block is a unit, self-contained and protected by fire lanes. He described Tokio as the most bombproof city in the world.

Stampeded Temporarily.

Col. Clear said the Japanese people may be stampeded temporarily by the first bombs, but bombs will not bring a psychological breakdown because the Japs have been conditioned for centuries by earthquakes, fires, and nature's greatest convulsions. No bombing ever can be as terrible as the great earthquake that killed 200,000 persons in a few hours, he said.

In addition, Col. Clear explained, successful bombing of Japanese cities must be concentrated and sustained, and such attacks are impossible from aircraft carriers. Our success in seizing small islands after a few hours of bombing must not lead us to believe the same tactics will succeed on Japan, he said.

Col. Clear said Japan's finest armies are massed in China and to defeat them will require forces of comparable size and strength. This means amphibious operations of an undreamed of magnitude in order to establish beachheads from which to seize the ports of China, he said. Only by seizing the ports can we land the divisions of ground troops and the millions of tons of necessary supplies and equipment, he explained.

Make Own Weapons.

Col. Clear emphasized that the Jap armies in China are not dependent on their homeland for supplies. He said the Kwantung army, for example, has its own factories for making munitions, airplanes, and even uniforms. Moreover, he said, all the Japanese forces have been trained and equipped for the terrain of China and the battles to be fought there.

Obsolete Jap weapons found on Pacific islands by Americans must not mislead us as to the quality of equipment held by the main Japanese forces, the speaker continued. He said Japan already has written off the island troops in the southwest Pacific as "suicide battalions."

Col. Clear said it was obvious that major military operations cannot be started against Japan until victory is won in Europe, but he said it can be hoped that by the end of 1944 we shall be able to shift much more fighting weight to the Pacific.

A necessary prelude to attacks on Japan and landings on the main-

Wall of Water Rushes Upon Nazi Positions

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, May 5 (AP).—American and British dive bombers cracked open the huge Pescara dam in Italy this afternoon, releasing a great wall of flood water which threatened to engulf German strongholds near the Adriatic coast and sweep away bridges vital to axis military traffic in that long stalemated sector.

Mustang and Kittyhawk fighter-bombers with American pilots in the vanguard made the attack on the dam near Torre di Passeri, 19 miles up the Pescara river from the port of the same name on the Adriatic side of the Italian peninsula opposite Rome.

Gates Ripped Apart.

The stroke ranked spectacularly with the R. A. F.'s successful attack last year on the Mohne dam in Germany.

The Pescara dam's iron sluice gates were ripped apart by underwater explosions from bombs planted on the upper side of the structure in a 20 minute attack.

As the last allied flyer left the scene a high wall of water, followed by five even higher waves, already was a mile downstream rushing toward German occupied Italian cities and axis defenses erected opposite the British 8th army lines in the Ortona sector, 10 miles below the port of Pescara.

Boot Scores First Hit.

A bomb from the plane of Sgt. Alexander Duguid of Scotland apparently was the first to breach the dam, and Ken Richards, an Australian Kittyhawk pilot, saw his explosives make another break in the iron walls.

The Pescara dam, part of a hydro-electric service in the area, holds a tremendous volume of water. In 1934 the Italians attempted to release water thru the sluices, with disastrous results. Water from the dam inundated the port town of Pescara at an average depth of three feet. It took a week for the water to subside.

WIFE OF JAMES ROOSEVELT GETS NO OPA PENALTY

Los Angeles, Cal., May 5 [Special].—The office of price administration, which has suspended the gasoline rations of many motorists convicted of speeding, is going to "forget" the case of Mrs. James Roosevelt, wife of the President's eldest son, a marine colonel, who was fined $10 in police court April 7, for driving 50 miles an hour in a 25 mile an hour zone in Laguna Beach.

"If the conviction certificate for speeding had come to us," said Leo F. Gentner, regional OPA director here, "we would have acted on it. Since it did not come to us, we are not going out to chase it."

Police Judge C. C. Cravath, who fined Mrs. Roosevelt, explained why the conviction certificate had not been sent to the OPA.

"I'm not a stool pigeon for the OPA," the judge said, "and they can't make rules and then tell us we have to enforce them."

In Washington, D. C., Rep. Brown [R., O.] recently said that unless Mrs. Roosevelt's ration is suspended motorists will resent the leniency as a case of preferential treatment.

CHARGE F. D. R. PICKED JUDGE IN SEDITION TRIAL

Four Give Views at Contempt Hearing.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—Testimony that President Roosevelt personally picked a known New Dealer to preside at the sedition trial and that Henry Ford had provided financial backing for Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, one of the defendants, highlighted today's hearing on contempt of court charges against one of the defense attorneys.

Four witnesses, including two Chicago lawyers, testified in federal District court that it was their information and belief that President Roosevelt appointed Edward C. Eicher chief justice of that court to provide it with a judge "favorable to the New Deal" to preside at the sedition trial. Eicher is a former New Deal congressman.

The witnesses testified that it was their further information and belief that President Roosevelt had promised the judge an appointment to the bench of a higher court, possibly the Supreme court, if he "did a good job" for the New Deal during the trial.

Contempt Charges.

The testimony was given before Justice Jennings Bailey in District court during a hearing on contempt of court charges brought by Justice Eicher against James J. Laughlin, Washington attorney representing two defendants in the sedition case.

Justice Eicher, in his petition ordering Laughlin to show cause why he should not be held in contempt, had alleged that Laughlin had made certain "scandalous, insulting, scurrilous and contemptuous" remarks. These included charges in an affidavit filed by Laughlin on behalf of Robert Noble, one of the defendants, that the judge had been promised a reward if the sedition case defendants were convicted.

The testimony that Ford backed Mrs. Dilling was given Justice Bailey by Albert W. Dilling, former husband of the Chicago woman. Dilling testified that Ford had "contributed financial support" to Mrs. Dilling's activities.

Dilling Makes Charge.

Dilling was one of those who testified that President Roosevelt appointed Eicher to preside at the sedition trial.

William J. Powers, Chicago attorney representing William Dudley Pelley, silver shirt leader, testified he met with a group of defense attorneys in Washington and gave them a detailed report on Roosevelt's appointment of Eicher as told to him by a client "prominent in Democratic politics" in the eastern Iowa section from which Eicher came.

Powers testified his client told him that Eicher was appointed to the District of Columbia federal court bench because Mr. Roosevelt was "dissatisfied with the prima donnas on the district bench," and that he wanted some one "favorable to the New Deal" that "would listen to the White House and not think for themselves."

Graduate of Yale.

Ellis O. Jones, a sedition case defendant who identified himself as a former newspaper man and a graduate of Yale in 1899, said he had conferred with Laughlin about representing him in the sedition case. He decided not to hire Laughlin as his counsel, however, he said, after Laughlin had refused to file a petition of bias and prejudice to disqualify Justice Eicher from presiding at the sedition trial.

Jones told a story similar to that told by Dilling and Powers.

Noble, voluble defendant whose affidavit of bias and prejudice against Eicher and motions for witnesses for him and Defendant James Smythe led to the contempt of court charges against Laughlin, their attorney, testified he was greatly distressed when Laughlin time and again refused to file an affidavit that Eicher was prejudiced against the defendants. Finally, Noble said, Laughlin consented to file the affidavit and did so April 26.

Justice Bailey stopped Laughlin from putting defense attorneys on the stand to testify that Laughlin's court room conduct always had been courteous and proper. Justice Bailey said:

"May I state Mr. Laughlin has appeared before me in a number of cases; that I have agreed with him in some and disagreed in others, but his manner in the court room always has been unexceptionable so far as I have observed."

A motion drawn and signed by 16 defense attorneys in the sedition trial asking Justice Eicher to withdraw from the case because they did not believe he would give their clients a fair trial was admitted to the record of the contempt hearings as a paper "filed in good faith."

A motion by Laughlin to dismiss the contempt proceedings after the government had completed the presentation of its case was denied by Justice Bailey. The hearing will be resumed tomorrow.

ODT APPROVES SPECIAL TRAINS TO CONVENTIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—Railroads will be permitted to operate special trains or cars into Chicago for the two national political conventions this summer, but the facilities may be used only by delegates, alternates, newspaper and radio correspondents, and newsreel representatives, the office of defense transportation announced today.

J. M. Johnson, ODT director, said that because the conventions "are an essential part of the American way of life," the ODT felt it necessary to make special arrangements for the delegates and those assigned to work at the sessions.

The announcement said that Chairman Spangler of the Republican national committee and Chairman Hannegan of the Democratic national committee had assured the ODT they would discourage attendance of visitors, sightseers, and friends at the conventions.

Accommodations on the special trains or cars may be sold only to holders of certificates issued by the ODT. These will be issued only after the respective chairmen of the national committees have certified the names to the ODT.

SON OF SEDITION DEFENDANT DIES A HERO AT ANZIO

New York, May 5 [Special].—Corp. George Sylvester Viereck Jr., 25, son of the publicist and writer convicted of being an unregistered agent of Nazi Germany, was killed March 24 on the Anzio beachhead in Italy, his mother, Mrs. Margaret Viereck was informed today by the war department.

Mrs. Viereck went to Washington, D. C., to inform her husband, now on trial with 28 other defendants on charges of sedition. She said he accepted the news bravely.

Corp. Viereck, whose brother, Sgt. Peter Viereck is somewhere in Africa, was decorated less than two months ago for gallantry in action at Anzio.

The young corporal, in his last letter, dated March 17, had hinted at a narrow escape in his fight against the Germans. "I am very, very lucky to be alive," he wrote.

Corp. Viereck was graduated from Harvard in 1939. He was in law school when the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor and promptly enlisted. His company was one of the first to land in Sicily.

ILLINOIS G. O. P. URGED TO FIGHT TIES TO EUROPE

BY THOMAS MORROW.

Suggestions submitted yesterday to the Illinois Republican pre-convention platform committee in Hotel Sherman included the admonitions that America must not become entangled in European politics; that the government must get out of business; and national interests must come first in any post-war plan. Other proposals offered for incorporation in the platform were:

1. That the office of price administration be abolished because it makes citizens cheat to get food and equipment that they must have.

2. That government be streamlined in the administration of welfare, taxation, and in the remapping of senatorial districts.

3. That a committee on un-Americanism be established in Illinois to determine what subversive influences have found their way into schoolbooks thru the New Deal.

Revive 1932 Farm Plan.

4. That the Republicans reaffirm a plank of 1932 to adopt policies necessary to see that recurring national agricultural surpluses will not be allowed to depress current agricultural prices or lower substantially the total value of agricultural production.

5. That the Republican party pledge support to any changes in the constitution of Illinois necessary to bring about equitable distribution of the tax burden.

From a committee member, C. K. Anderson of Antioch, came by letter the suggestion on international problems that "we are willing to coöperate and help as best we can, but we do not want to get entangled in European politics. . . ." Commenting that the New Dealers think only of how they can tax the people more, Anderson asserted that the government should get out of business, let private industry work out its own salvation, and not hamper it with laws that cannot be understood or obeyed.

Insurance Man Assails OPA.

George S. Oberne, who said that he is in the insurance business at 160 S. La Salle st. and a 44th ward precinct captain, urged that the Republicans commit themselves to rid the country of the OPA.

"The OPA is un-American because it forces the citizen to cheat to get food and equipment he must have," Oberne said.

T. H. Klapperich, member of the Metropolitan Chicago Home Builders' association, asked that the Republicans go on record as opposing all legislation that would permit public housing in Illinois.

Earl Smith, president of the Illinois Agriculture association, urged the plank concerning agricultural surpluses. He held that the Republicans in 1932 had made the first pronouncement by any party to keep excess agricultural production segregated so that products flowing to market could bring prices necessary to give farmers a fair share of the national income.

Smith also asked that the platform make possible amendment of the state constitution by a vote of two-thirds of those voting on a proposition. This, he said, would allow classification of property and equalization of taxes.

Mrs. Elvira Strand of Chicago Heights asked that the Republicans advocate a state Dies committee to find what is subversive in schools.

Legion Leader Heard.

Elliodor Libonati, state central committee member and American Legion leader, restated the position of the Legion in international affairs and asked that the Republicans follow the veterans' lead.

"Our own national interest must ever be our first concern," he said, "and we believe that our nation can best serve and protect its national interests, commensurate with its power and responsibilities, by participation in the establishment and maintenance of an association of free and sovereign nations, implemented with whatever force may be necessary to maintain peace."

William J. Grace, head of the Republican Revivalist committee, told the meeting that Republican leadership can return to office those whose interests and obligation are those of America first. He held that the Democratic party is the party of internationalism and war.

Grace asserted that no one, including Gov. Dewey of New York, who believes that the United States cannot maintain its own independence, belonged in power in the Republican party.

All proposals were accepted by the committee, which was adjourned until future call of the chairman, Frank G. Thompson. A resolution to name a committee of six to incorporate proposals into a tentative platform was adopted.

SUBURB TAX RATES SHOW FEW CHANGES, COUNTY AIDS REPORT

Tax rates in a number of the Chicago suburbs, released yesterday by County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, show little variation from the 1942 figures. In a few instances, it appeared that local governments had taken advantage of the change in valuation methods to hike the rates.

County Assessor Clark, who assesses at full value this year instead of at 37 per cent as in recent years, has announced that property values on homes and small flat buildings have been reduced and that in most cases the reduction will take care of small increases in rates.

Some representative suburban rates for 1942 and 1943, with the older rate equalized to care for the change in assessing factor, [abbreviations in brackets indicate school or park districts] are:

| | 1942. | 1943 |
|---|---|---|
| Berwyn [S. D. 100 & Pk.] | $3.10 | $3.27 |
| Barrington [S. D. 4] | 2.28 | 3.15 |
| Blue Island [S. D. 170] | 3.66 | 4.56 |
| Chicago Heights | 2.74 | 3.02 |
| Cicero | 3.37 | 3.55 |
| Flossmoor [S. D. 161 & Pk.] | 2.11 | 2.36 |
| Des Plaines [S. D. 57 & Pk.] | 2.70 | 3.06 |
| Evanston [S. D. 75 & N. E. Pk.] | 2.61 | 2.69 |
| Glencoe [S. D. 35] | 2.64 | 2.82 |
| Lemont [S. D. 113] | 3.33 | 4.20 |
| Oak Park | 2.85 | 2.84 |
| Park Ridge [S. D. 64] | 3.13 | 3.11 |
| River Forest | 2.66 | 2.84 |
| Skokie [S. D. 68] | 2.53 | 2.67 |
| Wilmette [S. D. 39] | 2.61 | 2.77 |
| Winnetka [S. D. 36] | 2.61 | 2.69 |

Flynn had no figures ready on nine townships, but said he expected to have them Monday.

CIO UNION WINS AVERY COMPANY PLANT ELECTION

Cleveland, O., May 5 (AP).—The national labor relation board's Cleveland office reported today that the CIO-United Steel Workers of America won a bargaining agency election at the Warren [O.] plant of the United States Gypsum company, whose board chairman is Sewell Avery, also chairman of Montgomery Ward & Co.

The NLRB announced the results of yesterday's election as: for the CIO-United Steel Workers of America, 121; against the union, 9. The NLRB at Washington issued an election order covering maintenance and production employes at the Warren plant April 13. This followed a Feb. 15 hearing conducted by an NLRB trial examiner.

A United States Gypsum plant official said the company carried to the courts an order issued a year ago by the war labor board directing the company to comply with a union maintenance order involving the Warren unit.

The suit was filed in Washington asking the federal court to declare that neither the President nor the WLB had power to order maintenance of union membership. A company official said the court denied a government motion to dismiss the suit and that the government was seeking leave to appeal the court ruling.

CROSS ASSAILS WARD'S SEIZURE AT N. U. PARLEY

Lt. Gov. Cross told student delegates at Northwestern university's mock political convention last night that the Roosevelt administration's seizure of Montgomery Ward & Co. is "tremendously significant as a symbol of the very real peril of dictatorship at home."

He spoke in Cahn auditorium on the Evanston campus after the mock convention was opened with a torchlight parade. The convention is unique in that the 1,065 student delegates represent four parties—Republican, Democratic, Socialist, and People's Progressive. Tonight one of the parties will succeed in naming a Presidential candidate.

Warns Dictatorship Affects All.

Urging American youth to vote for the "traditional Republican program of constitutional government," Cross warned that dictatorship can be applied against labor and business with equal ruthlessness. He said the public is disturbed over the development of federal controls by burocrats.

"This apprehension is increased by spectacles such as the brusque seizure by the United States army, on orders of the President, without court action, of the retail and mail order establishments of Montgomery Ward & Co. in Chicago," Cross said.

"Aside from the merits of the controversy, upon which the courts eventually will rule, the American people are alarmed because this drastic action seems to have been dictated so little by national necessity and so much by a determination to prove the extreme authority of the national burocracy."

Lucas Backs Fourth Term.

State Sen. Arnold P. Benson, Republican nominee for secretary of state, declared that the people will be wary of foreign entanglements. "The American people," he said, "want to know what kind of a world is being planned for them. And rather than take a long chance on phony alliances and commitments that have within them the seeds of war, I think they'd rather be accused of being isolationists."

Sen. Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] presented the Democratic case last night by urging a fourth term for the President. Earlier in the day 100 persons attended a Democratic rally in Deering meadow and heard Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, nominee for congressman-at-large, denounce Republican senators and urge that America put its faith in Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill of Britain, and Premier Stalin of Russia.

UNCOVER CLEWS TO SHIPPER OF MURDER TRUNK

Police Busy on Crime Bared on Coast.

The trunk containing the body of a woman which was found yesterday in Los Angeles, Cal., was shipped from the Dearborn station in Chicago early last Sunday morning by a man about 42 and a boy, 13, police established last night.

Packed in salt and a mass of blood soaked clothing, the body, nearly nude, was found by a Railway Express agency clerk when he opened the trunk after noticing that brine was seeping from it. The woman was 30 odd years old.

Thru way bills, the trunk was traced to the Dearborn station where it was taken for shipment at 1 a. m. Sunday. Charles R. Heniff, 2720 W. 89th pl., the rate clerk on duty then, told Lt. Phil Breitzke of the police homicide division that the trunk was brought to the station in a cab by the man and boy.

Both Appeared to Be Calm.

"One of the cords around the trunk had broken," Haniff said, "and the man asked for a hammer and wire to repair it. He and the boy were neatly dressed and neither seemed upset."

The man gave the name of John Lopez and said that he was sending his personal belongings in the trunk to Los Angeles, where he intended to go by bus.

He appeared to be of Mexican descent. At first he offered to prepay the express charges so "the trunk will be there when I get there," but sent it C. O. D. when the clerk told him the charge for the 245 pound weight would be $25.

He spoke with a foreign accent and was about 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighed 165 pounds. He wore a gray fedora, a two toned jacket, gray trousers, and black shoes. The boy, who spoke only once, was thin and had black curly hair. He wore a tight fitting gray suit.

Couple Remembered at Hotel.

Investigation of the death earlier had turned to the Fleetwood hotel, 624 S. State st., because one of its towels was found in the trunk. Police learned at the hotel that a man and woman registered as "John Lopez and wife" had lived there during the winter, but had moved two months ago and left no forwarding address. Hotel employes said the man was employed by a loop hotel and that the couple had been visited by another woman accompanied by two boys.

Los Angeles authorities said that no injury was found on the body, despite the blood stains, and they were investigating possibility of poison.

STRIKE TIES UP ALUMINUM SKIN FOR WAR PLANES

Production of vital aluminum "skin" needed in the manufacture of bombers and fighter planes was endangered yesterday at the Brookfield plant of the Aluminum Company of America when 75 union employes walked out in what company officials said was a "mystery" strike.

The employes who ceased work at noon with no explanation and for no apparent reason are members of the CIO Aluminum Workers union, local 42. They were the ingot pourers and firemen who keep the huge furnaces in operation. Their walkout immediately halted the work of 300 other persons in this department and, if continued, will affect the entire plant, officials said.

Destruction of the plant's furnaces is threatened because the workers left them filled with molten aluminum, a company spokesman said. Supervisors and other employes worked at emergency speed to remove the metal from the cooling furnaces before it could harden, expand, and split the furnace walls.

HOUSE ORDERS WARD PROBE BY 300 TO 60 VOTE

Assures Two Way Seizure Inquiry.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—A two-pronged congressional inquiry into the President's seizure of the Chicago plant of Montgomery Ward & Co. was assured today when the house, by a resounding vote of 300 to 60 authorized an independent investigation into the case. The senate had voted Wednesday to make its own inquiry.

The house resolution, introduced by Rep. Dewey [R., Ill.], sets up a special seven man committee to examine all phases of the Ward seizure, including the question of its legality.

The house move to investigate the seizure was being watched with interest by capital observers because it is in the house that impeachment proceedings would originate if the investigation should lead to the impeachment of any federal officials connected with the action.

Republican members predicted during today's floor discussion that the investigation will result in new legislation specifically curbing the President's power to take over private property.

G. O. P. Solid for Inquiry.

Floor debate was limited to one hour, but it was marked by sharp tongued exchanges in which Democrats opposing the resolution were rebuked by colleagues in their own party. Not a single Republican member voted against the investigation. Democratic lines broke and 117 joined the G. O. P. in favor of the probe.

"Congress is determined," Rep. Allen [R., Ill.] told the house, "that if the chief executive has the power to strip a private citizen of his property and if, as the attorney general assured the court [in Chicago], there is no property immune, we in turn will strip the chief executive of that dictatorial assumption of power by legislation."

Rep. Clark [D., N. C.] drew a volley of protests from the Republican side when he contended that congress in its declaration of war on Japan Dec. 8, 1941, had given the President carte blanche authority to seize private property.

Rep. Halleck [R., Ind.] retorted that he could conceive of no more "pernicious doctrine" than that of Clark's, which, he said, would mean complete control by the President of all civil rights in war time.

Constitution "Not Repealed."

"To my knowledge," said Halleck, "the congress of the United States, either before or after Pearl Harbor, has never voted to repeal the Bill of Rights or the Constitution of the United States."

"When congress declared war," interjected Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.], "it declared war on the enemy and not on the citizens of the United States."

Rep. Sabath [D., Ill.], New Deal champion and chairman of the rules committee, was greeted with boos and laughter when he tried to explain why he now was supporting the resolution after trying to kill it last week in his committee.

Sabath told the house that the proposal first looked to him "like another smear investigation." He said he decided to support the inquiry "so we can find out what is behind Montgomery Ward's defiance of the government."

Name Group Next Week.

In today's vote 181 Republicans, 117 Democrats, and 2 minor party members supported the resolution. Against it were 59 Democrats and 1 minor party member.

The membership of the house group to conduct the inquiry is expected to be announced by Speaker Rayburn [D., Tex.] early next week.

Rep. Compton [R., Conn.] today offered a bill providing for court review of WLB decisions and limiting the government's power to seize private businesses to cases where the President finds, after investigation, that a plant is a war plant and that its output has been interrupted by a strike or other disturbanee.

Meanwhile Sen. McCarran [D., Nev.], chairman of the senate group probing the case, said investigators are examining evidence gathered in Chicago and elsewhere, preparatory to starting hearings next week.

Sues for Divorce

JUDY GARLAND.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 5 (AP).—Screen Singer Judy Garland filed suit today for divorce from Dave Rose on the grounds of incompatibility. They eloped three years ago and were married in Nevada. Miss Garland's attorney said the couple made a property settlement last night, each signing a quit claim to property belonging to the other.

WLB CAN'T SPLIT A STENOGRAPHER SO CIO LOCKS UP

Loaned Girl Quits and Causes Crisis.

The office of the CIO union members of the regional war labor board was closed yesterday in protest against the board's inability to divide three stenographers between the CIO and the American Federation of Labor.

When the RWLB headquarters was established, the labor members, the industry members, and the public members were allotted three stenographers each. Because the union members themselves were divided, CIO and AFL, they were given two offices.

For more than a year the RWLB has solved the problem of the two union offices by giving two "budget" stenographers to the AFL office, in room 524 at 332 S. Michigan av., and assigning one budget stenographer and another girl loaned from the administrative staff to the CIO office next door, at 522.

Jealous of AFL's Office.

All the RWLB offices functioned satisfactorily to the members under this arrangement. The board members were supplied with fine large offices, ample stenographic help, and were paid $18.05 per eight hour day when they worked. Occasionally, it was rumored, the CIO complained that the AFL had a better office, in a corner location overlooking a court. But nothing serious interrupted the serenity of the WLB floor.

Recently, however, the CIO's "loaned" stenographer quit to take a better job. Mrs. Faye Wood, administrative director for the WLB, said she could not loan another one from her staff.

"I can't give you half of a stenographer," she told the CIO members. "How would you divide three girls by two?"

Puts Blame on Board.

Yesterday a sign appeared on the opaque glass of the CIO office door. It read:

"Notice: C. I. O. Labor Members Office Will Be Closed Until Further Notice.

"This action is the result of the inability of the 6th regional war labor board to furnish sufficient secretarial help to properly assist the C. I. O. board members in serving the C. I. O. unions in this region."

An AFL member coming out of his office, which still had two stenographers, saw the notice on his neighbor's door and snorted:

Loses Dignity and Dog in Row Over Car Crash

Dallas, Tex., May 5 (AP).—J. Ralph Ashley figures he's a three-way loser. Today a man backed out of a garage and crashed into Ashley's parked automobile, he told Dallas police. An argument ensued. The man struck him with his fist, knocking him to the ground. Then the assailant jumped into his own car and drove off—with Ashley's black bulldog, which had hopped into the stranger's car during the fracas.

SEEK WARD WRIT RENEWAL TODAY; HOLLY TO DECIDE

Judge William H. Holly of the federal District court is expected to rule today on whether there is any need to extend the temporary restraining order which he issued April 27 against Montgomery Ward & Co. after its seizure by the government with the aid of armed troops.

The order was made effective for 10 days and expires at 10:50 o'clock tomorrow night. Meantime, Judge Holly has scheduled his decision on Ward's attack against the enjoining order and also the government seizure for 10 a. m. Wednesday.

Confers with Attorneys.

Without an extension there would be no court writ in existence from tomorrow night to Wednesday morning, at least. Accordingly, Judge Holly conferred late yesterday with United States Atty. Woll and Attorneys Harold A. Smith, Charles Calderini, and George Christensen for Ward's.

At the end of the meeting it was announced that the conferees would meet again today at 10 a. m. All were noncommittal. It was indicated however, that Judge Holly would decide during the morning whether his order should be extended. It was also intimated that because of the "tremendous importance" of the main litigation—the issue questioning the government's right to seize Ward's—Judge Holly might endeavor to give his full decision before next Wednesday. Court observers do not expect that decision today.

450 Strike at Springfield.

Meantime, action developed on another front in the Ward case yesterday when 450 employes of the mail order company's subsidiary in Springfield, Ill., the Hummer Manufacturing company, stopped work and threatened to remain idle until the company "signs a contract or the government takes over the plant." The workers are members of local 628 of the AFL International Association of Machinists. The factory makes parts for several war industries and refrigeration and farm material.

Joe Winoski, shop committee chairman for the union, said the work stoppage was called because the company had rejected a war labor board order of April 14 ordering a 4 cent general wage increase and other recognitions of union demands. It was the third stoppage since June 19, 1942. The union members at a mass meeting voted to stay from their jobs until assurances are given that the company will sign a contract, or until the government takes over.

Stoppage "Unauthorized."

J. T. Farr, International union business representative, said in Springfield that the stoppage was not authorized by the international union. He expected the union members to remain idle again today and planned to confer with local union leaders. Farr said he understood the WLB had referred the dispute to President Roosevelt, as was done in the Ward dispute in Chicago before seizure of the Chicago plant.

John J. Saxer, plant manager, said he did not know why the men quit work, and referred all questions to Ward's office in Chicago. Spokesmen there said they would not comment until they had studied the situation in Springfield.

Ouster Suit Cause

[Acme Photo.]

BABY RALPH TEAL JR.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 5 [Special].—Sympathetic landlords today flooded Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Teal Sr., parents of a 7 month old son, with offers of a home after learning of a court suit to oust them from their home because of the child.

The possession suit filed yesterday in Superior court by the Teal's landlady, Mrs. Frances M. Davis, charged that the Teals had violated a verbal contract made June 1, 1941 when she rented them an apartment for "adults only." Mrs. Davis, who is the mother of a 4 year old daughter, said "children are not conducive to good apartment management." She charged the contract was broken by the birth of the child, Oct. 13, 1943, and said she had given the couple notice to leave two months ago.

Teal denied he had made any verbal agreement and said the first notice he received of the eviction was when he was served with a subpena yesterday. He said he is recovering from a major operation and is unable to move immediately.

DIDN'T HANDCUFF WARD OFFICIAL, SAY FBI AGENTS

Federal bureau of investigation agents in Chicago yesterday wanted the public to be told that it was not the FBI which on Thursday manacled and finger printed Paul D. Sowell, assistant to the operating manager of Montgomery Ward & Co.

The FBI particularly wanted it made plain that the federal marshal's office should get the credit—if any—for the manacle and finger print episode.

The FBI said the whole affair was an aftermath of Atty. Gen. Biddle's orders given to the FBI and thru assistants to the United States marshal's office.

Assertions of the FBI agents that it was not they but the marshal's deputies who used the handcuffs and finger printed Sowell before a warrant for his arrest had been issued were borne out by observers, who said the FBI men did not appear eager to do more than conform to specific orders given them by Biddle.

Ordered to Post Watch.

FBI men explained yesterday that Biddle had ordered the FBI to post a watch in the Ward plant and seize any one tampering with posted orders for operation under government seizure, or any similar interference with federal conduct of the big mail order house.

Sowell removed the thumb tacks from one sheet. He said later he intended only to take it to the office of his superior so it could be studied with the view of obeying it. As he withdrew the last tack, FBI agents, following Biddle's order to the letter, made the arrest.

From then on, the proceedings were conducted by deputy marshals, also acting under Biddle's orders. Sowell's humiliation by being handcuffed and led in public view thru a corridor of the courthouse and then finger printed, when no formal charge had been made against him, was not their doing, FBI men asserted.

Assistant Takes Charge.

Biddle's orders, transmitted thru the United States district attorney's office, also were the authority on which the United States marshal and his deputies acted. United States Atty. J. Albert Woll was absent because of illness and his first assistant, William J. Connor, took charge.

Connor, acting on his own responsibility, drew up a complaint charging Sowell with taking government property and ordered him held behind bars in the marshal's lockup while preparing for arraignment. During this time, Connor refused to let Sowell's lawyer, James C. Leaton, interview him and refused to hear Leaton's protest against finger printing his client.

After the finger printing, Sowell was manacled and led by deputy marshals thru a corridor, in public sight, to the courtroom of United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. He was held in $250 bond, which he furnished, for hearing at 2 p. m. next Thursday.

Two fog lights, valued at $18, were stolen from the automobile of Paul S. Blomberg, 7049 Indiana av., he notified police.

3,465 Cheers and 172 Boos in Avery's Mail; Big and Little Business See Common Peril

Messages commending Sewell L. Avery's defiance of government seizure of Montgomery Ward & Co. as "patriotic and courageous" have deluging the offices of the firm's chairman by telegraph and mail from all parts of the country.

The latest tabulation on Avery's communications since the seizure, as made by the chairman's secretary, showed 3,465 messages backing Ward's stand, and 172 favorable to the Washington administration's actions.

Thomas Roy Jones, president New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, Newark, N. J.—The board of directors of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce at annual meeting held last night voted unanimously to commend you for your courageous stand. We have wired New Jersey members of congress as follows: "We most vigorously protest seizure of Montgomery Ward property by the federal government. New Jersey business men are shocked by this high handed and arbitrary procedure. We do not believe that any authority exists in law for such action. There is no legal or moral justification for seizure of a company not engaged in war work. We urge immediate and decisive action by congress to prevent repetition of dictatorial and illegal violation of constitutional rights."

Hal Kohn, past president of chamber of commerce and secretary for 22 years of Rotary club of Newberry, S. C., also secretary South Carolina Florists' association—As an independent merchant I don't hold a brief for mail order houses, but as an American citizen I do approve of the action of the president of one of them. More power to you and may the President and his cohorts rue the day that they stuck their necks out in this instance.

W. S. Mosher, chairman of the board, Mosher Steel company, Houston, Tex.—I greatly admire your courage and patriotism.

G. Mason Owlett, president Pennsylvania Manufacturers association, Philadelphia—Your courageous stand and refusal to be intimidated by an arbitrary political dynasty is a history making event, of which every straight thinking American interested in the preservation of constitutional government can be proud. The seizure of your plant and offices is a brazen challenge of the principles of free enterprise at the point of a gun. Free people everywhere applaud your action in defying the war labor board's attempt to force your company into a political conspiracy with all favors reserved for the CIO.

James A. Reed, Kansas City, Mo.—I congratulate you upon your heroic and patriotic stand. It was men like you who gained and established our liberties and it is men like you who will help preserve them. Bayonet rule will not be popular in this part of the country and I hope at no place.

J. Vincent Reardon, president the Reardon company, St. Louis—Congratulations for the spunky and true American spirit which you displayed in resisting President Roosevelt's take over order. It would be a very genuine pleasure to me to be permitted to coöperate with you financially or otherwise in battling this despotic action to a successful conclusion.

Martin L. Straus, president Eversharp, Inc.—Your stand courageous and patriotic. If there is anything extra we can do to coöperate with you during these times, please comman me. Kindest regards.

J. R. and Richard Swain, Boston, Mass.—Strongly approve your action. Stick to your guns. It's about time we had a show down as to who is running this country.

Ernest Weir, Pittsburgh, Pa.—I admire the great fight you are making against an autocracy that has no more regard for constitutional right than if such a thing did not exist. I am sure you will have great support from all over this country.

F. O. Rice, president Pine Bluff [Ark.] Lions club.—The following telegram sent to Arkansas congressional delegation: "Pine Bluff Lions club board of directors adopted a resolution today demanding that you take immediate steps to halt un-American and undemocratic procedure of seizing private enterprise in no way engaged in war production or call back our troops on foreign fields so they can protect their own precious liberties at home."

Frank H. Sparks, president of Wabash college, Crawfordsville, Ind.—The principle for which you are fighting is as basic as that for which the nation is at war. With all my heart I wish you complete victory.

Colin Stewart, past president, Pasadena Realty board, Pasadena, Cal.—Congratulations on your stand against government control. Every business man in the United States will back you up.

Don Clyde, president, and James A. Hooper, secretary, Utah Wool Growers association, Salt Lake City, Utah—If the bill of rights is to continue as a protection to United States citizens and our constitutional privileges are to prevail, citizens must join you in the position which you have taken in your letter to the President. We extend our moral support.

Evert Jenkins, secretary of Farm Bureau, Gibbon, Neb.—We, a community farm bureau of Sodtown, Neb., are deeply concerned and wholeheartedly with you and your company in your stand for the principles of our constitution. In your opposition of the seizure of your institution, we stand for you and with you.

James B. Laughlin, M. D., Huntsville, Ala.—Such dictatorship as taking over your store is what our boys are fighting against. Don't let him get you down.

C. C. Crow, publisher Crow's Pacific Coast Lumber Digest, Portland, Ore.—The Western Union has refused to transmit a telegram I addressed to you because it contained a banned word of commendation. In spite of this New Deal restraint of free speech, let me say that I, along with several million other American citizens, admire you for your courage and resistance to communism as supported by the President of the United States and his red cohorts. You have performed an outstanding service for your country and I urge you to hold your ground in defense of the guarantees of the constitution.

Thirty employes of the city water pipe extension division who recently joined a CIO union complained yesterday to Bernard W. Cullen, superintendent, that other employes who are members of an AFL union discriminate against them in their work. They said AFL pipe extension laborers refuse to work with them and that AFL city truck drivers refuse to give them rides. Cullen said the city must be neutral in the feud. The delegation called at Mayor Kelly's office, but he refused to see them.

YANKS IN BRITAIN GETTING BALLOT REQUEST FORMS

Postcards Will Be Mailed Home.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, May 5.—Starting today Yanks in the European theater of operations began receiving a special form which represents the first step toward their right to vote.

Under orders from Gen. Eisenhower each man will receive from his unit officer a post card which is an application for a ballot from his home state.

The post card reads in part as follows:

"Being on active duty in the armed forces of the United States and desiring to vote in the coming election I hereby apply for an official war ballot."

Procedure Is Simple.

There is space for the home address, the voting district, and the address to which the soldier wishes the ballot sent. If the ballot is not received by Oct. 1, the war ballot commission will distribute an official federal war ballot.

In most cases the procedure is simple, with only three steps required. The application for a ballot is sent to the state secretary who forwards the form; the soldier then fills it out and returns it. In a few states, five steps are necessary.

For example, a soldier from Maine or Iowa must send the post card to the secretary of state; the secretary of state returns a formal application for ballot; the soldier fills out this form and sends it back; the secretary of state sends an official ballot, and the soldier fills it out and sends it back.

Will Vote in Secrecy.

Especially designated "soldier voting officers," have been assigned to each unit to facilitate the procedure. Company unit commanders have been ordered to publicize election dates and to acquaint the men with the mechanics of voting in their individual states.

Balloting will be conducted in secrecy and special airmail envelopes will be provided to dispatch the ballots. There will be no postage charge and no censorship. Company commanders have been instructed to march their men to the polling places but to permit them to function as individual voters.

BOY COMPLAINS OF SWINDLE.

Robert Conlin, 16, of 7824 Constance av., a junior at St. Rita's High school, complained to police yesterday that a boy of his own age had swindled him out of $19. Conlin is a delivery boy for a meat market.

SENATORS BARE BOONDOGGLING IN LEND-LEASE

Kellar reported that they got $15,640,479,250 of the funds actually reported as lend-lease. But the British share of the over-all total was $19,700,297,674.

Latin-America received $2,327,378,789, as McKellar explained the figures. But Sen. Butler [R., Neb.] who recently charged the United States has spent 6 billion dollars boondoggling in South America, said McKellar's statistics do not change the 6 billion dollar estimate.

Aid to Banana Workers.

Senators said McKeller has admitted being in error and that a statement mutually satisfactory to him and Butler will be made Monday.

The report said the Honduran banana workers were left idle by the halting of banana exports. So the state department and Nelson Rockefeller's inter-American affairs office put them to work building a road.

Various agencies succeeded in spending $427,742,152 in Brazil. Of this $100,000,000 went into coastal protection on the theory that the Germans would travel 1,800 miles to invade the country. McKellar reported the investigators have the list of expenditures in each Latin American country but can't make them public "for obvious reasons."

McKellar and Connally said in response to questions by Taft that they do not believe lend-lease funds may be legally used for post-war projects. McKellar and Connally said further that they didn't think the Arabian oil pipe line could be charged to lend-lease, and agreed with Taft that congress should specifically pass on any nonwar lend-lease spending.

WAR ON JAPAN IS NOT LAGGING, FRASER INSISTS

BY ROBERT CROMIE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 5—Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand today said the fact that the war strategy calls for the defeat of Germany first does not mean that the war against Japan is lagging. If the impending operations against Germany prove "very successful" the Pacific war might even end late in 1945, he added.

Fraser expressed deep gratitude for American aid, saying: "Americans are not only welcome in New Zealand but almost have become a part of our own population. I have never seen anything more splendid than the way we have worked and coöperated." He termed Adm. Nimitz's smash thru the Marshall Islands a "master stroke."

Fraser said he had told the foreign affairs committee of the United States senate that he knew of no post-war problems between the United States and New Zealand in the Pacific that could not be settled amicably. He mentioned bases and air routes as two of the problems.

NEW ADVANCES SCORED BY JAPS IN CHINA DRIVES

CHUNGKING, China, May 6 [Saturday]—(AP).—The Chinese high command today indirectly indicated Loyang, key station on the important east-west railroad in Honan province, was in danger and that the Japanese pincers on the Peiping-Hankow railroad were getting closer.

It announced the fall of Tengfeng, 30 miles southeast of Loyang, and advances by another Jap column curling toward the city after the capture of Linju, 30 miles southeast of Loyang.

Both Chinese and Japanese planes were reported active, with Chinese operations including an attack on Sinyang, Jap base in southern Honan. A Chinese army spokesman said Jap forces in the Loyang area were seeking a "decisive battle" with the Chinese in that area.

AURORAN LISTED MISSING AFTER HUNGARY RAID

Lt. Ralph M. McKinney, 27, pilot of a Liberator bomber, has been missing since April 13, when he flew on a mission over Hungary, the war department notified his mother, Mrs. Margaret McKinney, 19 N. Russell st., Aurora, yesterday.

Lt. McKinney said in a recent letter that he had inscribed the names of his two sisters and four brothers on bombs he had dropped. The brothers are Capt. John F. McKinney, Camp Polk, La.; F. W. McKinney, discharged from the army after being wounded in the South Pacific, and Edward and Robert McKinney of Chicago. His sisters are Miss Margie McKinney of Aurora, and Mrs. Homer L. Fry of Detroit.

Lt. McKinney, an employe of the Foote Brothers Gear company in Chicago, entered the army July 20, 1942, and was commissioned a pilot at Randolph field, Tex., July 29, 1943.

Ensign John Clinnin, Chicago Flyer, Missing

Ensign John V. Clinnin II., a navy flyer and nephew of Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, was reported missing yesterday after a night flight from the naval air base at Vero Beach, Fla., for which he had volunteered. Additional notice to his mother, Mrs. Winifred M. Clinnin, 227 N. Kenilworth av., Oak Park, stated that his plane had been located in water 100 feet off shore. Ensign Clinnin was 26 and was educated at Campion Preparatory school and Pasadena Junior college, Pasadena, Cal. He enlisted in December, 1942. Ensign Clinnin is the son of Walter Clinnin, 4433 Ellis av.

Armistice Offer to Nazis Reported Almost Ready

LONDON, May 6 [Saturday].—The Daily Herald today said the European advisory commission had "practically completed" a long, detailed document setting out armistice terms to be presented Germany when the time comes.

BOMBERS BLAST INVASION WALL AND RAIL YARDS

LONDON, May 6 [Saturday] (AP).—Waves of allied planes droned high in the sky as Londoners went to work today and a few minutes later axis radios began leaving the air, indicating new blows on the continent. Last night the axis controled Paris and Luxembourg radios shut down, indicating a resumption of allied night activity over the continent.

Hundreds of United States Liberators and allied planes smashed the French Calais anti-invasion defenses and freight yards behind it yesterday.

American bombers striking into Romania hit rail yards at the oil center of Ploesti and at Turnu-Severin near the Danube "Iron Gate" on the 21st straight day of the two way pre-invasion sky offensive.

Four German fighters were shot down by Canadian Spitfire pilots, and one Spitfire was missing.

From Britain a force of fewer than 200 American four engined Liberator bombers, escorted by an equal number of Mustang fighters, hopped the channel shortly after daybreak yesterday to blast Pas-de-Calais defenses.

American Thunderbolt fighters followed thru with twin assaults on rail yards at Valenciennes and Somain in northern France, and British Mitchell and Boston bombers, escorted by Spitfires, pounded Cambral, another rail hub.

OPA WILL PROBE WALTERS' RULE OF OFFICE HERE

Rae E. Walters.

Resentment of employes in the Chicago regional office of the office of price administration over the "high handed" methods of Rae E. Walters, the regional administrator, which they said included a physical encounter with one of his agents last Sunday, reached a climax last night when Price Administrator Chester Bowles in Washington ordered an investigation.

In a prepared statement Bowles announced that he is sending James G. Rogers, senior deputy administrator, and James C. Derieux, deputy administrator for field operations, to Chicago to discuss administration of the Chicago regional office with Walters and other staff executives. The Washington men will spend several days here conducting the investigation, Bowles said.

Investigators Face Ouster.

Ouster of three to six investigators in the Chicago office and the possible resignation of Walters himself have been forecast as a result of the encounter Sunday in the War Agencies building at 226 W. Jackson blvd. Witnesses reported that Walters "shook up" and "pushed around" Nate Grossblat, 6116 Greenwood av., an investigator in the fuel and consumers item division of the regional office.

Walters, summoned to Washington Monday to explain the incident, was reported to have seen Bowles briefly. He was en route here last night. Officials, who asked that their names not be used, said that Walters, who took the office three months ago wtih the declaration that he was "going to be boss," has been investigating his own investigators for the last four weeks, and became suspicious that some of them, including attorneys, had "irregular dealings" with the public.

Walters' habit, they said, has been to arrive at his office at 7 a. m. and to visit it on Sundays, inspecting the visitors' record, kept by elevator operators and listing entrants to the building outside of regular office hours.

Angered by Locked Door.

Walters made an unannounced visit to the building early Sunday. Grossblat was said to have been told to meet a woman investigator from the Washington OPA office who stopped here between trains to learn more about the counterfeit coupon situation here. Witnesses reported that she was in Grossblat's office when Walters visited the building and that he became angered because Grossblat's door was locked. Walters, when he gained admission, seized Grossblat by the shoulders and "shook him up," a witness said.

Grossblat could not be reached at his home for his version of the encounter.

Dozen "Resign" Posts.

A dozen "resignations" of personnel in the office, including some key men, were said to have been the net result of Walters' espionage system. Employes said that his control of the office included orders that no one but himself was to talk to newspaper reporters at any time, and only he could authorize news releases. Others voiced protests against his interference in their work. Some were asked to resign because they were not as enthusiastic over OPA policies as they might have been.

CHICAGOAN TELLS HOW PILOT DIED TO SAVE FORTRESS CREW

U. S. BOMBER BASE IN BRITAIN, April 25 [Delayed]—(AP).—The crew of a bomber told today how a wounded pilot, Lt. William H. Johnson of Minneapolis, brought their riddled Fortress back on one engine, held it aloft long enough for his companions to bail out, and then died in a flaming crash.

Anti-aircraft shells tore great holes in the Fortress' nose and also wounded Lt. Harold S. Whitely, Limerick, Me., co-pilot; Lt. William S. Sancher, Walton, N. Y., navigator, and Lt. George H. Nye, Compton, Cal., bombardier, during an attack on Augsburg April 13.

Sgt. Frank J. Hazzard, 2641 Belden av., Chicago, top turret gunner, said while he was bandaging Sancher's leg, the navigator stood up and continued to navigate the ship altho he was in constant pain.

"If it hadn't been for the courage of the pilot and the navigator, we never would have made it," Hazzard said.

Losing 14,000 feet altitude, the Fortress struggled across the channel at a mere 70 miles per hour. Over the British coast, the last engine caught fire, forcing the bomber down to 1,500 feet.

"Let's get out of here—this is it," yelled Johnson, giving the order to bail out as flames spread over the plane.

Because of an arm wound, Nye couldn't get his parachute on so Hazzard snapped it on for him and helped him out thru the open bomb bay. Among the crew was Sgt. Kenneth L. Zeigler of 937 Washington st., Mishawaka, Ind.

Chicago Soldier Killed When Truck Overturns

Lapsansky was employed in the cable department of the Western Electric company when he entered the army 18 months ago.

PLASMA SAVED HIS LIFE, SOLDIER PAYS BLOOD DEBT

Home on sick leave after having been wounded in the Salerno invasion, Charles Giammona, a coxswain in the coast guard, called at the Red Cross blood bank, 5 N. Wabash av., yesterday to donate a pint of blood. Donor of a pint before going into service, Giammona explained that he felt he owed the blood bank a debt for the two pints of plasma which helped save his life after Salerno.

He said he was a gunner aboard a coast guard tank lighter at Salerno when a German "88" smashed against the ramp of the landing boat, spraying him with shrapnel. His clothes, lifejacket, and tags were blown off. He received the plasma while undergoing treatment. Doctors have removed 300 pieces of shrapnel from Giammona so far and still are working on him. Estimating he was sprayed with 1,000 bits, Giammona, 6823 Wood st., is called the "one man scrap drive."

STILWELL ARMY TRAPS JAP FORCE IN NORTH BURMA

British Troops Attack in Kohima Area.

SOUTHEAST ASIA HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, May 5 (AP).—American-trained Chinese troops of Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell have smashed thru the hotly contested village of Inkangahtawng in northern Burma and by a flanking maneuver trapped the Japanese garrison, Adm. Mountbatten's war bulletin said today.

It was also disclosed that strong British and Indian forces have launched a general offensive in the Kohima area of eastern India and are making "satisfactory progress" against Jap troops who apparently had spent themselves in futile attacks against the defenses of the big allied base.

Chinese Pass Town, Then Attack.

There was no estimate of the size of the enemy force cut off in Inkangahtawng, in the Mogaung valley about 30 miles north of Kamaing. Stilwell's forces by-passed the village some two weeks ago when they reached Manpin, only 10 miles above Kamaing, but the Japs clung stubbornly to Inkangahtawng until Wednesday.

"In a carefully coördinated attack by Gen. Stilwell's forces," the war report related, "Chinese troops swept thru the village and advanced a half mile southward. Other Chinese units, after a wide flanking movement, established a road block two miles south of the village, trapping the enemy as they retreated."

A crack formation of American operated medium tanks, commanded by Lt. Richard P. Doran of Vandalia, Ill., has reënforced Stilwell's army. It is the first all-American armed unit to fight on the Asiatic continent. In its first action, it exploded an enemy ammunition dump, killing 30 enemy troops and destroying two anti-tank guns.

Fronts in India Quiet.

Stilwell's advance units, shoving forward steadily well south of Inkangahtawng, penetrated Jap positions in the mountain stronghold of Kauri, about 10 miles northeast of Manpin and 30 miles north of Mogaung on the Burma railway, immediate goal of Stilwell's drive.

Except for the concerted allied effort to clear the Kohima area with the aid of tanks and planes, the India front was reported comparatively quiet. The anticipated Jap offensive in the Palel area, 28 miles south of Imphal, appeared not to have developed.

On the Arakan front in lower Burma, British troops "followed up their major success of the previous day," when they captured important high ground near the Buthedaung-Maungdaw road, the bulletin said.

Better weather enabled allied air forces to blast rail yards, bridges, and Jap storage depots over much of Burma. The Mandalay area got it particularly hard.

URGES BRITISH VESSELS RATHER THAN U. S. 'JUNK'

Shun Liberty Ships, Warns Shinwell.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 5.—Britain does not want American Liberty ships after the war and must build its own fast, up-to-date vessels for its mercantile marine, Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite, told the house of commons today.

Shinwell, speaking in a debate on transportation, made it clear he did not think much of the Liberty ships which have played a tremendous part in keeping his country's war time needs supplied.

"You have to provide the best kind of a ship for the British mercantile marine and must not be prepared to accept a lot of old junk that the United States may offer to you," he said. "That's speaking pretty plainly—but I know what I'm talking about.

Questions U. S. Intentions.

"The United States constructed 2,000 Liberty ships, and there is a lot of talk of disposing of them after the war. Let them keep them for themselves. If they are any good, why don't they keep them?"

Shinwell said he did not believe in standardized shipping and urged, "Let's build our own ships. You need different ships for different routes. We've got to have fast ships, no mistake about it—and there must be a large measure of coördination in the shipping industry even if it is privately owned."

Skirts Nationalization.

Shinwell raised a cheer from the Conservative and disapproval from the Labor benches when he said he was not going to make a plea for the nationalization of shipping. He did not trust the ministry of war transport's control of the shiping industry, but at the same time warned, "We are not going to let the capitalists have all their own way." His conception of the future organization of the shipping industry was some sort of compromise between state direction and private ownership.

At the end of the war, Shinwell estimated, Britain will have about 9,000,000 tons of shipping against 20,000,000 before the war, while the United States will have between 16,000,000 and 18,000,000 tons, mainly new, compared with 8,000,000 before the war.

REDS MASSING IN POLAND FOR NEW BLOW, SAY NAZIS

LONDON, May 6 [Saturday]—(AP).—The soviet high command announced last night that Russian naval and ari units sank five more axis ships near besieged Sevastopol in the Crimea. The Germans declared the Red army had deployed men and equipment "on an enormous scale" in old Poland for a new smash on the main invasion path to Berlin.

The Berlin reports said the Red army had amassed huge numbers of troops in the vicinity of Kowel, 170 miles southeast of Warsaw, and near Kolomyja, 30 miles southeast of Stanislawow, near the old Czech border.

A midnight soviet bulletin said 300 Germans were killed in a two-hour battle yesterday southeast of Stanislawow and that 600 Hungarians surrendered in the last 10 days.

The broadcast German war bulletin reported Russian forces were launching "uninterrupted attacks in many successive waves" on the Siret river in Romania.

TANKER ABLAZE, E. A. CUDAHY III. RESCUED AT SEA

Edward A. Cudahy III., son of Edward A. Cudahy Jr., president of the Cudahy Packing company, was among the crew of the American tanker Sharpsburg who escaped thru flaming seas when their ship was rammed and set afire recently in British waters, the war shipping administration disclosed yesterday.

Cudahy, 20, a cadet-midshipman in the merchant marine, was rescued in a lifeboat from the Norwegian tanker Bralanta, which ripped a 17 foot hole in the Sharpsburg during a fog. The Sharpsburg was loaded with 125,000 barrels of 80 octane gasoline, and carried war planes on her deck. Flaming gasoline covered a wide area of the surface after the crash. Three crewmen were lost.

Cudahy, transferred to a destroyer and taken to a hospital in England, visited a week ago in his home at 2430 Lakeview av., then went to the merchant marine cadet corps academy at Kings Point, N. Y. Last December Cudahy was rescued after a troopship was hit by an aerial torpedo in the Mediterranean.

PARTISANS RING ZAGREB, CUT OFF PORT OF SPLIT

LONDON, May 5 (AP).—Yugoslav troops have thrown a siege cordon around Mrkonjicgrad in western Bosnia, Marshal Josip [Tito] Broz declared today.

The Free Yugoslav radio reported German and Ustachi troops had been isolated at the port of Split, north of the Adriatic Islands that provide stepping stones from Italy into Yugoslavia. It also said the Partisans surrounded Zagreb, second largest city in Yugoslavia.

Some of these islands already are in allied hands. Partisans also landed under allied warship support in the last 10 days on Korcula and Mljet, two of the important islands in this chain, it has been reported.

Tito's bulletin also said the Partisans also struck into Uzice, 75 miles west of Sarajevo on the main rail line to Sofia, wrecking the town and station and killing many enemy troops. In Slavonia, it added, the Yugoslavs opened a counter-offensive near Vocin, and inflicted heavy losses on the Nazis in the Zumberak region of Bosnia.

B-26 MARAUDER SETS DURABILITY RECORD; FLIES 100TH MISSION

MEDITERRANEAN ALLIED AIR FORCE HDQ., May 5 (AP).—"Belle the Second," a B-26 Marauder, set a record for durability in this theater of operations Monday when it completed its 100th bombing mission—an assault on the Calafuria rail viaduct in northern Italy—with a special passenger aboard.

He was Tech. Sgt. Kenneth L. Smith, a former Bedford, Pa., machine tool operator, who saved the bomber from the junk pile eight months ago after its 23d mission resulted in a crackup with a Messerschmitt. The Marauder, its tail badly bent up, was recommended for retirement by a pilot, but Sgt. Smith and his mechanics talked the pilot out of it and put the ship back into condition.

Smith, who was deadheading on Monday's flight, said he planned to ride along on the ship's 200th mission.

The true American Spirit is everywhere around us . . . we can not read a paper, talk to a friend, listen to our radio, or do any of the normal things it is our daily habit to do without sensing it all about us. Our people are maintaining the Home Front so that our Battle Front can carry this war against oppression to a final Victory of Right and Decency. We at the Cafe de Paris are happy for our opportunity to help maintain all that our men and women in uniform are fighting to come back to. We enjoy seeing our friends in the service dining with their families . . . to see them eating the food they love, and taking pleasure from their friendship. We know that when this war is over we will all be together again . . . happy in America the Land of Plenty. God bless our Boys and give them strength to do God's will. Henri Charpentier, Cafe de Paris.

REPORT OF JAP SEA MANEUVERS TOLD AT TRIAL

New York, May 5 (AP).—A former assistant testified today that Frederick Wright, New York Daily News copy editor, charged with acting as an unregistered Japanese agent in pre-Pearl Harbor days, may have rejected for publication a London dispatch reporting Nipponese fleet maneuvers off Borneo one week before Dec. 7, 1941.

Donald K. MacKenzie, now a war correspondent for the News Syndicate Company, Inc., publishers of the Daily News, testified at Wright's trial in federal court that the item was an exclusive dispatch sent on Nov. 30, 1941, by Graham C. Miller, the newspaper's London correspondent.

MacKenzie told Judge John Bright and a jury that Wright described as unreliable the story which pictured the Japanese fleet steaming south near Borneo and a London belief that the Japanese were about to be "involved in a further war within the next 48 hours."

"I asked him what he was going to do with it, and he said he did not think Miller knew what he was talking about," MacKenzie said in describing Wright's reactions.

The newspaper is not involved in the indictment against Wright.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 5.—The prices of fruit and vegetables not controlled by the ministry of food vary remarkably between the East and wealthy West End sections of London, a survey disclosed today. Asparagus selling for 70 cents a bundle at a wholesale market costs 80 cents retail in the East End and $5 in the West End. Homegrown hothouse peaches, wholesaling at 50 cents to $2 each, bring $3.70 each in the West End and average $1.40 in the East End. Melons selling at $3 to $8 each in the market, cost $12 a piece in the West end and $5 in the East End.

Inquiring in a big headline, "Why Do Food Prices Vary this Way?," the Daily Express lists other contrasts. At the Covent Garden wholesale market head lettuce fetches 5 cents to 15 cents, radishes are 7 cents a bunch, mushrooms 80 cents to $1.80 a pound, French beans 80 cents to 90 cents a pound, green peas $1.20 a pound.

Between the high and low price districts come what are described as the "average shops" where asparagus costs $1 a bunch, lettuce 15 cents each, radishes 7 cents a bunch and mushrooms $2 a pound.

Britain Faces Drouth as Thames Reaches New Low

LONDON, May 5 (AP).—The Thames river is at the lowest stage ever recorded at this time of year, with Britain facing the possibility of a drouth even worse than those of 1921 and 1933-34, the metropolitan water board said today. Reservoirs are being depleted at the rate of 30,000,000 gallons a day.

"Nuts to this five-and-dime junk! Where are the Wheaties we've been hearing about?"

Folks everywhere are hearing about that famous "Breakfast of Champions." Wheaties, you know, are America's favorite whole wheat flakes, and they're making new friends every day. Give 'em a try. Have milk, fruit, and Wheaties, "Breakfast of Champions."

FLAMES, BLASTS RIP PARAMUSHIRO IN 27TH U. S. RAID

Kuriles Hit 46th Time; Raid Nauru, Ponape.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, May 5 (AP).—Navy bombers raiding Paramushiro in the North Pacific Kurile Islands set large fires and caused explosions at that base Wednesday night.

The fleet, in announcing the action today, said other planes on Wednesday struck at Nauru Island far to the south, hitting barracks and runways on that island 500 miles southwest of the American held Gilberts in the mid-Pacific.

Carrying out the 46th raid on the Kuriles, the navy planes met only meager anti-aircraft fire. All returned.

It was the 27th time that Paramushiro, strongest Jap base in the North Pacific at the extreme end of the Kurile chain, had been attacked by American bombers.

Ponape Island in the Carolines was attacked on Tuesday by other bombers, while still another group on Wednesday pounded isolated enemy positions in the eastern Marshall Islands.

Smash at Jap Air Bases.

ADVANCED ALLIED HDQ., Southwest Pacific, May 6 [Saturday]—(AP).—Allied planes have intensified their campaign of neutralizing the Schouten Islands off Dutch New Guinea, where the Japanese are reported massing naval air strength, headquarters announced today.

Several enemy planes were smashed on the ground and interceptors were driven off in a new raid on Schouten air bases, which lie more than 200 miles northwest of invaded Hollandia.

That is in the sector where a spokesman said yesterday the Japanese were sending reinforcements of their ace naval flyers to block the westward movement of Gen. MacArthur's forces toward the Philippines.

Wakde Island air base, the closest one west of Hollandia, also was raided and neutralizing attacks were continued against Wewak, southeast of Hollandia.

Japs Moving to Wewak.

Some of the estimated 60,000 Jap troops isolated between Hollandia and the Madang area have been noticed concentrating at Wewak.

In the Wewak-Hansa bay sector, where the Japs have been trying to flee on barges, patrol torpedo boats damaged 20 barges and silenced three shore batteries.

Wandering groups of Japs are continuing to give themselves up to the Hollandia invasion forces. The number who have surrendered there now totals 155. Altho small, that is large when contrasted with similar operations of the past.

A spokesman said the surrendering enemy groups were in a starved condition. He also said 697 Japs have been killed in the area. [A previous report of more than 800 killed was in error. It covered all in the Aitape area, southeast of Hollandia.]

Targets of Air Raiders.

Headquarters reported new air strikes at Dutch Timor, Rabaul, New Britain, and Kavieng, New Ireland.

One hundred and five tons of bombs were dropped on Wewak, starting big fires among gun positions and buildings.

Solomons-based planes poured 97 tons on Rabaul on Wednesday. Its five airdromes and supply depots were heavily hit.

The raid reported today in the Schoutens was made Thursday night by Liberators against the main island of Biak. Twelve Zeros tried futilely to break up the raid.

Their father was killed two months ago in an automobile accident.

Quinidine previously has been obtained by a tedious process of isolating it in small quantities from quinine.

Discloses Fighting French Have 53,000 in Air Force

ALGIERS, May 5 (AP).—The Fighting French air force now comprises 53,000 troops and includes several regiments of parachutists, Fernand Grenier, air commissioner of the French national committee of liberation, said today. Diethelm and Louis Jacquinot, navy commissioner, both expressed hope that French troops and ships would be allowed to take prominent parts in the invasion of Europe.

MUST BEAT JAPS IN CHINA TO WIN, SAYS COL. CLEAR

land of China will be the reconquest of the Philippines, Col. Clear said. He explained that these islands are necessary as naval and air bases because of the vast distances involved in maintaining supply lines from the United States to the Asiatic front.

In the campaign to drive the Japs out of the Philippines, Col. Clear predicted American troops will have the active support of almost 100 per cent of the Filipino people, who he said, have not swallowed Japanese propaganda against the whites.

The colonel warned that as soon as Germany is defeated, the Japs will launch a gigantic propaganda appeal to all Asiatics, asking their support against the whites. Thus far, he said, this program has been soft peddled because of the Germans.

Col. Clear said the Japanese now think they are the masters of Asia. The strength, determination, and morale of their armies will be broken only by a series of smashing defeats, and these will have to be inflicted in China, he asserted.

Col. Clear's address was the major event at today's session of the convention, which will close with a patriotic program tomorrow, the second anniversary of the fall of Corregidor.

GUATEMALA TO ASK BRITAIN TO GIVE BACK HONDURAS AFTER WAR

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, May 5 (AP).—Return of British Honduras to Guatemala will be demanded of Britain after the war, Ambassador Sinfortso Aguilar of Guatemala said today.

"Because of nonfulfillment of English obligation and in conformance with international jurisprudence, the pact between my country and England has expired," he said.

Britain acquired possession of British Honduras thru a treaty with Spain in 1783. Subsequent treaties were signed with Mexico and with Guatemala. The territory, located south of Yucatan, Mexico, is rich in tropical fruits and woods.

JAP NAVY GETS 3D COMMANDER WITHIN A YEAR

New York, May 5 (AP).—Little known Adm. Soemu Toyoda now heads the Japanese combined fleet, the Tokyo high command disclosed today in announcing the death in action of Adm. Mineichi Koga.

Adm. Toyoda is the third commander the elusive Jap fleet has had since Pearl Harbor—his two predecessors reportedly having been killed in action within a little more than one year.

An imperial headquarters report, recorded by United States government monitors, said Koga "died at his post in March of this year while directing operations from an airplane at the front."

It bore a striking similarity to the Tokyo bulletin of May 21, 1943, announcing the death of the former fleet chief, boastful Isoroku Yamamoto, in a plane during a naval battle the previous April.

Adm. Toyoda, 58, who, the Tokyo radio said, already has taken over command of the fleet, was advanced from the navy's second top job, that of commander of the Yokosuka naval base, Japan's largest.

FASCIST WHEAT PLAN ADOPTED BY BADOGLIO WITH HELP OF REDS

AT THE SEAT OF THE ITALIAN GOVERNMENT, May 5 (AP).—Premier Pietro Badoglio's new government turned to a system of state control of wheat today to solve Italy's most vital internal problem—feeding the people.

The program, under which farmers will turn over all wheat to the government at a fixed price, is in general a continuation of the "amassing" system of fascism.

The Communist party, of which Agriculture Minister Fausto Gullo is a member, is expected to play an important part in winning over support of the peasants.

Street Car, Truck Crash; Fifty Passengers Shaken

Fifty passengers on a westbound 63d st. surface lines car were shaken last night when the car and a Bates Motor Transport company transport truck collided at Western av. The truck overturned. Robert Hall, 25, of 3331 Walnut st., and four passengers received first aid.

ROBIN MISSING FROM HER NEST TAKEN OFF AUTO

Moving the nest of Mack's robin, the bird that worked a daytime swing shift to set up its domicile on the gasoline tank of a war plant worker's automobile, appeared last night to have been inadvisable.

The robin began building its nest on April 22 on a car which Ray J. Mack, 7235 Greenleaf av., daily drove to Bell & Gossett Co., at 8300 Austin av., Downers Grove. Between 7 a. m. and 5 p. m. each day the nest building progressed and the robin laid two eggs. The bird left its nest each night when Mack drove to his home, and returned each morning when he came to work.

Because an ornithologist decided the eggs would be damaged if left exposed by Mack's trips to his home, Mack built a bird house, nailed it to a telephone pole near his parking lot at the war plant and placed the nest gently inside. That was last Wednesday. Last night C. E. Van Cleave, a plant guard, reported that the robin was not on her nest and had not been seen.

5 OVERCOME BY GAS IN GARY HOME; ONE WOMAN VICTIM DIES

Mrs. Anne Wonsowicz, 27, of 4152 Delaware st., Gary, died in Mercy hospital last night after she and four other members of her household had been overcome by gas, apparently from a hot water heater.

The dead woman, her mother, Mrs. Mary Badovinac, 59; her sister, Mrs. Mary Labuda, 28, and the latter's daughter, Sandra, 4, were found unconscious by Mrs. Wonsowicz's father, Michael Badovinac, 65, who collapsed after calling neighbors.

A fire department inhalator squad worked over all five and revived all except Mrs. Wonsowicz. Her mother, reported to be in a critical condition, also was removed to the hospital.

U. S. ASKS SWISS TO STOP HELPING GERMANS IN WAR

Acts to Halt Shipment of Bearings, Tools.

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—The United States has extended to Switzerland its drive to halt supplies reaching the Nazi war machine from neutral countries.

Negotiations are in progress in London between Swiss and American representatives looking toward sharp cuts in Swiss exports to Germany of ball bearings, chronometers, fuses, and precision instruments. The Swiss also are being asked to reduce their credits to the Nazis.

In return, they are asking increased imports from the United States of food, cotton, and TNT.

How Swiss Get Goods.

Swiss trade with the United States is carried on in Swiss ships, which usually sail from America to Portugal or France, where the cargoes are transshipped by rail. They are inspected by American officials here and again in Switzerland to assure that nothing falls into German hands.

Apparently the London talks are going ahead satisfactorily and it is expected that they will be concluded with a trade agreement to replace an interim pact negotiated last December. Under that instrument Switzerland drastically cut its shipments to Germany of the products slated for further withholding now.

The negotiations are being conducted in accordance with Secretary of State Hull's declaration that the allies no longer can supply neutrals which send vital war goods or provide services for the enemy.

Swedish Paper Hits Pressure.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 5 (AP).—The newspaper Aftonbladet, discussing allied demands that Sweden reduce its exports of ball bearings to Germany, said editorially today:

"High American circles don't seem to be able to understand us. One reason may be the distance across the Atlantic, for bombings can't be heard across the ocean. If Sweden is to die of hunger or be bombed or invaded it won't disturb any American at his lunch.

"It doesn't seem to us that the allies can protect us if we break a contract with Germany and, therefore, we think the allies should not present demands which place us in a predicament."

[The Political Handbook of the World, published by the Council on Foreign Relations, lists Aftonbladet as having Nazi tendencies.]

Turn Heat on Portugal.

LONDON, May 5 (AP).—Britain turned increasing heat today on her oldest ally, Portugal, in efforts to halt the flow of steel hardening wolfram [tungsten] to Germany. There was mounting belief here that the efforts would be successful within a week or 10 days.

Britain and the United States earlier this week announced Spain had agreed to reduce her shipments of the metal to Germany.

It was believed here that Portugal may have been given a time limit to make up its mind, on the grounds that capitulation to the allied demand would mean little if it came after an invasion tied up shipping routes.

MILLS STAGES WAR SHOW FOR ITS EMPLOYES

A premiere of 27 major war products manufactured by Mills Industries, Inc., was viewed by 600 of the company's employes yesterday noon at its central plant, 4100 Fullerton av. James T. Mangan, director of company war promotions, said that the display was assembled "so that the workers will know what the company is doing."

In the exhibit were some parts so vital that a bomber cannot leave the ground without them. Of outstanding interest were a "belly" auxiliary gas tank for fighter planes, a plane gun turret control, without which fighting planes are defenseless and a nose and plug assembly for an incendiary bomb of the type that's burning Berlin today.

The company makes war products for the army, navy, signal corps, and air corps, and employs 2,800 workers in its three Chicago plants. Movies of company operations are being shown this week for the workers at noon and midnight.

3 URCHINS FIND ILL SPENT DOLLAR IS FULL OF WOE

Three small boys, missing for two days and nights, were discovered yesterday in the basement of a building at 831 Buckingham pl., only a block from their homes. A dollar bill, they tearfully confessed to their parents, was the cause of their undoing.

Gerald Skoglund, 5, and his brother, Howard, 7, of 825 Roscoe st., and Andrew Felix Jr., 9, gladly accompanied a policeman to Town Hall station, after a resident of the building discovered them huddled in the basement, hungry and begrimed.

They revealed a playmate, Eli Daniels, 5, of 825 Roscoe St., gave them a dollar that his mother had given him to buy a loaf of bread. They spent the money for a movie and cookies, and then were afraid to go home, they told their mothers, Mrs. Clarice Stacey [formerly Mrs. Albert Skoglund] and Mrs. Grace Felix.

FINNISH PEOPLE LACKING FAITH IN RULE—RUSSIA

Charges Envoy Seeks to Sow Mistrust.

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—The soviet information bulletin today said "reports from various sources show that the rejection of the soviet peace terms has contributed to a growing lack of confidence in the Finnish government among large sections of the population of Finland."

The bulletin, issued by the Russian embassy, also carried a statement by Tass, soviet news agency, describing as "contrary to the reality" a statement by Hjalmar Procope, the Finnish minister here. That statement placed upon Russia responsibility for the final breakdown in the peace negotiations two weeks ago.

"Moderate and Fair."

"After receipt by the soviet government of the Finnish answer on April 19," the bulletin said, "the Finns did not address the soviet government, either with regard to the continuation of negotiations or for their renewal.

"The soviet armistice terms, including a demand for indemnity, were approved by the allies, who found them to be moderate and fair. The Finnish government knows it quite well.

"Nevertheless it is seeking to sow mistrust in the camp of the allies with regard to the soviet union's clear and magnanimous policy on the Finnish question.

"The Finnish minister in the United States, Procope, is trying to rally so-called 'friends of Finland' among certain American circles with the aim of getting absolution for the Hitlerite stand taken by Finland."

Plans to Renew Contacts.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 5 (AP).—Edmund A. Gullion, United States charge d'affaires in Helsinki, will visit Stockholm Monday "to renew contacts and have talks," an official of the American legation in Stockholm disclosed today.

He emphasized that Gullion's visit in no way indicated a break in United States-Finnish relations.

Eleven Finnish soldiers were detained in Sweden today after deserting the Finnish army and fleeing across the Gulf of Bothnia in two motorboats, the newspaper Worgontidmingen reported.

At Umea, where they were held by police, the men said they were tired of the war, short of food and clothing, and were worried about the "possibility of civil war in Finland."

AGED MAN STRICKEN IN CHURCH.

Frank Kazmierczak, 78, of 4922 W. 28th pl., Cicero, suffered a fatal heart attack yesterday while attending services in St. Mary's of Czestochowa church, 48th ct. and 30th st., in the suburb.

34 HUSKY BOYS BOW TO A GIRL IN MATH TESTS

Pin curls and permanents may adorn the outside of a girl's head, but they are no sign that all is frivolity inside it. Frances Sarnat, 16, senior at Hyde Park High school, proved this yesterday when she whisked thru 36 sticklers to win the third mathematics tournament sponsored by Wilson Junior college mathematics department.

She vanquished 34 boys and four other girls from 13 south side high schools, becoming the first girl winner and returning the third straight championship to Hyde Park. Twelve five minute rounds were required for her to eliminate her closest rivals, Allan Kaufman, 1350 Hyde Park blvd., and Roy Radner, 2151 E. 68th st., both 16, 2d and 3d place winners, respectively. Both were her teammates and fellow seniors from Hyde Park. Radner went down in the 11th round, while Kaufman lost by one miss in the final.

Two Teasers to Answer.

With three problems to do in five minutes, the high school sharks could allow little more than a minute to figure out such a teaser as this one: At an election there are two candidates, A and B. A's supporters are taken to the polls in carriages, holding eight each, and B's are taken in carriages holding 12 each. If the voters, 760 in all, just fill 80 carriages, find which man wins the election and by what majority.

Or this: Two bicycles start at 12 o'clock, one from Brownersville to Whitefield, the other from Whitefield to Brownersville, and back. They meet at 3 o'clock for the second time. The distance between the towns is 35 miles. When did they meet the first time?

Evidently mathematical proficiency isn't a matter of cramming continually, for Winner Frances, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Sarnat, 6542 Stony Island av., clerks in a drug store three afternoons and evenings a week. She is completing her fourth year of mathematics and expects to major in science in college.

Receive Books as Prizes.

The first three winners were given mathematics books as were the fourth, fifth, and sixth place runners-up—Jona Cohn, Harper High; Bill Stanley, Morgan Park, and Melvin Siegal, Hirsch, who had to run off an elimination round for 6th place with Louise Goines, Englewood.

As the students worked in the front of the examination room yesterday, their teachers worked the same problems in the rear of the room—some giving up now and then. Among the faculty was Miss Beulah Shoesmith, teacher of the winning Hyde Parkers this year and in previous years and head of the school's mathematics department.

Wilson mathematics teachers prepared the questions under the supervision of Dr. Luise Lange, chairman of the department. The purpose of the contest is to stimulate interest in mathematics among high school students. Nearly all contestants were juniors or seniors.

POLES PROTEST TRIP TO MOSCOW BY U. S. PRIEST

Hull Is Told Action Was Breach of Faith.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—A warning that 6 million Americans of Polish descent bitterly resent the Roosevelt administration's apparent espousal of Russian attempts to communize Poland was delivered to the state department today by a delegation of directors of Polish-American societies in the eastern states.

The granting of passports and traveling facilities to the Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski and Prof. Oscar Lange of the University of Chicago for a trip to Moscow to confer with Josef Stalin was "a breach of good faith by the United States government toward citizens of Polish descent," the delegates asserted.

State Department Silent.

Secretary of State Hull did not receive his callers in person and no response came from the state department to the protest.

Two priests, the Rev. A. Lekarczyk, president of the Union of Polish Roman Catholic Priests in the Springfield, Mass., diocese, in which the Rev. Orlemanski's parish is located, and the Rev. A. A. Skoniecki of Turner's Falls, Mass., led the delegation.

They declared the Rev. Orlemanski was the only Roman Catholic priest of Polish descent among 1,500 in the eastern area who was pro-communistic in his views.

"The granting of permission and the aid of the government to these two men [the Rev. Orlemanski and Lange] indicates the administration's stamp of approval on communistic activities in this country," they said.

Warn of Reaction Abroad.

"The people in Nazi occupied Poland may interpret this visit as evidence of American solidarity with the aims and methods of soviet aggression. The same impression may be created among all European countries threatened at present with communism.

"It represents an undermining of faith in the democratic aims of America."

Seen as Threat to Safety.

The official protest addressed to Hull said the Orlemanski mission is intended "to mendaciously represent several millions of Americans of Polish descent as idolators of Stalin and as such is offensive to all Americans of Polish descent.

At a press conference, Joseph Kaszubowski, a Buffalo, N. Y., attorney, one of the delegates, was asked if the issue caused by the Rev. Orlemanski's Kremlin visit was likely to affect the Polish-American vote in the Presidential elections in November.

"It is certainly affecting my judgment and ideas very much as to where the administration stands on this issue," he replied.

Rep. Lesinski [D., Mich.], a strong administration supporter, who called the Rev. Orlemanski a "Judas Iscariot" in a house speech last Tuesday, said he had been hearing reports which boded political ill for the administration unless the President and Secretary Hull made clear their positions. He said he has waited five days without an answer to a letter he wrote Hull asking for an explanation.

Polish Congress May Act.

The national congress of Americans of Polish descent, to be held in Buffalo, N. Y., May 28-30, will undoubtedly take a strong position in regard to the Orlemanski incident, the delegates said.

Among those who signed the protest to the state department were Dr. Teofil Starzynski, president of the Polish Falcons of America, Pittsburgh, Pa.; M. F. Wegrzynek, president of the national committee of Americans of Polish descent, New York, N. Y.; Dr. Stanislaus Gutowski, general secretary of the Pulaski Foundation, Newark, N. J., and Mrs. Katarzyna Kozik, president of the Association of War Mothers of Polish Descent.

THE QUESTION.

How did you meet your wife or husband?

WHERE ASKED.

The Southeast National Bank of Chicago, 1180 E. 63d st.

THE ANSWERS.

Mrs. O. E. Westburg, housewife, 1639 E. 67th st.—It's an old story but I think it's a good one. It was a wonderful party and a good time was had by all. Every one danced with every one else's boy friend and so did I. He was a wonderful dancer, too. I thank one of my sorority sisters for bringing my husband to the dance.

Leo Kriston, operator helper, 2003 Lincoln av., Whiting, Ind.—My pal and I both had girl friends who lived in southern Illinois. We went down to see them one afternoon and they were both out. We found his girl friend but we didn't find mine. I met another girl on that trip. I went with her three months and married her.

Edith Fischer, housewife, 6632 Greenwood av.—While I was working for a meat packing company I used to eat my lunch in a restaurant nearby. The restaurant owner asked me if I would get him a sausage knife from the company. I did and he asked me to dine with him. I said yes when he proposed.

Sydney R. Montague, lecturer and author, New York City—When I was in the royal Canadian mounted police force a sight-seeing tour came thru our post. I saw a pretty girl among the group and my buddies arranged a date for me. I was transferred to a new post. She waited five years for me to come back.

Mrs. C. E. Fox, housewife, 1534 Olive rd., Homewood—A friend of mine used to pick me up at my office and give me a ride as far as my house. One day he brought along a man who worked in his office. The next week his friend, Mr. Fox, called, alone, for me. That's how it all started.

Mrs. Fred Rossow, housewife, 6946 Jeffery av.—My girl friend and I went to a church baseball game. She had a date with the baseman and she asked him to get me a date with the pitcher. We went on a double date and somewhere we switched partners. I married the baseman and she married the pitcher.

SECRET ROCKET GUNS SPEEDED FOR ARMY, NAVY

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—Military plans for rush production of newly developed, highly secret rocket weapons were revealed today, and congressional leaders promised speedy action to provide the necessary funds.

A house naval committee report said the army and navy plan to spend $35,000,000 for expanded manufacture of the weapons because of "great demand" for them. It said a "new technique was required for the new propellant."

The committee recommended appropriation of $65,000,000 for naval ordnance and included a statement from the navy that $15,000,000 would be used along with $20,000,000 already set aside by the army for the rocket weapons.

CHARGE NAVAL CHIEF FALSIFIED REPORT ON GUAM

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—Adm. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet and chief of naval operations, has been called upon to explain his castigation of congress for failure to fortify Guam in his official report on the navy at war, it was learned tonight.

Sen. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the powerful naval affairs committee, called upon the admiral to expunge his "unjustified" charge against congress from the official report. The admiral has not yet replied.

Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.] demanded Adm. King supply the official information upon which he based his "false" accusation against congress. The admiral also has not yet met this demand.

Used in Primary Campaigns.

Both senators charged that the unfounded accusation of laxity against congress has been employed unfairly in primary campaigns against Senators Tydings [D., Md.] and Holman [R., Ore.]. They declared it should be made clear that congress was never asked to fortify the Pacific island.

In his report, "Our navy at war," Adm. King wrote:

"At the time of the 1922 treaty [on limitation of armaments] Pearl Harbor and Manila were fortified bases and Guam was being fortified. . . . When, therefore, the parties to that treaty agreed to maintain the fortification of certain Pacific islands in status quo, the fortification of Guam was halted. After we were no longer bound by the treaty, the proposal was made to proceed with the fortification of Guam, but after considerable debate in congress, it was rejected."

Report Called Untrue.

Chairman Walsh called the attention of the naval affairs committee to this phase of the admiral's report along with the admiral's request that the report be published as a senate document. Walsh explained he had written to the admiral demanding that this portion of the report be expunged because it is not true. The committee supported the chairman's position.

Sen. Walsh said the facts are that a naval board headed by Adm. Arthur J. Hepburn, as commander in chief of the fleet, recommended fortification. The cost of fortification was estimated at 180 million dollars. No direct request was put before congress, however, either by the navy or the President until 1939 when a request for 5 million dollars to improve the harbor was offered.

No Fortification Asked.

This request was for harbor improvements alone and not for fortification. It was debated and defeated in the house. At the time it was reported the state department was against the proposal. On March 23, 1941, a $4,700,000 appropriation for harbor improvement at the island was voted by congress.

"When the matter was first called to my attention," Sen. Wheeler said, "I made a check with the appropriations committee and found the question of the fortification of Guam never came before the senate to be voted upon.

"I am amazed that Adm. King is dragging this old red herring across the floors of congress. It does no credit to himself or his uniform.

CHANCE OF DRAFT OF MEN OVER 26 WANES FURTHER

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chances that men over 26 and in essential war work will be drafted faded still further yesterday when Selective Service Director Hershey predicted the pool of draft eligibles under 26 probably will last "until early fall."

Selective service has been making its plans in anticipation that the under 26 group would be pretty well exhausted by some time in July, Hershey said in an interview at Baltimore, Md., however, that draft calls during the last several months had not been as high as anticipated and that there had been fewer rejections among men under 26.

Currently, selective service has a ban against induction of men 26 and over who are "making a contribution to essential agricultural, war production, or war supporting activities."

Action of Various States.

Since this order went into effect April 8, some boards have stopped inducting any men over 26, an Associated Press survey showed. State directors in Florida, Indiana, and Delaware said none were being inducted, and Rhode Island draft officials said they did not expect to call any over 26 before July. New York City draft officials said no men over 26 had been inducted there since the April 8 order except for a few volunteers, and the Nevada state board said it anticipated none of the older men would be called in May.

The order does not forbid induction of men over 26 who are engaged in nonessential activities, and many local boards still are taking them. The Nebraska state board, for instance, reported 10 per cent of calls since April 28 had been of men 26 or over from nonessential work.

Virtually all the state directors reached in the survey said local boards under their jurisdiction were following the national order to the letter. In many cases, however, they interpreted it as permitting induction of delinquents and, as in New York City, were accepting volunteers over 26 without regard to employment.

Order Normal Inductions.

While national selective service officials said they considered the order a flat, nation-wide ban on induction of older men in war supporting or essential activities, some boards apparently did not so interpret it.

In North Dakota, induction of men over 26 was stopped from April 8 to May 1 but state headquarters instructed local boards to resume "normal inductions of men from 18 to 38" on May 1.

VOTE FOR REPUBLIC, ICELANDERS URGED IN GOVERNMENT PLEA

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, May 5 (AP).—A plea for all citizens of Iceland to vote for the establishment of a republic in the popular referendum May 20-23 was made in a joint declaration today by the cabinet and all four political parties.

"It is the right of the Icelandic nation . . . to determine its governmental forms," the statement said. "The althing [parliament] and the cabinet have recommended to the nation that it determine that the country be made a republic as has been the desire of Icelanders for centuries."

SIMPLIFIED TAX PLAN VOTED IN HOUSE, 358 TO 0

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—Spurred by the national outcry against the intricacy and confusion of war time taxation, the house passed unanimously today a bill designed to relieve some 30 million of the 50 million taxpayers of the necessity of computing income tax returns.

The vote was 358 to 0, the first time in the memory of house veterans that a tax bill passed without a dissenting voice.

This action shuttled the tax simplification legislation to the senate, where Chairman George [D., Ga.] of the finance committee predicted early approval. The streamliner would:

1. Scrap the 2 year old victory tax and set new normal and surtax rates and exemptions while keeping actual tax burdens near present levels.

Withholding Levy Change.

2. Change the withholding levy against wages and salaries—effective next Jan. 1—to deduct currently the full tax liability of persons earning up to $5,000—thus removing the necessity for 30 million persons to compute formal returns.

3. Of the 20 million who still would be required to file returns, 10 million [those earning less than $5,000 but with income other than wages and salaries] could use a simple table showing their entire tax. The remaining 10 million with incomes over $5,000 would fill out a simpler return than the present long form.

The revised normal and surtaxes would be applicable for returns filed next March 15 on 1944 income.

Generally the bill would levy a somewhat larger tax against single persons and couples without children, while the load would be lightened for taxpayers with large families.

First Income Bracket.

The withholding system of deductions from pay envelopes and salary checks was instituted last year as a part of the pay-as-you-go tax legislation. It now takes the approximate tax of persons in the first income bracket.

Under the new bill those earning up to $5,000 in 1944 and receiving not more than $100 from sources not subject to withholding would be permitted to file a copy of a withholding receipt, furnished by the employer, in place of the regular tax return. These taxpayers would list their dependents on the reverse side of this receipt and enter amounts of "other income."

They would mail it to the local tax collector who would calculate the tax, then bill the taxpayer or issue a refund check, depending whether the taxpayer was overpaid or underpaid.

MERCURY DROPS TO 34 HERE FOR 73 YEAR RECORD

The coldest May 5 in the history of the Chicago weather bureau running back to 1871 was recorded yesterday when the temperature dropped to a low of 34 at 6 a. m. The previous low level of 36 was registered on May 5, 1891.

The weather bureau forecast continued cold during the night, indicating a 69 year mark may be shattered early today. The coldest May 6 was in 1875 when the mercury fell to 35 degrees.

Forecaster H. L. Jacobson said snow flurries were reported in Minnesota, Iowa, and as far south as Columbia, Mo. The temperature in Des Moines, Ia., in midafternoon was 33. At the other extreme Yuma, Ariz., experienced a high of 100.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

F. F. O. asks: "Does the navy have a separate personal effects bureau or does the office at Kansas City take care of the army and the navy?"

ANSWER: The personal effects bureau of the quartermaster corps of the army is in Kansas City and it handles only effects of deceased army personnel. The navy has two distribution centers to be addressed: Personal Effects Distribution Center, Navy Supply Depot, Scotia 2, New York, or Clearfield, Utah. The coast guard and marines do not have corresponding centers so inquiries have to be directed to their headquarters in Washington 25, D. C.

T. J. writes: "When I was drafted into the army in November, 1943, I was employed by an oil company as station manager at $45 per week plus all wash jobs which netted me $60 weekly average. When I returned to Chicago in March, 1943, I returned to work with the same company but was placed as warehouse laborer at 75c per hour or $30 per week. Is not this a violation of the law passed by congress regarding reemployment of veterans?"

ANSWER: Section 8 of the selective service and training act is by necessity weak and difficult if not impossible of enforcement as many veterans are discovering. The law says that if the man is discharged; if he is still qualified to perform the duties of his former job, and if he makes application within 40 days after discharge, "the employer shall restore such person to such position or to a position of like seniority, status, and pay unless the employer's circumstances have so changed as to make it impossible or unreasonable to do so." . . . Any one of these phrases gives an employer an out if he doesn't choose to reemploy a returning veteran. The burden of proof seems to rest upon the service man that he is physically fit; that the employer has the same or similar job, etc. We are told you can get legal assistance from the reemployment committeeman of your local board if you need it to compel your employer to reinstate you in your old job. Perhaps one effective way to combat this practice is for you to send your employer's name to your congressman and let him read it into the Congressional Record.

A. M. writes: "I was discharged from the army Nov. 30 with a bad case of rheumatic arthritis affecting both of my legs and both of my arms so severely I can't work. Christmas time I went to see my own doctor and he relieved me temporarily and told me to get the Red Cross to send me to Hines. We [my wife helped me] went out to Hines twice. I realize the Hines hospital is very busy and doing the best they can but so far all the help I've had is being told to keep my feet in hot water. How are we expected to live on only $20 per month in this condition? I was in the army two years."

ANSWER: Veterans having difficulty getting treatment and assistance should contact Social Service Department at these hospitals. If you are incapacitated to the extent you indicate, get a letter from your doctor and have your case reopened.

THE FACTS OF POWER.

Premier Curtin of Australia is in London for the meeting of commonwealth premiers with Mr. Churchill. Mr. Curtin was interviewed about the redistribution of naval and air bases after the war. He thought that something could be worked out that would be generally satisfactory. Of course any acquisitions by the United States would have to have the approval of the great powers in conference. What the Australians want is not additional territory for themselves but the assurance that the strategic islands will not fall into the hands of future aggressors. Australia has always got along well with her Dutch, Portuguese, and French neighbors, and has no doubt of her ability to get along with an English speaking nation. Etc., etc.

This interview followed by a day or so another one in which Mr. Curtin paid somewhat grudging tribute to America's soldiers and sailors who had saved Australia from invasion by the Japanese. Mr. Curtin's observations evidence an unwillingness to recognize changed facts of power. It is this unwillingness, more than anything else, that stands as an obstacle to good relations after the war between the United States on the one hand and Britain and her empire on the other.

Mr. Curtin continues to talk as if Australia's membership in the empire protected her against invasion. We now know that wasn't true before this war and it will not be true after it. The British dominions are not likely to be menaced unless the British navy is occupied with an enemy in home waters and, if that happens, the British cannot protect the outlying possessions. Britain lost Burma, Malaya, and her ports on the China coast, and would have lost Australia and India if we had not halted the Japanese march. The inability of the British to hold their possessions resulted, in turn, in the loss by the Dutch, the French, and the Portuguese of their colonies. If the Japanese are ever forced to yield these prizes, as they will be, American arms will be responsible for the victory.

Those are the facts of power. Without our aid Britain would have lost Egypt and the Mediterranean would still be closed. To any disinterested observer it must be apparent now that only thru our support can Britain feel secure even in her own island. As for the empire, it must fall apart without us to defend it. Britain lacks the man power, the industrial productivity, and perhaps even the military competence to hold what she claims as hers.

That is true now, altho we have given Britain 50 destroyers, 50 carriers, a great fleet of merchant ships, and quite likely vessels of many other categories as well, not to mention a vast amount of equipment for fighting on land and in the air. In common sense, if not in gratitude, Mr. Curtin should have said that, so far as Australia was concerned, the United States could have and hold any bases that she wanted, anywhere, on any terms that our government might choose to suggest.

To say that would have been to recognize the facts of power in the world today. Australia cannot defend herself against a strong aggressor. Britain cannot defend her. Britain cannot even defend her possessions far closer to the home islands. The whole imperial system is dependent upon our support. Failure to accept these facts and act on them will make for trouble in British-American relations.

The leadership belongs to us because we have the power to enforce decisions and the British haven't. The United States can remain on good terms with Britain and the empire if, on their part, they will recognize that in matters which are likely in any important way to concern us they are the junior partner, without the right to make final decisions. We are not dependent on them; they are and will remain dependent on us, both for military and economic backing. It will not be easy for them to accept a secondary position after centuries of dominance, but there isn't any other sound basis for Anglo-American coöperation.

BABY TALK.

The American correspondents in London keep this country pretty well informed by cable of what is said in parliament, but occasionally they overlook a bet.

Thus, it was only by reading the parliamentary report in the London New Statesman and Nation that we learned of Ian Fraser's proposal. He rose to suggest that the telegraphic code book used in communicating with British soldiers overseas contain a word meaning, "I am going to have a baby."

Capt. Cobb said he thought this was a pretty good idea, but he felt there should be another code word to convey the message, "I am not going to have a baby."

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

Mrs. James Roosevelt, wife of the President's eldest son, was caught speeding in her automobile at Laguna Beach, Cal., on her way to see her husband, a marine corps colonel, in San Diego. It has been the custom of many police judges to refer convicted speeders to their ration boards, which frequently revoke or suspend their gasoline rations. Mrs. Roosevelt escaped this penalty.

Judge C. C. Cravath, who fined her $10, says that he is "not a stool pigeon for the OPA" and that he has no intention of forwarding the record of her conviction to her ration board. The judge's position is defensible only upon his record. If he has taken the same stand in all the other speeding cases that have come before him, no fair minded person would expect him to single out Mrs. James Roosevelt for discipline by the OPA.

Attention was attracted to this case in a congressional committee hearing in which Rep. Brown, an Ohio Republican, raised the question of special privilege allowed members of the Roosevelt family in the use of rationed gasoline. He criticized the airplane excursions of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt to the fighting fronts and said they were doing "more than anything else" to hamper the enforcement of gasoline rationing.

Whatever the merits of the accusation, it is interesting to note how zealously the Roosevelt appointees defend special privilege for themselves and for their party leader and members of his family. The New Dealers like to call themselves "liberals." Certainly there is no place for special privilege in any truly liberal regime. The answer, of course, is that New Deal liberalism is a phony liberalism. There never was any intention on the part of the New Dealers to relinquish privilege once the people gave them the power to acquire it.

Americans will not tolerate special privilege, whether it is claimed by politicians, wealthy men, or the false prophets of the proletariat. The people have not failed to observe that special privilege has been more often obtained and more jealously guarded by Mr. Roosevelt and his left wingers than by any other administration in American history.

THE FINAL CHANCE.

Paul D. Sowell, an assistant manager at Montgomery Ward & Co., removed a government notice from the walls of Ward's office building Thursday shortly after it had been posted by deputy marshals. Mr. Sowell says he wanted to take the notice to his office to read it more closely and to show it to his superiors—anyway, he took it down.

For this offense, he was seized on the spot by three government men, hustled out to the federal district attorney's office, finger printed, held incommunicado for three hours, manacled, and led into the federal commissioner's office for arraignment on a charge of taking "with intent to steal" government property. Mr. Sowell was not allowed to see his attorney until the arraignment and there was no warrant for his arrest.

The brutal treatment Mr. Sowell suffered for removing a piece of paper from a wall in his office building comes only a few days after Sewell Avery, chairman of Ward's, was carried bodily out of his office by armed troops who seized the company on President Roosevelt's order. These are strange sights to Chicagoans, but nobody who has watched the progress of New Deal totalitarianism over the years can say that they were unforeseen.

It probably is a salutary thing for Americans that Mr. Avery and Mr. Sowell have been subjected to manhandling, indignities, and gross violation of their civil rights by the Roosevelt-Biddle-New Deal gang. It has clarified people's thinking. Every business man knows now what he can expect. Every citizen who took refuge in the law and the Constitution knows now what the law can be and what it can do to him when it is enforced and interpreted by a dictator's burocracy.

If the right to vote can be preserved until November, Americans will have their chance for redress. They will have the chance to strike off the chains and fight their way back to freedom. It may be their last chance.

SOLDIERS AND SLOT MACHINES.

Sen. Bridges has asked investigation of reports that soldiers at some camps are losing a large proportion of their pay to slot machines. In many localities the army has had to take measures to protect its personnel against racketeers who have swarmed in to prey on them, and it has not always had the coöperation of local civil officers in its efforts to clean up.

Sen. Bridges' remarks indicate that some of the slot machines may actually have been installed on government reservations. This the army denies, saying that the only places under its jurisdiction where the slots may be found are in some officers' clubs, where their presence is at the discretion of the commanding officer. Sen. Bridges, however, says that some of the machines are "owned and controled by a very small and select clique close to the administration." This is certainly a subject for investigation, preferably by a congressional committee that will be free of any influence to bring in a whitewash.

The character of Mr. Roosevelt's political machine is enough of itself to lend color to the charges. Frank Costello, one of the biggest slot machine racketeers in the country, is a power in the Tammany organization in New York, which is an integral part of the Roosevelt machine. Costello was shown in the Aurelio case to have put one, if not more, of his men on the New York bench, with the complacent assistance of Mayor La Guardia.

In Chicago the Capone mob is hand in glove with the Democratic organization. Costello and the Chicago racketeers would have no compunction about setting up their one-armed bandits wherever they could reap a harvest, and if they could use their political connections to gain admission to army posts they would do so in a moment. The only question is has any one permitted them to do so?

MR. PEPYS' NEWSWEEK.

6th May—Have been brooding about the approaching invasion across the Atlantic, and got into such a state of uncertainty that I am now pretending it will not happen, which is the best way to catch the enemy off guard. My advice to the high command is to grab the Kiel canal as soon as possible and go on from there, and having got that off my chest, will drop the subject.

Was interviewed by a historian, who wanted to know why the year 1900 marked a sharp decline in Chicago as a literary center. After thinking deeply about this, decided that 1900 was an approximate date for the birth of the Twentieth Century railway train, which provided a fast trip for Chicago authors to New York, there to remain.

Explored Chicago's Poland and found a satisfactory state of affairs along Noble st., with three great churches and schools, two large playgrounds or parks, and one social settlement strung along a mile of that thorofare. Found that one of these churches, Holy Trinity, is a striking example of the baroque style of architecture, which is rare in this city.

Assembled and donned my spring apparel with pleasure, and two days later went back into the winter garment with a growl. Had a visit from Joseph D. Vehling, translator of the world's oldest cookbook, prepared by an old Roman named Apicius, and when I go to Milwaukee shall expect Mr. Vehling to cook me a Latin dinner.

AT NATURE'S SHRINE.

I played hooky from church today
But hope that God won't mind,
Because I walked some springtime way
His wondrous works to find,
Where lily-of-the-valley bells
Thru green-leafed cool cathedral aisles
Soft-summoned me to woodland dells,
Where tall in solemn files
Sweet Williams stood beside the brook
To hear jack-in-the-pulpit preach
A message fine as any book
Could e'er devise or teach.
I watched the violets, shy and prim,
All nod their sweet amen
As larks and robins sang a hymn,
With solo by the wren.
I smelled the incense of the fir
And perfume of the rose—
Could frankincense and myrrh
Waft fragrance rich as those?
I saw the blue-arched sky above
And felt upon the sunny air
A reassurance of God's love
The answer to my prayer.
I sensed His presence near
Beside a slender silver birch,
And almost thought to see Him here
Within this earth-bound church.

Fighting It Out Back to Back.

"Gosh, is my back stiff since I spaded that war garden."

"Talk about stiff backs! When I walk into a room everybody thinks I'm bowing out."

"You should see me. When I sit straight up in a chair I have to lay the newspaper on the floor to read it."

"But imagine me. When I'm lying in bed I'm actually sitting up straight."

"You may not believe it, but in walking down the street during the last four days I've knocked the bark off 15 trees."

"You should see me when I get on a street car. The conductor always thinks I'm stooping down to pick up something from the floor."

"You should have seen me the first day I walked down the street. The neighbors thought they were seeing a new species of quadruped."

"Well, if I couldn't develop a stiffer back than you have, I wouldn't even bother to spade the war garden." W. L. Hudson.

HOUSE BEAUTIFUL.

Tomorrow is an empty house;
There are no carpets on the floor,
No drapes, no pictures on the wall,
No flowers at the garden door.

There are no shelves of unread books,
There is no bed, no lamp, no chair,
No cushion, curtain, candlestick—
No furniture at all is there.

No memories of Yesterday
Clutter the cupboards of Tomorrow,
No unburned letters, old receipts,
No souvenirs of transient sorrow.

Empty, Tomorrow—but brushed clean;
No dust, no ashes in the grate
To tell of some forgotten fire.
Ah, let's move in, and decorate.

Commodore.

How a Wife Saves Money.

She saw a filmy evening gown for $75 that she simply adored, but she bought a "more practical" one for $50 instead, thus saving $25.

She had $10 given her. She asked her husband for $5 to put with it so she could buy the cutest little hat for $15, with a war garden on top. She had seen one she liked even better for $25, but that one was sold while she tried on the garden, so she saved $20 on this transaction. This made a saving of $45.

Then one day while window shopping she spied a perfectly wonderful buy in a fur coat for only $500. She needed one. She went in and looked at it, but decided to buy a "more practical" one which cost only $200. This deal netted her a saving of $300.

$25 plus $20 plus $300 made $345 she saved in her day's shopping. But her husband's bank account plainly shows: minus $25, minus $15, minus $200. This she does not understand, and says it is high finance where her method is low.

AIR SWALLOWING AND ABDOMINAL DISCOMFORT.

MANY victims of indigestion will complain of bloating, rumbling sounds, and belching. A fair proportion of these individuals indulge in bad habits such as air gulping. There is but one cure.

They must learn how to pass saliva, edibles, water, etc. into the gullet [and thence into the stomach] without mixing these substances with sizable quantities of the atmosphere.

Among chronic sufferers must be mentioned nervous or flighty persons who, because of a profuse output of saliva, constantly force liquid mixed with air down the esophagus.

When swallowing is performed properly, the lips are closed, the cheeks sucked in, and the tongue pressed against the roof of the mouth. In drinking from a glass, a tight seal will need to be created by adjusting the upper lip so that it is wholly submerged. Otherwise air as well as fluid will enter.

When a large amount of gas is ingested, a sense of fullness will be experienced. Now, the stomach should contain little or none of this material. If there is a true obstruction at the outlet, however, some fermentation may take place, with the liberation of bubbles. On the other hand, if the structure is normal, there will be no difficulty provided the patient knows how to swallow. If rapid eating and talking are combined, a lake of gas will form above the contents. At the end of a fairly substantial meal, a third of the overstretched stomach may be thus occupied. As contractions start the edibles toward the bowel, burping will come on.

But what harm is done? Rhythmic squeezing of the "breadbasket" will be interrupted. Furthermore, the wall must perform extra work in an attempt to get rid of this foreign matter. Gastric secretions will be delayed because of distention and the patient may be in considerable distress.

In a few instances, breathlessness and premature heart beats will be exhibited. Periodic seizures of dizziness, hazy vision, and dull headache may be mentioned. Heartburn is common when belching is the order of the day. Many particles of food will be pushed upward from the stomach.

If a tube can be passed into the gastric pouch, amelioration will ensue. For the acute paroxysm, hot packs to the upper abdomen will be helpful. At the same time, the patient may be instructed to take deep breaths at intervals. But it is only with the correction of the cause that permanent relief may be expected.

Sometimes pressure from the diaphragm will hasten the flow of air into the bowel. It is then sent onward by intestinal contractions. This process is nearly always accompanied by pain, colicky in character. The sequence of events may explain many episodes of abdominal discomfort, which may be so severe during the night as to awaken the patient. At any rate, when this symptom presents itself, we may investigate the possibility that gas has been bolted. The nervous victim may be treated with mild sedatives, which will be of real benefit in acquiring equanimity.

We must look upon excess gas within the digestive tract as abnormal. It doesn't belong there. In fact, it is in the way. It can upset the behavior of the canal and simulate a serious disorder. The answer lies in more leisure at meal time and the shunning of animated conversation. Air swallowers can overcome the tendency if they will.

TONSILS AND DEAFNESS.

Mrs. E. J. writes: Could imbedded tonsils be responsible for beginning deafness?

REPLY.

Any infection lurking within the tissues about the head and neck should be routed out. A skilled ear specialist can determine the type and what can be done. He may wish to take an audiometer reading.

EGG YOLK.

W. J. writes: Are there any foods that will feed the oil glands? My skin is very dry.

REPLY.

A product which has received considerable attention recently from skin experts is known as "lecithin." This material is found in egg yolk. If you are otherwise well, no harm in trying one or two eggs daily.

TUBERCULIN TESTED COWS.

A. N. writes: Is it safe to drink milk straight from cows that are tested regularly?

REPLY.

Yes, if the animals are free from tuberculosis, undulant fever, mastitis, etc. Make sure that the milking process is conducted in toto under sanitary precautions.

MENINGITIS.

Mrs. C. writes: Is there any way that cerebrospinal meningitis can be prevented?

REPLY.

Good sanitation of the airways, including the mouth and throat. Gargles and washes may be helpful. Avoid crowds and contacts with known cases of the malady.

"PNEUMO."

T. T. writes: Is pneumothorax given in all cases of tuberculosis, or just those that do not respond to simpler methods of treatment?

REPLY.

Not in all. If the plan is successful, it speeds healing.

SPEAKING OF INTERNATIONAL CURRENCY

Front Views & Profiles

By MARCIA WINN

Up in Valhoiler, that beautiful green dale where the gods and the dead poets and composers gather, there was a strange commotion the other night. One of the poets had borrowed Beethoven's radionic hearing aid, and with it and a radio dial smuggled up from the battered earth had tuned in on all below the clouds.

With the first squeak the assembled host paled. Ordinarily aloof creatures who even in Valhoiler do not associate with one another, they gave a common wince at the incoming sounds. "Turn that thing off," shouted Beethoven. "Deafness had its charms." "Shades of the prison house begin to close . . ." burbled Wordsworth. "Say not the bell tolls for thee," came the solemn warning of Donne. "It tolls for all mankind."

Stephen Vincent Benet, one of the more recent recruits to the metrical dale, tried to stem the reproach. "Now, boys," he soothed. "I have been around the earth recently. I know what those sounds mean. They are singing commercials. If you don't like them, let's see you do better."

That's how the thing started, and the subsequent lines, conveyed to us by short shrift, tell how it ended.

Mr. Coleridge was the first to grab the gauntlet. Said he:

In Chicago did Soapmaker
A stately pleasure dome decree:
Where Rough, the sacred soap, did foam
Thru chambers dear in every home
Down to the kitchen sink.
So fifty feet of city ground
With hardest stone were girdled round:
And there were windows bright with soapy sills
Whence leaped much cleanliness into the sky;
And here were parapets like ancient hills
In the tower that soap did rear on high.

Mr. Shelley tried next:

O Fragrant Rough, thou breath of cleanest being,
Thou from whose cleansing presence the dirt dead
Is driven, like ghosts from an enchanter fleeing . . .

O Soapy, which doth move all dirt before;
Scourer and purifier, hear, O hear!
O! cleanse me as a cup, a face, a dish!
I fall upon the waste of life! I soil!

Mr. Keats recited:

Soiled particles are sweet, but those unsoiled
Are sweeter; therefore, ye soft soap, clean on;
Not on the sensual hand, but, better yet,
Cleanse from the spirit its unsoaply tone;
Fair Rough, beneath the skin thou canst not leave
Thy worth, nor ever can its scent be seen;
Bold cleanser, never, never canst thou win
Tho scouring oft the surface—yet do not grieve;
Dirt always fades, tho not beneath the skin,
Forever wilt thou cleanse, and much be clean!

The concluding voice was that of Mr. W. Wordsworth. He arose in mournful cast:

That noise is too much with us; late and soon,
Ranting and spouting, we lay waste our powers:
Little we hear in Heaven that is ours;
We have given our ears away, a sordid boon!
This Voice that bares its tonsils to the moon;
The words that will be howling at all hours,
And now ascend to wreck this bliss of ours;
For this, for everything, we are out of tune;
It moves us not.—Great God! I'd rather be
A deafmute suckled on my dream outworn;
So might I, standing on this pleasant lea ——
"But Billy," interrupted Shelley. "You're repeating yourself."
"I know," Wordsworth said glumly. "But it still fits. How was that next line now? O . . ."

Have glimpses that would make me less forlorn.

BLAMES THE NLRB.

Mount Morris, Ill., May 2.—In the Montgomery Ward affair, it is not only the constitutional rights of private industry that have been violated. The rights of hundreds, perhaps thousands of Ward employes have been ignored thru the negligence [or could it be connivance?] of the national labor relations board, an executive agency. Had this board held an election last December when the CIO contract with Ward's expired, there could have been no dispute and no excuse for the development of the present outrageous situation.

For five months, Ward employes, not wishing to belong to the CIO, were coerced into having their membership dues to the union checked off their pay under penalty of losing their jobs, thru the provisions of an expired contract, while the NLRB twiddled incompetent thumbs.

And now, because a federal board was derelict in its duty, an attorney general oversteps his legal duties, a President commits an outrageous and unconstitutional act, and the entire nation is agitated, alarmed, and aroused as it has not been since the day of Pearl Harbor! H. C. C.

SAYS NLRB UNDERMINES WARD'S UNION.

Chicago, May 3.—Today's decision of the NLRB calling for the election at local 20 of Montgomery Ward's seems to be a definite action to undermine the union. These elections have usually taken from three to four weeks to prepare for and hold. Now, in the midst of trials, under new management, and other strains which make labor uncertain as to which side of the fence to be on, the election is called. Why the rush?

The union has been thru quite a lot in the last three weeks with the strike which was certainly provoked by the management. Now, before they have had time to get things back to normal, they have to hold a speedup election for representation. Is that quite fair?

An extension of time should be given so that the election could be held after the present disputes are over, and labor itself has a chance to think about whether or not they want local 20 to represent them! SUSAN SHRYOCK.

IMITATION NEW DEAL?

Nichols, N. Y., April 24.—Will the Republican national committee force the 1944 candidate to run on an imitation New Deal platform, leaving voters no choice except between the original and imitation New Deals? A Republican victory on a New Deal platform would leave industry, business, and farmers in far worse position than now. For the first depression would bring the original New Deal back into power to stay, so strong that it could and would do what it pleased to industry, business, and farmers.

Sooner or later this country must choose between bolshevism, disguised as the New Deal, and American principles. The record of New Deals in Russia, Italy, Germany, France, and Spain proves that once started, the principle of class robbery can never be stopped short of absolute dictatorship. DANIEL DEAN.

LIFTING THE MEAT RATIONING.

WHY HOMEWORKERS CAN'T GET JOBS.

Chicago, April 29.—I have noticed that several articles appearing recently in the press concerning the employment of homeworkers contained details that were incorrect, and I should like to take this opportunity to explain the state law.

According to the industrial home work law of Illinois, any person desiring to become an employer of one or more homeworkers shall file application with the state department of labor for an employer's permit, accompanied with a fee of $200 which covers the original issuance thereof. Renewal fee is graduated from $50 to $200, according to number of homeworkers employed. The name of each homeworker must be submitted by firm, inspection made of the home to determine if sanitary conditions are satisfied, and receive from this division a certificate before performing any work.

Homework is prohibited in the processing of food or drink, drugs or poisons, medical and surgical bandages and dressings, sanitary napkins and cotton batting, fireworks and explosives, toys and dolls, and tobacco.

Other details of the act may be found in the industrial homework law of Illinois, which this office will gladly supply upon request.

JEWELL ORGAN COLEMAN,

SAYS UNION RIGHTS ARE THE ISSUE.

Chicago, May 3.—Since when has it come about that management can do no wrong? The issue in the Montgomery Ward case is not whether free enterprise shall exist in this land of ours, but do employes have the right, as union members, to have their grievances heard and settled? I think that if management would devote as much time toward the war as they do in scheming to break unions, we'd get this war over sooner, and then we can all enjoy our constitutional rights.

BERNARD KROCHKA.

WHY SHE VOTED FOR MacARTHUR.

Wilmette, Ill., April 30.—I wonder if a great number of the votes which Gen. MacArthur polled in the primaries were not cast in the spirit in which mine was cast? I didn't expect him to give up the job he is doing to be President; in fact I knew he was too big a man to do that. But I did want to give him a vote of confidence and appreciation and say to him that I knew he could be President, if he so chose. His recent announcement has confirmed my faith in him. MRS. H. G. SCHULTZ.

1. In general, no.

DR. J. L. TAYLOR, LAKE CORONER 43 YEARS, DEAD

Veteran Doctor Stricken Five Months Ago.

Dr. John L. Taylor, coroner of Lake county for 43 years, died yesterday in his home, 448 Sunset dr., Libertyville. He was 77.

Dr. J. L. Taylor.

He had been ill since Dec. 4, when he suffered a heart attack, believed to have been induced by overwork in ministering to victims of the influenza epidemic in western Lake county, but in the last month resumed hearing inquests. He was the oldest coroner, in point of service, in the state.

Dr. Taylor was born June 26, 1866, in a granary on his father's homestead near Stacyville, Ia., where he remembered, in later years, hiding under the bed with his mother when Indians roamed the neighborhood. His early education was in a little red schoolhouse. Later he attended a seminary at Osage, Ia., and at 19 entered Lake Forest academy, graduating in 1888.

Deciding to become a doctor, he got a job in a Libertyville drug store for $12 a month, and attended the Illinois College of Pharmacy in Chicago. He earned an additional 50 cents a week as correspondent for a Waukegan newspaper. He was graduated from Rush Medical college in 1894.

Returning to Libertyville he started practice. Two years later he married Miss Laura Schanck. In 1900 he defeated three other physicians and an undertaker for the office of coroner.

Delivered 3,000 Babies.

He was proud of his record of ushering more than 3,000 babies into the world without the loss of a single mother. At one time Dr. Taylor was president of the Lake County Medical association.

His first wife died in 1921. In 1924 he married Mrs. Crystal Eaton, who survives him. He also leaves three daughters by his first marriage, Marjory Krieger, Marian Pettengill, and Jeannette Taylor, and a step-son, Don Eaton.

525 PARK POLICE TO DON SUMMER DRESS TUESDAY

Chicago park district's 525 policemen will shift to summer uniforms Tuesday, with summer inspection to be held in shifts at 2:30 and 4:30 p. m. on the west side of Soldiers' field. Chief Roger F. Shanahan, Capt. Peter P. Annen, and Sgt. William Zarat will review the men.

The uniforms will be complete with polished leather puttees, the same as those worn in winter, despite some grumbling they are too hot. Standard color, dark gray poplin shirts with sleeve and shoulder insignia showing the wearer's rank, will be regulation for the first time this year. Grey shirts have been required heretofore, but the shade varied because each man bought his own and rank was not shown. All were ordered from the same manufacturer this year.

Sleeve chevrons will identify a sergeant, one gold star on each shoulder strap a lieutenant, and two gold stars a captain.

WOMAN INDICTED AS A SPY; FACES DEATH PENALTY

Is Accused of Giving Secrets to Japs.

New York, May 5 (AP).—Mrs. Velvalee Dickinson, 50, accused of dealing in battleship secrets while operating a Manhattan doll shop, was indicted today as a paid spy for the Japanese—a charge carrying death as the maximum penalty.

Mrs. Velvalee Dickinson.

"I know of no other case during this war in which a woman faces the possibility of forfeiting her life," said United States Atty. James B. McNally.

Mrs. Dickinson, an American born, frail appearing, 95 pound graduate of Leland Stanford university, pleaded innocent in federal court and was held in $25,000 bail for trial June 5.

Charges She Sent Code.

McNally told the court she sent in code "a number of letters to Argentina, some of them containing information about the movement and repairs of battleships after Pearl Harbor."

"We charge that she did this for money received from Japanese agents," he said.

Mrs. Dickinson's attorney, Maurice L. Shaine, said the government has "deprived" her of all her property and that "if the court fixed bail at $1,000, she could not make it."

She kicked and scratched the FBI agents when they arrested her on Jan. 21.

Her Brother Kept Away.

Her attorney has been attempting to obtain permission of the court for her to confer with her brother, Oswald Blucher, but McNally told the court that this was refused after FBI agents, at one such conference, heard Blucher tell her to swallow a piece of paper if any one attempted to take it from her.

Blucher was sentenced last March 31 to 10 days in the house of detention for contempt of court for refusing to answer questions before the grand jury.

Gilmore, Detective Hugh McNulty of the Woodlawn station said, admitted the holdups, but Fox refused to talk. The pair became acquainted while they were serving terms in the Tennessee penitentiary.

JURY TOLD BUSCH HEIR SPOKE OF ARMY AS 'SWINE'

Quoted as Saying He 'Is Too Good to Join.'

New York, May 5: — Gert Hans von Gontard, 37, grandson of the late Adolphus Busch and heir to the Anheuser-Busch brewing fortune, was quoted by a witness in federal court today as having said he was "too good" for the army and "would rather cut off his leg" than enter the service.

The witness, Mrs. Gertrule Zennes, said she was Von Gontard's secretary for 10 years. The German born Von Gontard is on trial for conspiring to evade the selective service law.

Too Good for Army.

"He said he would never join the army," Mrs. Zennes testified. "He said the army was for common people and it would never see him as he was too good for it."

John E. Wilson, former chief clerk of draft board 20, originally was indicted with Von Gontard, the government charging that he had sought to have Von Gontard's draft record transferred from a Beverly Hills, Cal., board to board 20 here. Wilson has since died.

Mrs. Zennes asserted that in 1942 she heard Von Gontard tell Wilson: "Under no circumstances will I go into the army with a lot of kids. They are all stinking swine and I will not go with them."

Hint of a Romance.

Defense counsel, in its opening statement to the jury, asserted Mrs. Zennes once had "matrimonial intentions" toward Von Gontard. Today she testified that she had been married for 17 years and still was living with her husband.

Referring to her diary to refresh her memory, Mrs. Zennes told the court that in 1941 she remonstrated with Von Gontard for living at a midtown hotel which she said was too expensive for him and that he replied he had to continue his residence there to remain in the jurisdiction of board 20.

LOWLY CORN COB GOES TO WAR AS ENGINE CLEANER

Removes Carbon Without Injuring Metal.

BY GAIL COMPTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., May 5.—Corn cobs are being used to clean navy airplane engines; wheat has been made to yield a good sirup for pancakes; peanut hulls, corn sirup, and glue have been turned into an excellent substitute for cork, and other farm crop residues have been combined to produce a good plastic.

This is a small part of results of experiments at the department of agriculture's northern regional research laboratory at Peoria which promise that farmers need have little fear over crop surpluses after the war. Under the direction of H. T. Herrick, the laboratory is paving the way for innumerable industrial uses for farm crops that eventually will do away with the bugaboo of overproduction and low prices which have plagued farmers in the past.

Substitutes Sought.

Typical of the work was the search for a substance that could be used by the navy to blast carbon and grime from engines without harming the metal. For a time corn grits were used but the shortage of the grain and the expense forced the navy to seek a substitute.

After considerable work the laboratory offered the navy ground corn cobs, rice hulls, and peanut hulls. The ground cobs did the most satisfactory job and now the navy could use a considerable tonage of the residue which formerly was burned or plowed under.

Alcohol from Wheat.

At the request of the war production board, the laboratory worked out a method of extracting alcohol from wheat for distillers, and this year 100 million bushels of the grain will go for the badly needed liquid. This method has saved desperately needed corn which formerly was used.

Sugar rationing and lack of corn turned the laboratory's eye on wheat as a possible source of sweetening sirup. Sugar beet factories, which were closed for lack of beets, now are turning out a million pounds of sirup a month. The switch was made without any major change in factory machinery.

May End Corn Freeze.

This new method makes it possible also to process wheat in corn starch plants, and those processing plants now closed for lack of corn could use wheat instead with little change in equipment. If the change were made the government would be able to call off its corn freeze order and allow the grain to go back to producing meat, eggs, and poultry.

In addition to a cork substitute and a plastic, the laboratory also has used farm crops to produce a substitute for rubber and a lacquer good for coating paper with which the quartermaster corps now is experimenting.

The laboratory has blazed the trail for industry and many of its discoveries now are being produced by industry on a pilot plant scale with good results.

PREDICTS LESS RATIONING—TILL AFTER ELECTION

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP)—Further relaxation of rationing restrictions between now and the November election and more drastic rationing thereafter in the event President Roosevelt is reëlected, were predicted today by Rep. Andresen [R., Minn.].

Implying that politics are dictating current rationing policies, Andresen, in a statement prepared for delivery to the house, said he would not be surprised if, between now and Nov. 7, beefsteak, sugar, butter, canned fruits, gasoline, fuel oil, and automobile tires were made available to civilians without rationing.

"Personally," he added, "I am convinced that should the New Deal elect its fourth term candidate Nov. 7, the OPA will shortly thereafter reinstate and make more drastic all rationing policies to further regiment and socialize the economy of our country."

Commenting on the decision of OPA Administrator Bowles to remove all meat except beef steak and beef roasts from rationing, Andresen said:

"I marvel at the rapidity and ease with which Bowles can change his views and actions.

"I recognize that New Deal action always has been geared to proper timing. Can it be that the President and his 'invisible advisers' found it expedient to virtually end all food rationing at this time, . . . to remove the 'odor' from the Presidential taking . . . of a certain Chicago mail order company?

"Or was it a New Deal political expediency properly timed to end food rationing a few months before the Presidential election?"

Andresen contended food rationing could have been abolished six months ago because warehouses were "bulging with meat and processed foods."

HANDBOOK RAID ON LOOP OFFICE NETS 3 ARRESTS

A squad from Capt. Michael Naughton's office yesterday raided what they said was a sizable "nerve center" for handbook operations in Room 1402, at 330 S. Wells st.

A door legend proclaimed the four room office as the Madison Publishing company, but police said there was no evidence of a publishing business there. Instead, police found three men in shirt sleeves, four telephones with 24 outlets, nine chairs, four tables, and handbook hardsheets.

Police said that the office was used for the telephonic transmission of running descriptions of races thruout the country, to local handbooks. Calls from Louisville or other cities would be connected with the local spots, up to 24 at a time.

Those arrested identified themselves as: Vincent J. Welsh, 32, of 331 South blvd., Oak Park; Verne Kent McKimas, 41, of 6311 N. Albany av., and Patrick Walsh, 26, of 3510 Lowe av. They said they were "just waiting," but couldn't say for whom or what. The office was leased April 1 by a man giving the name A. J. Burns.

EDITOR, 37, WHO BARED OFFICIAL FRAUD, PUT IN 1-A

Princess Anne, Md., May 5 [Special]. — Rives Matthews, editor of the weekly Somerset News, was classified 1-A by his draft board today. He is 37, married, and has a foster son, 15.

Matthews was indicted for libel on Sept. 28, 1943, after he had exposed a 1,500 mile pleasure trip on rationed gasoline by State Controler J. Millard Tawes, a Democratic politician. The charge was dropped last month when Tawes said the "case had gone far enough." As a result of the exposure, the OPA revoked Tawes' official and personal rations but later allowed him to apply for official rations.

Matthews, who had been deferred three times, said today's notification of his reclassification from 2-A came as a surprise. Asserting he wished he had been drafted at the start of selective service, he said he seemed to get "more useful as time goes on. I had learned how to run a linotype when other employes were drafted." He operates his paper with the aid of an 80 year old assistant.

Indict 2 for Raping Wife While Restraining Mate

The Kankakee county grand jury yesterday returned indictments charging William Downey and Adolph Perrero of Essex with rape for an attack Sunday on Mrs. Opal Bradbury of Wilmington, mother of four children. Mrs. Bradbury was attacked in a tavern in the presence of her husband, Edward, who was slugged and restrained from aiding her by one of her assailants.

URGES FOILING TIRE THIEVES BY HAVING NUMBERS

Sgt. John Kelly, of the police stolen automobile detail, warned car owners yesterday to retain records of the serial numbers of their tires for use in event the tires are stolen and recovered. He said thieves value tires more than some cars and cited the case of Leonard Jashenski, 21, of Riverdale, an ex-convict with a record in the Jackson [Mich.] penitentiary. Police found a car abandoned without tires on Halsted st., and in the machine was a doctor's bill with Jashenski's name. Jashenski admitted having stolen five cars for their tires, Kelly said.

GREENLAND JOB COMPLETED BY U. S. ENGINEERS

New York, May 5 (AP).—Hundreds of American workmen and army engineers were back in the United States today, having completed another of the war's engineering miracles—the transformation of barren wastelands in Greenland into army bases.

Experiences of the men who completed air bases, hangars, camps, hospitals, and weather and radio stations after two years and three months of hardship were made public yesterday by the army engineers divisional headquarters here.

Working often in uncharted territory in temperatures ranging down to 60 degrees below zero, the Americans found that German weather stations already were in operation, aiding in the air blitz of England. It was not until the late summer of 1943 that the last of the Germans were cleaned out, the army engineers disclosed.

BRUNETTE BABY VAMP WINS SERVICE MEN; STEALS SHOW AT USO

Caroline Lee Kuempel, a blue-eyed brunette, was the center of attraction at the U. S. O. club, 1122 S. Wabash av., last night.

Caroline Lee, only eight months old, was chosen by the service men who frequent the National Catholic Community center as the Queen of National Baby Week. She has been visiting the club since she was six weeks old, and is a general favorite with men in uniform, particularly those who have baby daughters of their own about the same age.

Seaman Johnnie Ward, of Ontario, Cal., monopolized her attention last night. He has a baby daughter just a little older than Caroline Lee, whom he has not seen since she was a few days old.

The parents of the popular baby, Seaman and Mrs. George Kuempel, stood back and permitted other men in uniform to have first place last night. The baby's father is from Nebraska and is an aviation machinist's mate, first class. Caroline Lee lives with her mother at 846 Lakeside pl. The baby's mother says Caroline Lee enjoyed the whole evening.

WATER TAXIS BEGIN SERVICE ABOUT MAY 15

Water taxi service will be inaugurated about May 15 between Michigan av. and Madison st. bridges, Arthur Agra, 1356 Sunnyside av., operator of the service, announced yesterday. Agra, who obtained his license from the city council, said adverse weather delayed plans for initiating the service this spring. He added that extensions to additional points may be served if plans now being considered materialize.

GLEN'S EX-WIFE HAS HIS NUMBER AND LINE'S BUSY

Mrs. Miriam Hulben, 8018 Sangamon st., and her former husband, Glen, of 7825 Champlain av., contested an injunction she sought in Superior court yesterday to restrain him from removing a telephone which is listed in his name but located in her apartment.

Hulben, a war worker, declared he needs a telephone for emergency calls, but cannot obtain a priority to install one in a new address while the old one remains in his name. Mrs. Hulben said she is ineligible to obtain a telephone in her own name. Attys. Joseph H. and Norman Becker, representing Mrs. Hulben, said the phone belongs to her under the terms of the divorce property settlement on Nov. 1, 1943, in which she kept the apartment.

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath indicated he would issue the injunction. Hulben said the issue was "very important" to him, and he would carry the case to Appellate court.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

THE farm may depart from a practice of long standing by putting up corn silage instead of legume silage this year. In the past the first cutting of alfalfa has gone into the silo. This silage was used to feed the steers and the dairy cattle.

This season the dairymaster has requested corn silage instead of grass, and, if weather conditions permit, the first cuttings of hay will end up in the barn in bales. The farm will need all the hay it can get to take care of a record number of live stock.

The advantages of putting legumes into the silo are many. In the case of alfalfa, the entire crop may be saved in first class condition, regardless of the weather.

Losses Have Been Heavy.

Many farmers have lost heavily on their first cutting, when continuous rains have caused it to rot in the swath. The use of legume silage also helps to distribute labor more evenly thruout the season.

Another important factor in favor of grass silage is that the cost of producing a ton of it may be less than that of a ton of corn, a crop that must be planted each year.

Alfalfa silage carries a heavier labor cost in the actual harvesting than does corn silage because of its bulk and inconvenience in handling. It requires more men and machines.

Grass silage is superior in feeding value to corn silage in some respects. It has a higher protein content which reduces the amount of protein needed in the grain mixture. It contains more vitamins and carotene [green color], which helps to increase the vitamin content and yellow color of milk. In making grass silage, weeds are destroyed and the danger of barn fires is lessened.

Feeding Value Less.

Grass silage, however, usually is lower in dry matter content than corn silage, and also has a lower total digestible nutrient value per pound of dry matter. For these reasons grass or legume silage has a feeding value of only 80 or 90 per cent of that of corn silage.

With the two feeds so close in value, the weather may well dictate which is to be used. If the haying season arrives with plenty of showers and the hay cannot cure properly, it will go into the silo. Good haying days, on the other hand, probably will see the forage baled up and stored in the barn for winter use by the beef breeding herds.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

IT usually is not advisable to water newly seeded garden rows. At this time of the year there is sufficient moisture in the soil to nourish seeds. If the topsoil seems exceptionally dry when the seeds are set in the furrow, a light sprinkling of the surface is beneficial, but a heavy watering will create a soil crust which will hamper germination.

If a hard rain falls after seeds have been planted, making a crust over the soil surface, a heavy rake or hand cultivator can be used after the surface dries. By breaking the hard crust, the gardener opens the soil surface to permit free germination of the seeds.

In placing cabbage and other plants in the rows, each plant must be given a liberal sprinkling of water. This is important for "setting" the plants and closing any air pockets around the plant roots.

As a Liberator pilot put it:

"One of their cities is missing!"

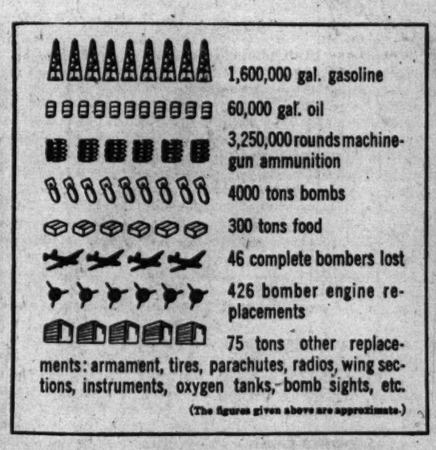
1. 40 minutes ago, there were Nazi factories down there. Now there are no factories. Not even a city. For the last of 1000 Allied bombers has just dropped its block busters. Back of this bomber sweep is a story not many people know. It has to do with the terrific problem of supply in waging aerial warfare. For example...



1,600,000 gal. gasoline
60,000 gal. oil
3,250,000 rounds machine-gun ammunition
4000 tons bombs
300 tons food
46 complete bombers lost
426 bomber engine replacements
75 tons other replacements: armament, tires, parachutes, radios, wing sections, instruments, oxygen tanks, bomb sights, etc.
(The figures given above are approximate.)

2. Above, you get a rough idea of the cost, in material alone, of sending 1000 4-engine bombers over Germany. How can Bomber Command replace this vital material? Answer: That's where Air Power's three teammates come into the picture—the train, truck, and ship . . .

3. If your sleeper is shunted to a siding, remember this: it is probably being held up to let a fast freight streak through with gasoline, spare bomber engines and parts, bombs, food, and ammunition. In this relay race to Victory, the railroads of America are doing a magnificent job!

4. Slogging along at a snail's pace, protected by Liberators, a never-ending convoy of cargo ships becomes the life stream of Air Power. They bridge the Atlantic with supplies to keep the bombers fanning out over Germany. If a cargo is sunk on the way over, a duplicate cargo is usually on its way within 48 hours!

5. The truck, along with the railroads, delivers the goods to the convoys. At the British air bases, again it is the truck that lugs in the gas, bombs, food, spare parts, and so on. In this drama of train, ship, truck, and plane pitching in together for Victory, there is a lesson we must not forget:

6. In rebuilding the peacetime world, all forms of transportation must continue to work together. And the plane will have still another responsibility: it can play a vital role in enforcing global peace. In short, a permanent postwar Air Force is America's best insurance for a lasting peace.

Argues Women Have Right to Post-War Jobs

Washington, D. C., May 5 [Special].—Women must be included in all post-war employment plans, Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of retraining and reemployment, today told the institute of women's professional relations.

"The right of the individual woman to work should be recognized and provided for," he said. "After the experience of the last four years it would be entirely unfair to treat women as a reserve group to be called upon during war only."

He praised every phase of women's war production, in the army and navy, at home and in the battle zones, in the war factories, and finally as producers of a bumper baby crop.

"We need to shake ourselves out of some narrow and superficial conceptions," he said. "It is not usually included in statistics on war production, but let me remind you of the fact that women since 1940 have produced 5 million new babies, over and above the normal production quota—a production equal to half the armed forces in number. They have replenished where men have destroyed. This is a job; it is work to bring up children and it is work to be mothers of men."

The services of scientifically trained women, Gen. Hines said, must continue to be utilized, and he pointed out that the women in the services "will be veterans with the same rights and privileges as soldiers for retraining and reemployment, and rehabilitation if wounded."

He estimated that about a third of the new women workers in the labor force will remain. He predicted a change in women's occupational pattern from factory to scientific, professional, and service fields. He promised studies of "jobs suitable to women—not on the basis of outworn prejudices but on the realities of the situation," and "retraining to help Susie-the-welder make the shift-over, if she wants it."

Women occupy only one out of three civilian jobs now as compared to one out of four in 1940, Gen. Hines said, so the long-range task of their adjustment may not be so difficult as some fear.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Faint Flutterings.

It's a safe wager that few among the Friends of the Chicago Public Library, who are meeting at luncheon today, ever have stumbled onto a small yellowed book, which, among all the volumes on the well-packed shelves, indicates the first faint flutterings of feminine white collars.

Published in 1885 with the title, "The Future of Educated Women," and the sub-title, "Men, Women, and Money," it forecasts careers for women: "In the outside organized work of the world all the lighter and more delicate departments of manufacturing will in time be given over to women; clerical work, the great departments of distributive production, including the selling of goods, bookkeeping, etc., will more and more give employment to educated young women.

"Men are so apt," writes the author, "in the pressure of business and their own affairs to forget women. They say, in a kind of general way: 'O, we don't want women to work. . . . Do let them be quiet and contented and for heaven's sake let them be domestic.' And then they go off to their daily occupations and engage in them with the zest that comes from remunerative work. . . . Do men have any idea of the dreadful ennui that consumes thousands of well educated, bright aspiring girls in thousands of comfortable homes?"

Try These Silks in Making Your Own Clothing

BY REA SEEGER.

Here's good shopping news for career girls who make their own clothes! It's about the fabulously wide all-silk material in a dozen luscious summer colors, all ready for scissors, amateur or semi-professional skill, and any unleashed imagination. Two yards of it make a dress for an average figure. The colors are good enough to eat, and, tho the price per yard is a bit shocking, the required yardage can be had for less than $10. It's as near wrinkle-resistant as anything you can find.

As for the silk crash, it's cool because it's porous. Make a hot weather model with the top cut like a very exposed evening gown, then add a smart little bolero jacket, thereby creating a town-worthy costume. A summer lounging robe, of the same silk, is another sew-your-own idea. So are decorative tailored slacks or play suits. There's a natural tint, perfect for town and office wear, for suit, dress, or coat-dress. The powdery pinks, blues, yellows, and green provide the right colors for day time dresses. A stunning deep purple, one of the smartest summer browns [cool as the shadows in a forest pool], and dark green make three slick town shades to wear with white or pastel colored accessories.

In the same section, you'll see trick knitted material, half rayon and silk, that will make grand bags and summer hats—especially swathed turbans for traveling. Line with striped, checked, or dotted cotton as contrast and you'll have costume accents equal to anything from the stratospheric priced lot in the bag collections.

Racial Equality Action Taken by Methodists

Kansas City, Mo., May 5 (AP).—Methodists plunged into the racial discrimination question today by requesting its "ultimate elimination" in their own church.

They asked that a special commission be appointed to study the problem. Most of the church's 330,000 Negroes, while granted full privileges in general conferences, are segregated into one jurisdiction for administrative purposes.

The 762 delegates to the general conference, who hope to complete their work and adjourn by tomorrow night, also asked that Negroes be given equality in housing, transportation, and educational facilities, and urged the repeal of "discriminatory legislation against the immigrational and naturalization of orientals of friendly nations, and as soon as possible of all nations."

Referring to anti-semitism, the church asked that better understanding be developed thru the interchange of pastors and rabbis.

One mixup on the church's attitude toward war was discovered today. The conference had voted to supplant that section of the discipline which said the church would not indorse, support, or participate in war with a section that stated "God Himself has a stake in the conflict."

Today a delegate browsing thru the discipline found an identical statement saying the church could not indorse, support or participate in war still remained in the discipline, under its social creed.

For a time it appeared another day of debate such as took place yesterday might be repeated. But Dr. Albert E. Day, Pasadena, Cal., proposed a committee be appointed to change the phraseology of the discipline. His proposal was accepted—with cheers.

A company "brunch" is a very late breakfast which takes the place of breakfast and lunch. Its menu is heartier than that of a breakfast.

Usually there's a first course, but no dessert at brunch. Diced fruits in season served slightly sweetened in grapefruit or orange half-shells are a good beginning.

Follow that with skewered chicken livers and bacon, potato balls, baked tomatoes, and coffee cake. Plenty of coffee will make it a meal to be remembered.

Chicken Livers en Brochette.

Rinse livers in water, drain and dry. Cut into halves, dip into melted butter or margarine, and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Alternate pieces of liver and pieces of thinly sliced bacon on skewers, four pieces of liver, five of bacon to the skewer. Place on rack in dripping pan and bake at 375 degrees until bacon is crisp.

Potato Balls.

Cut raw potatoes into balls with a round cutter. Fry in deep fat at 375 degrees. Drain and sprinkle with salt.

Baked Tomatoes.
[Serves four.]

4 tomatoes
1 tablespoon fat
1 tablespoon minced onion
¼ pound mushrooms, chopped
1 tablespoon bread crumbs
Salt, pepper
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Buttered crumbs

Cut tops off tomatoes and scoop out insides. Dust with salt and pepper. Brown the onion in fat, add mushrooms, Worcestershire sauce, bread crumbs, and seasoning. Simmer for five minutes. Stuff tomatoes with the mixture, dust with buttered crumbs, and bake at 375 degrees about 20 minutes.

Quick Streusel Coffee Cake.

1½ cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup shortening
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Grated rind ½ lemon
Streusel Mixture.
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
½ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ cup chopped nuts

Sift dry ingredients together; cut in shortening. Blend in the egg mixed with the milk and add the flavoring. Pour the batter into a greased and floured 9 inch pan. Combine streusel mixture and sprinkle on top. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, 25 to 30 minutes.

A Small Child's Fear of School Can Be Cured

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: I need your advice. My little girl is 5½ years of age. I have tried so hard letting her attend school. She went for three days, but, of course, I had to stay with her. On the third day the principal came in and told me I had to leave. When my little girl heard that she was almost hysterical. The principal was so angry, she told me to take her home. She said to my daughter: 'Go home and don't you dare come near this building!' I felt so bad that I took her home and had a good cry.

"I don't know how I am going to convince her. I try talking to her about the fun they have in school, and so forth, but it is impossible; she won't go near the school. I tried taking her there just for a visit. I met her teacher one day and she told me to take her once in a while just for a visit. Just as soon as I mention school to her she cries terribly. I am worried and don't know what to do."

While this problem, like so many others, could stand a reply covering several days' articles, we shall have to try to compress some suggestions into a small space.

Some children take to school with delighted interest and enthusiasm, while others are emotionally upset, really terrified, at the big room with many children in it, or the building itself, with its huge doors which seem to cut them off from mother and home, and all that has stood for security, comfort, and happiness.

Your little girl's unhappy experience in the school you mention may make it impossible for her to adjust herself there at any time. Would it be possible for you to send her to another school? Certainly this principal is unfit for her job, and enough to frighten any child.

Another suggestion is that you let her wait until she is 6½ or 7 years old before sending her to school at all. This won't prove a handicap to her, I'm sure, because by that time she will be used to being with other children, will have gained poise and emotional stability, and will get along very satisfactorily in her studies, if you teach her.

Most teachers of kindergarten and the lower grades have the ability to make school a happy place for their young pupils, and are able to help them overcome the initial fear and strangeness of school.

Kitchen Pointers

By Mary Meade

"Every time I bake scalloped potatoes with ham the milk curdles. What causes this and how can I prevent it?" writes a distressed reader.

Curdling of the milk, which spoils the appearance of this popular dish, is due to two factors: the salt content of the ham and a baking temperature which is too high. A cured meat is more likely to cause curdling than fresh meat, such as pork chops, which are also frequently baked with potatoes. As to the prevention of the difficulty, bake the ham and potato combination at a temperature no higher than 350 degrees and cover the casserole for the first half of the baking period. Use mildly cured ham, if possible, as this type of ham has a lower salt content. An extra precaution is the use of a thin white sauce [1 tablespoon flour to 1 cup milk] instead of milk with the usual sprinkling of flour between the layers. The use of evaporated milk also reduces the danger of curdling.

"I purchased a canner recently for putting up fruits and tomatoes," writes an out of town reader. "When I started to put quart jars in it I found that it was not deep enough to allow water to come over the tops of the jars as recommended by all canning guides. Can I safely use this canner for processing food?"

In order to save metal, some war time canners have been made quite shallow and they are not deep enough to completely immerse the jars in water. When using a canner of this type in which water reaches only the necks of the jars and the tops are processed in steam, the canning time must be increased by one-fourth of the time usually required.

"Now that pineapples are more plentiful and are not too exorbitantly high in price, I should like to can a few. How do I go about this?" queries an early season canner.

Use fully ripe, sound fruit. Cut off butt end with a sharp knife and twist out top. Slice crosswise and pare each slice. Cut out cores and remove eyes. Precook, either in whole slices or cut in wedges, in medium sirup [2 cups water to 1 cup sugar] for 10 minutes. Pack hot into hot sterilized jars, cover with hot sirup to within ½ inch of top, and process in the boiling water bath for 30 minutes.

SAVE TIN CANS FOR SALVAGE.

War to Keep Many Derby Fans at Home

BY JUDITH CASS.

A SEAT by the family radio is about as close as most Chicagoans will get today to the 70th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs in Louisville. Local racing fans are taking to heart the government's exhortation against pleasure travel in the direction of the historic track, so it's a foregone conclusion that however festive the week-end may be in Louisville, a smaller percentage of Chicagoans than usual will be there to share the fun.

An even more important reason for keeping Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Culbertson II. at home is their new son, born Wednesday in St. Luke's hospital and named William Stuart for Mr. Culbertson's uncle. The baby has a 3 year old brother named for their father and great-grandfather, Mr. Culbertson Sr. of Louisville, who will be the only representative of the family at today's race.

Cheering for Chicago's only entry in this year's Derby, Pensive, will be the chestnut colt's owners, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright, and their guests, the Edwin Fords and the Otto W. Lehmanns. Staying with the Robert W. McIlvains at Walmac for the week-end festivities are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dawes, the Rawleigh Warners, and the Arthur T. Leonards. The Warners recently returned from the graduation from Sarah Lawrence college of their daughter, Suzanne, who has gone to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to visit her grandmother, Mrs. Robert C. Haskins.

The John D. Hertzes undoubtedly will be among today's spectators, as they were expected at Stoner Creek, their Paris, Ky., farm, this week. Derby day at Coldstream farm will be less gay than in former years, for its younger master, Ensign E. Dale Shaffer, has gone to sea with the navy. His wife, the former Jane Harrison, and their young son, Charles Benjamin III., will be coming to Kenilworth soon to visit her parents, the Harry P. Harrisons.

John Marsch will be among today's Derby spectators, but his wife will hear results of the race in Appleton, Wis. Some of the confirmed Derby fans who are not making the trip south this year — the Bert L. Atwaters, the James C. Thompsons, and the John B. De Havens among them — will drop into the Club International at the Drake around 4 p. m. for its annual Derby party. Georgie Price will auction off the horses in the pool. The Saddle and Cycle's gathering today will be an impromptu one, in contrast to the festive party given there last year.

Miss Rich and her fiancé both were graduated from New Trier High school. She attended the University of Colorado and at present is taking a business course in Winnetka. Cadet Wiemers is stationed in Vernon, Tex., where he expects to receive his wings in June.

On the Record

By Claudia Cassidy

Faure Revival.

Gabriel Fauré's gentle Requiem has been reissued by Columbia in the album by Les Chanteurs de Lyon and Le Trigintour Instrumental Lyonnais, conducted by E. Bourmauck, with Edouard Commette, organist; M. Didier, baritone, and Suzanne Dupont, soprano [M-354; five 12 inch records]. The performance is good and the recording adequate, except in some spots where the higher voices are frayed to the point of bleating. If in a buying mood, compare it with Victor's more recent set by the Montreal Festivals, conducted by Wilfred Pelletier.

The Astrological Muse.

Gustave Holst's series of seven astrological tone poems called "The Planets" is rarely played nowadays, even in part, but the first four have been recorded for Victor by the Toronto Symphony orchestra under the direction of Ernest Macmillan [M-929; four 12 inch records]. They are Mars, the bringer of war; Venus, the bringer of peace with a violin solo; Mercury, the winged messenger of the scherzo, and Jupiter, the resounding bringer of jollity. Not the most distinguished music in the world, but attractive in its own style, and well played. Elgar's Imperial March takes up the last side.

Singles.

Samuel Barber's vivacious overture to "The School for Scandal" fills a Victor 12 inch in a lively performance by Werner Janssen and the Janssen Symphony of Los Angeles. . . . Leopold Stokowski and the All-American orchestra have a recent Columbia 12 inch featuring the conductor's bold arrangement of the Preludio from the Partita in E major for solo violin, and the scherzo from Mendelssohn's music to "A Midsummer Night's Dream," more brilliant than feathery. . . . Arthur Fiedler and the Boston "Pops" break out in a twinkle on a Victor 10 inch with an orchestral flourish on "The Banjo" and Leroy Anderson's Jazz Legato ad Jazz Pizzicato, which suggest the light hearted elegance of Paul Draper's dancing.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 5.—Now that his play is going into its sixth year, "Life With Father's" Oscar Serlin wants to make it as well known thruout America as "East Lynne" was to a past generation. He's hoping to get two big Hollywood names, Richard Dix and Virginia Bruce, to do a one night stand tour such as Ethel Barrymore just finished. It has been suggested he do a streamlined version for camps and hospitals with Mary Pickford and Dix, then make the picture in connection with Mary and let her play "Mother" on the screen. I'll be darned if he isn't working on that. . . . News hounds are barking up the wrong tree about Shirley Temple's beaux. Sure, she's having fun, but her No. 1 admirer is not in town. . . . Jack Owens, who wrote "Hut Sut Song," is back on the Breakfast club show at 10 times the pay he received on the same program 10 years ago. . . . Dick Haymes paid for Helen Forrest's screen test. She was in Harry James' Metro picture, but had no closeups. Since then, she's had her nose bobbed.

Joe Is Recognized—Belatedly.

At our academy awards event I thought the industry would take note of service Joe E. Brown had done for us and for our men abroad. No one has traveled so far or has found the going tougher. Joe's not a young man. He attended the academy awards, but no one mentioned his name. Then the independent producers, not the brass hats, but the little fellows, got together and gave Joe a belated party. I hope they kept a recording of his off-the-record speech so it can be played at a producers' meeting. I wasn't surprised that Bob Young, George Murphy, Joe Breen, Ida Koverman, and Carole Landis were unashamed of the tears in their eyes. It was an inspiring evening.

The Home Front Battle.

Film writers struck back at the Motion Picture alliance. The organization was accused of making harmful and irresponsible statements concerning our industry. I went to the alliance's last meeting. If trying to be a good American citizen is harmful, then I'm gonna hang on that. Sure, M. P. A. attacks petty parlor pinks and all fellow travelers. When it accused some picture writers of being "commies" it didn't mince words. If some Writers' guild members would like an honest opinion about themselves, they should listen to remarks made by many professors at U. C. L. A. where the writers' congress was held last fall. The professors assumed, inasmuch as the university was being used, they'd at least be invited in to listen, but they were wrong. Reports they got from those meetings, they didn't care for. So I'll string along with folks I've known, loved, and worked with over the years—like Capt. Clark Gable, Sam Wood, Gary Cooper, Louis Lighton, Dick Fleming, Bill Goetz, Barbara Stanwyck, etc. I've known and admired many writers, too, but just can't imagine how any one getting $5,000 a week, or even $2,000, can be a "commie," but I suppose it's their hope that they'll be in line to take over when, or if, they take over.

Always Doing It.

Zasu Pitts has turned over her Brentwood home to the James Meltons for the summer. James promised me a ride in his 1910 Stanley steamer, and will let me blow the whistle. Well, it won't be the first time. . . . Frances Langford and Vera Vague are learning to speak Spanish. Before she begins shooting "The Girl Rush," Frances hopes to entertain our men in the South Pacific.

Family Custom.

Every time Cole Porter opens a new play his wife, Linda, gives him a present. For "Mexican Hayride," it's a gold cigaret case with two beautiful antique Mexican gold coins set in the top. . . . Cole, Bert Lahr, and I were chewing the fat the other night about the late great Ziegfeld. Cole said the first show he saw when he returned from the first World war was "Ziegfeld Follies." He'd never seen anything so beautiful. Bert and Ziggie lived in the same hotel. Bert would call in the morning to find out how he felt. By evening he'd received a thousand word telegram from Ziggie. It's well known he never really liked comedians in his shows. They were a necessary evil. 'Twas the girls he concentrated on. Bert told the story of the first show Marilyn Miller did away from Ziggie. It was a hit, but at curtain's end Marilyn was found weeping in her dressing room. Only then they discovered there had been no red carpet laid from her dressing room to the stage. The producer didn't know Ziggie had always done that for her.

Public Library Week to Be Opened Today at Authors' Luncheon

Chicago public library week will open with a Chicago authors' luncheon, to be given by Friends of the Public Library, at 12:30 p. m. today in the Hotel Sherman. Guests of honor will include Frederick Babcock, editor of The Tribune book section; Vincent Starrett, Tribune book columnist; Kenneth Horan, author and reviewer; John T. Frederick, writer and Northwestern university professor, and other literary figures.

The main library at Michigan av. and Randolph st. and its 46 branches are holding open house thru the week, with groups from churches, schools, clubs, and Parent-Teacher associations scheduled to make visits.

The library was founded shortly after the Chicago fire of 1871 with 17,000 volumes. It has more than 2 million volumes today—46 miles of books if placed side by side, according to a library estimate. Book loans total 10 million volumes a year, making the Chicago library the largest circulating library in the world. More than a million questions are asked annually of the reference department, and last year the department answered 42,000 telephone calls.

Antiquarians' Party Recalls Days of Yore

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE.

When the Antiquarians of the Art institute treat themselves to a party one can expect to find gracious conversation, reminiscences of early Chicago, and an aura of wistarialike charm that harks back to a day when living was more leisurely. Such an event was the tea which the society gave yesterday in gallery L-2 of the Art institute, with Chauncey McCormick, president of the institute, and Mrs. McCormick as special guests.

Only the Antiquarians and trustees and governing members of the Art institute, along with their wives, were invited to drop in for tea between 3:30 and 5:30 p. m. and to tour the rooms of the decorative arts department. At that, the guest list constituted a veritable "Who's Who in Chicago."

Present was the society's president, Mrs. Phillip Miller, in spring green crepe and a little black hat wreathed in field flowers, whose mother, Mrs. Frank O. Lowden, and grandmother, Mrs. George M. Pullman, both were Antiquarians before her. There was Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, greeting guests beside the entrance, whose mother, Mrs. David Gilbert Hamilton, came to meetings of the society and whose father was a governing member of the institute.

Mrs. McCormick, who pinned a knot of carnations that matched a flowered toque to her French blue crepe dress, also succeeded her mother, the late Mrs. Charles Deering, as an Antiquarian. Mother and daughter twosomes present yesterday included Mrs. Edward C. Waller and her daughter, Mrs. George T. Langhorne, and Mrs. Bruce Borland and her mother, Mrs. Le Roy Fuller. Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., accompanied by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Cyrus Adams, represented the third generation of Antiquarian membership.

The society's handsome silver services, rarely put to use these days, flanked a large centerpiece of white stock and blue iris on the tea table.

Some of those who gathered around it were Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster, Mrs. Carter Harrison, Mrs. Edwin Seipp, Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Mrs. Charles H. ReQua, Mrs. Henry Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Silas Strawn, Mrs. Charles F. Glore, in a refreshing black and white print and springlike hat crowned in white gardenias and green leaves; Mrs. Morris McCormick, Mrs. Walter Byron Smith, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mrs. George A. Ranney, Mrs. Clive Runnells, and Mrs. William McCormick Blair. A slight young man, hard to place among the familiar Chicago visages, turned out to be Larry Adler.

Plan 6 Fellowships to Aid Relationship of Church and Radio

With the objective of fostering a closer relationship between church and radio, NBC, the Congregational-Christian churches, and the Chicago Theological seminary have agreed to join in awarding six fellowships annually. One is to go to an outstanding seminary graduate and five to ministers serving as pastors. Dr. James R. Angell, public service counselor for NBC, announces that the seminary fellowship of $1,000 will permit the recipient to attend one of the three NBC summer institutes, conducted at Northwestern university, Leland Stanford university, and the University of California at Los Angeles and subsequently finish the rest of his fellowship year working on the staff of an NBC station. The other five fellowships, awarded to men in active pastorates, will entitle the winners to attend one of the institutes, with tuition and incidental expenses covered.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

Chicago Public Library week, opening today to continue to May 13, is a fitting time to call attention to the war services of the library staff, which always has been predominantly feminine and, since the beginning of the war, has become more so.

One of the principal services of librarians thruout the city is assistance to war workers. Two years ago Miss Nordica Fenneman organized a special collection of technical books, and women members of the staff took a course in technical terminology in order to be able to assist readers in selecting studies leading to war industry jobs.

Extensive use of the Hild regional branch's technical collection has been made thru the work of Miss Ruth Utter, who consulted 150 personnel managers of north side war plants concerning workers' reading needs.

A bookmobile service for west side war workers was started by Miss Pearl I. Field, librarian of the Legler regional branch, in 1940, to fill the technical and recreational reading needs of employes of several war industries whose hours prohibited their visiting the library in person.

Every Friday the bookmobile, under the direction of Mrs. Catherine Vitha, assisted by Miss Clara Reaum, makes a circle tour of several plants. Mrs. Vitha has observed that, as personnel has become more predominantly feminine since the war started, the type of book requested likewise has changed. Technical reading has given way to the recreational type, altho recent workers still demand volumes to assist them in becoming better at their jobs.

Still another war time function of Chicago public library staff members is helping to organize OCD information centers, consumer clinics, child care groups, and war garden projects.

Mrs. Helen Courtney operates the library's branch for service men, situated in the Auditorium hotel. Miss Fenneman selected the book collection and has full charge of the branch.

Well known to Chicagoans is the book campaign for service men, under the direction of Carl B. Roden, senior librarian. The drive for books to be sent to camps, hospitals, and wherever Illinois service men are stationed originated with the library and was first put into effect in 1941. More than 4,000,000 books have been collected and distributed by Mrs. Helen Carrane and her assistants.

The 224 volunteers serving at the Presbyterian hospital will be the special guests at a tea to be given this afternoon by the hospital's board of managers in the Sprague home for nurses, adjoining the institution.

Most of the volunteers, including members of the Gray Ladies' hospital and recreation corps, nurses aids, and dietitians' aids, were trained by the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross. Others, the Hospital Volunteers, were trained by the hospital for specific duties.

The latter volunteers will be given recognition by the awarding of sleeve insignia to those who have devoted a minimum of 50 hours of service to Presbyterian, which, like other major hospitals, depends on volunteers for efficient operation during war time, when doctors and nurses are scarce.

Charles B. Goodspeed, president of the board, will present the awards. Among the women to receive them are two who are wives of medical staff members. Recipients will be Mrs. Clyde E. Shorey, Mrs. Ernest E. Irons, Mrs. Francis H. Squire, Miss Ruth Broughton, Miss Paulina Knapp, Mrs. Clayton Schrock, Mrs. J. T. Sebert, Mrs. John P. Weaver, Mrs. Ian Hodge, and Mrs. Homer D. Jones.

Gabin's Acting Is Brilliant in This War Movie

"THE IMPOSTOR."

A Universal picture, directed by Julien Duvivier, starring Jean Gabin and presented at the Palace.

By Mae Tinee.

Good Morning!

This is an exciting war melodrama, based on the Petain-De Gaulle situation. It is brilliantly acted but would have been far more effective had the man behind the megaphone known when to stop. . . . The action goes on and on and on, after a situation that would have been perfect "curtain."

"The Impostor" [Jean Gabin] is a fugitive from justice, who, in the uniform and with the papers of a dead hero, assumes the identity of the deceased, is morally reborn, and does honor to the name of the man he is believed to be. . . .

Thru an eror he accepts a decoration for an act performed by the real La Farge. Confused—for he had thought he was to be honored for a deed of his own—he doesn't explain. . . . The truth comes out, and the picture will tell you the rest of the story. . . .

Jean Gabin, master craftsman, with his great cunning in the matters of light and shade, makes this, like all his characterizations, one for the books. . . . Very believable and touching is John Qualen as the adoring little soldier from the farms of Normandy, who attaches himself to La Farge and sticks to him till the end. . . . Richard Whorf gives a grand performance as an idealistic and understanding French lieutenant. . . . Also notable in the cast is Ralph Morgan.

Locales are Tours, France, and French Equatorial Africa.

See you tomorrow.

Army Nurse Corps' Authorized Strength Is Raised to 50,000

Washington, D. C., May 5 [Special].—The number of nurses authorized for the army was raised from 40,000 to 50,000 today by the war department. The present strength is 38,000.

"The needs of the medical department fluctuate with the needs of the army, and the needs of the army depend on the number of casualties," said Surgeon Gen. Norman T. Kirk, in explaining the action. "The number of casualties cannot be known until we have met the enemy for the last time."

Large credit was given to the army nurse corps for the life saving record of the present war, in which only 3.3 per cent of the men wounded have died as compared with 8 per cent in the last war.

Girls Urged: Key Makeup to Costume

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Give yourself a regular 'beauty briefing' in the morning to correlate your clothes and makeup and make for greater harmony in your appearance." That advice comes from the head of a modeling agency.

This expert, who interviews about 5,000 would-be models every year, contends that a "briefing" of this sort, before a girl leaves her home, frequently would make for greater harmony between her clothes and makeup, as well as the suitability of both for the activity of the day.

"Before a model leaves for her first job we give her a briefing in our promotion room. This consists of personalized talks by our beauty and fashion experts, who advise the girl what to wear and how to wear it, how to use cosmetics correctly, and how to fix her hair for various types of clothes.

"Actually," he continues, "any girl can give herself this briefing. All it requires is a common sense approach to the business at hand. For instance, if she's wearing a sports outfit, her hairdo should carry out this casual theme; no sophisticated upsweep—but a loose, wind-swept coiffure. Also, no heavy makeup or perfume for the sports costume. And with the lower heels that she will wear with such an outfit, the girl will naturally have a free-swinging stride when she moves. Conversely, when a girl is heading for a glamorous evening, she should carry herself with dignity—there's nothing that looks more ridiculous then a golf course swagger in a narrow slit dinner skirt!

"All this 'briefing' actually amounts to is the girl's deciding what she's going to wear that day, and then adjusting her makeup, coiffure, and demeanor in keeping with the costume. Armed with the assurance that all is right, 90 per cent of her battle is done."

Thru the Looking Glass

If the spring hats have tempted you—and you're a woman of stone if they haven't—you'll notice that while they are presented as hats, priced as hats, and worn as hats, they make Webster's definition, "a shaped covering for the head," look pretty silly. They don't cover the head.

The wisps of bonnet and the airy little nets and snoods reveal hair mercilessly; they actually point up the necessity for having the crowning glory beautifully coiffed and brushed. Especially brushed.

The smartest hat in the world, tiny, and of a line, color, and whimsicality that makes it something to talk about, is a grand thing to own. But the smarter the hat the greater the responsibility imposed on its wearer to make her hair worthy of the attention the hat will direct to it.

The single most important quality isn't color or length or even—hair stylists to the contrary—the fashion in which the hair is arranged. It's luster. The satiny gleam is what makes hair harmoniously dramatic with a dramatic hat or a sheer, highly colored snood or net. Without the gleam of hair beneath it the success of the hat itself is marred.

And how do you get gleam? Cleansing and brushing—and brushing some more. The natural oil brought up by faithful, firm brushing is the best hair polish in the world. Nothing out of jars or bottles can touch it. If the scalp and the hair are naturally dry, ointments and oils are helpful of course, but they're means of temporary relief. It's nature's own unguent, the natural oil which is stimulated by brushing and massage, that beautifies hair consistently.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

'Danger List'

By Christianna Brand

(Copyright: 1944: By Mary Christianna Lewis.)

SYNOPSIS: Higgins, the postman, delivers seven letters accepting service in Heron's Park military hospital. Dr. Gervase Eden, homely but charming, hopes to escape from a fashionable practice. Jane Woods, a middle aged, successful dress designer, gives up her career to become a nurse's aid. Esther Sanson, against the wishes of a neurotic mother, offers her services. Dr. Moon, whose only son was accidentally killed in childhood, hopes to escape loneliness. Dr. Barnes, exonerated for the loss of a life under the anaesthetic, welcomes a change of scene. Frederica Linley, whose wealthy father remarries, prefers nursing to home. Nurse Marion Bates, man-crazy, is in search of romance. The postman does not know, within a year, one of the writers of these letters will die a self-confessed murderer. Dr. Eden tires of his flirtation with Sister Bates, who tries desperately to impress him. With Dr. Barnes, it's love at first sight when he sees Frederica. During an air raid, Esther, on day duty, stays to give a hand to Frederica. One of the victims, an elderly man with a fractured femur, is brought in. Six months ago Esther's mother was an air raid victim, meeting a horrible death. It was then Frederica and Woods had become her friends. Dr. Eden visits the ward and arranges for his operation the next morning. Esther cares for the patient, then leaves. Another victim, requiring an operation, arrives.

INSTALMENT VI.

JEALOUS SCENE.

Capt. Barnes went very white and stood up suddenly, looking down into Freddi's wide, gray eyes. "Well, Freddi—always remember this: I'd rather have cruelty than dishonesty. I'd rather be hurt than deceived . . ."

Something broke in her and she went up close to him, grasping at his coat sleeves. "O, Barney—I'm sorry, darling. Don't look like that, my dearest; you break my heart. I'll never hurt you or deceive you, Barney, honestly I won't, I swear I won't. . . ."

He looked down at her sadly, at the lovely little face and deep into the limpid eyes. "O, Freddi," he said, "my little love—don't frighten me! You're mine, Freddi, aren't you? Promise me you'll always be mine, Freddi, promise me. . . ."

She closed her eyes, pressing her forehead against his shoulder. "Yes, darling, I promise you; always, all my life."

A man called from the ward. "All right, I'm coming. Look, Barney, you must go, dearest. Goodnight, my love."

The appendicitis case had awakened and was in some pain. Freddi gave him the last injection of morphia and went back to the booth. The casualty in the corner bed was moaning softly, but again there was a step at the door and Gervase Eden came in.

"Hello, Nurse Linley, my lovely one!"

"O, hallo, Gervase," she said uneasily.

"You look like an orchid, Frederica, sitting there with the light shining down on your hair. How do you manage to be so full of color when you're wearing a plain gray dress? I got that out of a book!"

"And you've been going round looking for a female in a gray dress ever since, to try it out on," said Freddi, laughing but her heart did a foolish little somesault in her breast.

"Why can't I just ask for Night Sister, and not go and make jokes that they take too seriously?" thought Eden, exasperated with himself. He hastened to ask where Night Sister was.

"On one of the other wards; do you want her?"

"Not a bit," said Eden, and Frederica smiled again. "For a moment, Gervase, you looked at me as if I was Sister Bates!"

"My dear—have I got a special look for Sister Bates?"

"Gervase, of course, you have! You look at her all cross and withdrawn, like this!" She assumed an expression of hideous ferocity.

"O, Freddi," he said; "you don't look funny at all. You only look adorable. . . ."

Something shivered between them as real and potent as an electric shock; and she was in his arms. But in a moment he had pushed her away from him. "I'm sorry, my dear. I—I lost control for a moment. I'm sorry; I shouldn't have done it. I feel such a rotter, Freddi. Do forgive me and forget all about it."

"There's nothing to forgive, Gervase."

She stood in stricken silence, staring at his face; and, at a step in the passage, escaped into the ward. Sister Bates came into the booth. She said, spitefully, sick with jealousy and anger: "O, there you are, Maj. Eden! I thought I should find you here!"

"I'm making my rounds," said Eden, who had finished them half an hour ago.

"Do you kiss the nurses in every booth, when you're making your rounds?" she said furiously.

"No," he said, coolly. "Only the sisters."

He had not meant to say it, like that; he had not meant to refer to the past when she had been on night duty, when she had followed him round ward to ward, when she had "happened" to be in every booth he arrived at. He said, apologetically: "I'm sorry, my dear; I didn't intend any wise cracks. But I was not making love to Freddi Linley, and, to be honest, I don't know what business of yours it would have been, if I had."

She looked at him bleakly. "O, Gervase—how can you say such a thing?"

"My God!" thought Eden; but he said, kindly and patiently: "Look, Marion—we must have this out, once and for all. You and I had a little affair. I never pretended to you for one moment that it was more than that. These things can't last forever, and they don't. It was charming and it was delightful and I'm very grateful for all the fun we had together—but now it's over."

"You told me you loved me. . . ."

But he interrupted her, saying sternly: "I never said those words to any woman in all my life."

"O, words!" she cried, passionately. "Who cares about words? Whatever you may have said about loving me, you let me love you; and now I'm not going to be thrown away because you've gone and fallen for a silly little chit like Frederica Linley. I shall go to Barnes and tell him about it. I won't let you go, Gervase. I can't; it would kill me. I'm not going to. . . . You can't be in love with her!"

"I'm not in love with any one," he said steadily. You know I'm not in a position to marry any one, Marion," he said impatiently.

"But you don't love me any more?"

"O, Marion," he said, wearily; "do let's not go over this again. Men fall in love and fall out of love, and that's all there is to it."

"All the same, Gervase, I won't let you go; I'll tell everybody how you've treated me, I'll tell everybody how you're letting me down for that Linley girl, I'll make you stay with me. . . ."

He caught her by the wrist, staring down, grim and angry into her frightened face. "Don't you dare!" he said.

"I will, Gervase, I swear I will. I'll—I'll sue you for breach of promise. . . ."

He flung her away from him in disgust and marched off out of the booth and into the hall; she stayed for a moment, leaning against the wall, sick with the realization of her own behavior, and then crept out after him.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1944: By Ely Culbertson.]

South in the following deal "bid his head off" to reach a slam contract, but it must be admitted that he justified his own optimism when it came to the play.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♥ K Q J
♦ A K 6
♣ K 5 3

WEST
♠ A K Q 10
♥ 9 6 2
♦ Q 10
♣ Q 10 9 8

EAST
♠ J 9 6 5 3
♥ 5 4
♦ J 9 8 7 5
♣ 2

SOUTH
♥ A 10 8 7 3
♦ 4 3 2
♣ A J 7 6 4

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 no trump | Pass | 3 hearts | Pass |
| 4 hearts | Pass | 5 clubs | Double |
| Pass | Pass | 6 hearts[!] | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

South's luck lay in finding North with high cards in the right suits, and in having been warned by West's injudicious double of five clubs to look out for the club finesse, which South otherwise probably would have taken, and lost.

West opened the spade king; declarer ruffed, led a diamond to the ace, and ruffed another spade. Next he led to the diamond king and ruffed a third spade, and then used the club king as an entry for a fourth spade ruff with the trump ace.

Now declarer's last trump was led and dummy's three high trumps drew West's cards in that suit while declarer discarded a diamond and a club. Finally, a club was led from dummy and when East showed out declarer nonchalantly played the seven. West, after winning, had to return a club from the queen right up to declarer's tenace, and the contract was "in."

Another bit of luck for declarer, incidentally, was the fact that West had held only two diamonds and consequently had no card of exit.

Mrs. Mildred Bloodworth, 789 Cooper st., Atlanta, Ga.—Using zippers from discarded clothing and shower curtain material—which I bought by the yard—I made refrigerator bags of various sizes. One of them is large enough to hold a roast on a platter.

Mrs. Fred O., Chicago—It would be helpful if all layer cake tins were manufactured with measuring marks similar to those on measuring cups. In this way one could easily pour the same amount of batter into each tin. I'm a bit new at this baking game and could certainly use such marked tins.

Mrs. Ted S., South Bend, Ind.—After a year of housekeeping I have learned that if I use absolutely clean cloths in waxing any surface, and change cloths the minute they get the least soiled, I avoid streaks in the finished job. This is the best insurance I know against streaking—this and not using TOO much wax.

'WE'RE IN LOVE,' SAY BOY, 14, AND WOMAN HE WED

Bride Faces Charge of Child Stealing.

Denver, Colo., May 5 [Special].—Jail atmosphere tonight failed to dampen the marital ardor of Elaine Wisecarver, 21, mother of two children by two other men, and Ellsworth [Sonny] Wisecarver, her 14 year old ninth grade pupil bridegroom. They were awaiting the arrival of officers from Los Angeles, Cal., where the boy's mother had filed a child stealing charge against Elaine.

"Sonny is an ideal husband. He doesn't believe in hitting women," said Elaine, who considers this her first marriage, altho she has two daughters, Elaine, 2, and Judy, six months. "If they annul this marriage, we'll wait till Sonny's of age and show them we still love each other."

"Elaine's the kind of wife I want because she likes to have a good time without getting drunk," commented the youthful husband. "I'll wait for her if she wants me to. I don't want our marriage annulled."

Down to 40 Cents.

After an elopement marriage April 29 in Yuma, Ariz., the two were taken into custody here yesterday, with only 40 cents between them, as they inquired about a telegram in a hotel. The telegram was to have been a reply to one that Elaine had sent Wednesday from Albuquerque, N. M., to her mother, Mrs. M. McEntee, in Los Angeles, saying:

"Mom—broke—wire cash immediately to Denver, Colo."

Elaine tonight told Detective Capt. James E. Childers about the romance. She said she met Sonny last February as he and other school boys in Compton, Cal., walked past her home, where she was living as a common law wife of James Monfredi, a war plant metal worker.

Whistled at Her.

"They whistled at me as I opened the door to look in the mailbox," she said. "I laughed and waved back."

After that, she related, she saw Sonny after school and on holidays and decided "to elope and go somewhere so he could get a good job. He wants to study to be a welder."

Informed by Los Angeles newsmen today that Elaine had said she was not married to him, Monfredi said he had "supposed" he was married to her.

Recalls Drinking Party.

"Some time in 1941," he asserted, "we went to Nevada and did a lot of drinking. I passed out and when I came to, in a car, Elaine said we were married but that she'd show me the wedding license some other time. Whenever I'd want to see it, she'd stall. She can choose between me and this boy."

Elaine did not name the father of her first child, but said she and the man were going to Las Vegas, Nev., nearly three years ago to be married but the car broke down, "so I got mad and came home."

ARMY TO GRANT INDISPENSABLES HOME FURLOUGH

Washington, D. C., May 5 [Special].—A new plan under which officers and enlisted men whose jobs make them "in a measure indispensable" in overseas theaters may be granted "non-emergency leaves and furloughs" to visit their homes in the United States, then return to their assignments overseas, was announced today by the war department.

The new furloughs differ from the previously announced rotation plan, under which the men returned home are not sent back overseas until they have performed duty in the United States. The war department emphasized, however, that the "non-emergency" furloughs will not increase the number of men returned to this country [not more than 1 per cent of the military strength of any theater], because those returning under the new plan will be counted in toward the rotation plan quotas.

Three weeks at home, in addition to the travel time, is to be allowed under the new furloughs, which will be granted to men whose work has been outstanding or who have been wounded.

NAME 19 TO RUN IN KENTUCKY DERBY TODAY

CHARLEY GRIMM IS MADE MANAGER OF CUBS AGAIN

OLYMPIA GOLF CLUB WILL BE REORGANIZED

Plans Sale of Part of Property.

The Olympia Fields Country club, long famed as one of the world's largest and best equipped golf plants, still aims to continue in the role it began playing in 1916, that of a golf club for golf's sake. Yesterday, a special committee appeared in the court of Federal Judge John P. Barnes to present a reorganization plan which would enable the club to carry on. Judge Barnes approved the plan and set June 20 as the date for a confirmation hearing on the court's decision.

W. E. Crocombe.

The reorganization plan was presented by Fred E. Hummel, trustee for the club; Attorneys William H. Townsend and Louis Cohen, and a members' committee headed by W. E. Crocombe. Other members of this committee include A. J. Riffle, E. R. Peterson, Frank Yarnell, Nels Hendrickson, and Atty. Townsend.

Will Sell 340 Acres.

For several weeks, it has been known that a religious order had bid for the entire property. The members of the club, however, decided to make every effort to keep the plant in their hands, following filing of a petition in voluntary bankruptcy on Dec. 31, 1943.

Under the plan approved yesterday, approximately 340 acres of the present 667 acres will be transferred to a trust company for sale. Portions of the No. 1, 2, and 3 courses would be affected in this transfer, embracing 160 acres fronting on the Lincoln highway, 72 acres west of the Illinois Central railroad tracks, and 108 acres facing Western avenue.

Plan New Mortgage.

The bondholders, who will be issued certificates by the trust company, will receive cash payments of 50 cents on the dollar and also would participate in the proceeds of the property sales. The bond issue in default totals $493,000. The cash payment of 50 cents to the dollar is to be raised by a new $250,000 first mortgage and a $200 assessment on each member. This latter already has been levied and has been paid by 238 members to date.

The withdrawal of the aforesaid portions of the 1, 2, and 3 courses will necessitate a readjustment of their remainders, so that, with the addition of the No. 4 course, the members will have a full 36 holes. They also will retain the clubhouse and the swimming pool under the reorganization plan.

Golf Trouble? Cure Is Ready at Free School

[Opportunity for all golfers to learn how to play the game free of charge—whether they actually play or merely talk the game and want to play it—is presented today with the announcement of The Tribune golf school—from The Tribune of May 12, 1933.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The above statement, published 11 years ago come next Friday, was the first hint golf minded Chicagoans had that there might be something to teaching golf in its fundamental sense to large groups.

The announcement of that inaugural school led to a good deal of adverse criticism in many quarters. Most of the conservative parties in the game allowed it was too cumbersome a project to accomplish its purpose. Since it was a new idea, never even suggested before, the real objective of the school was generally misunderstood by its critics.

On the face of the initial call to classes, it appeared that THE TRIBUNE was trying to make par smashers out of folks who never before had been able to break 100. Such was not the goal of the school, nor is it today. The original thought was to emphasize golf's simplicity to persons who had entertained the thought of taking the game up, but were fearful of the results of their untried swings.

414,000 Have Benefited.

Since that opening announcement 414,000 men, women, and children from the Chicago area have received free instruction in the first principles of the game from the members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

The 12th annual free school, conducted by THE TRIBUNE in conjunction with the Illinois P. G. A., will open next Monday on the four courses of the Chicago park district — Jackson, Marquette, Columbus, and Diversey-in-Lincoln. Each of the four lessons — next Monday; Friday, May 12; Monday, May 15, and Friday, May 19 — will begin promptly at 7:15 p. m.

Must Bring One Club.

Every student is asked to bring a golf club, preferably a driver. If you don't own one, try and borrow one. All prospective pupils are also requested to appear at the course nearest their home or work by 7 o'clock, if possible, in order that the classes may get under way on time. There are no barriers as to sex, age, or ability. Every one from 8 to 80 is invited to come out and take these free lessons from the Illinois P. G. A. members, men who have devoted their lives to the game and who have earned their membership in the P. G. A. thru a rigorous five years' apprenticeship.

All of the four courses can be reached easily by surface lines, rapid transit, and motor coaches. Their locations are: Columbus, Jackson blvd., and Central av.; Diversey, in Lincoln park at Lake Michigan and the foot of Diversey blvd.; Jackson, just east of 63d st. and Stony Island av., and Marquette, Kedzie av., and Marquette rd.

CUBS, PIRATES TO PLAY ONE TODAY, TWO TOMORROW

Manager Pro Tem Roy Johnson will start Hank Wyse and the Pirates will rely on Nick Strincevich.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 5.—Rain or no rain, it looks like Stir Up in the 70th running of the Kentucky Derby tomorrow. . . . Trainer John Gaver, however, will be one of the 65,000 at Churchill Downs who will be happy if the track is a sea of mud, as they say in Sardis, Miss., because his horse likes that kind of going better than dry footing. . . . The heavier the surface, the better his chances. . . . Rain that deluged Louisville for 24 straight hours stopped this morning and it is likely that the track will be sticky, not muddy, by post time for the Derby. . . . If that should be the condition under which America's most famous race will be run, anything can happen. . . . Stir Up will be less dangerous to the rest of the field on a track described as slow than he will in mud. . . . All in all, this is one of the hardest Derbies to pick in recent years. . . . There's no Count Fleet, Whirlaway, or Johnstown among the candidates. . . . There are several good horses, no great one. . . . Stir Up is the betting favorite, because the heavy gamblers are riding with him. . . . That was the case in 1940 when Bimelech was backed more robustly than his record warranted. . . . And look what happened: He trailed Gallahadion, a 35 to 1 shot. . . . Nearly every trainer thinks his horse has a good chance to win with one notable exception. . . . He is Ben Jones, who will saddle Warren Wright's Pensive. . . . "All I hope is that Pensive lands in the money," Jones said tonight. "He isn't a Whirlaway by any stretch of the imagination, but there are no Whirlaways in this race." . . . Jones, always conservative in appraising his stables candidates, has the respect of every man in the business. . . . He'll be shooting for his third Derby winner tomorrow. He saddled Lawrin in 1938 and Whirlaway in 1941. . . .

Count Fleet.

Whirlaway.

For the owners and trainers of the 16 or 17 colts which probably will go to the post, months of meticulous preparations and weeks of competitive tests are over. . . . The long grind, complicated by the unseasonable spring, is at an end. . . . Two of the winter book favorites, Pukka Gin, and Platter, didn't even get to Churchill Downs. . . . Several other hopefuls are missing. . . . It takes a rugged horse, if not a good one to withstand the rigors of Derby conditioning. . . . Tho the 1944 Derby field lacks distinguished names, there may be compensations from the standpoint of showmanship. . . . There may be a cavalry charge finish right in front of the boxes to provide a climax that was lacking in the years of Count Fleet, Whirlaway, Johnstown and other brilliant performers. . . . The fans in the 50 cents bleacher seats got all the best of the Whirlaway Derby, for the most spectacular stage of that race occurred when the Calumet color bearer unleashed that tremendous rush on the turn approaching the stretch, about a quarter of a mile from the expensive customers. . . . There was no show at all in Count Fleet's victory, and Johnstown let none get anywhere near him. . . . Tomorrow, however, the folks who can afford dollar mint juleps may see Pensive, Skytracer, Broadcloth, and Alorter ganging up on Stir Up right in front of their seats. . . . While the backers of the favorites are looking the other way it would be no surprise to this department if a horse almost overlooked in the betting sneaked out of the pack and outlegged the field to the wire. . . . Gay Bit might be the one, especially if the track is heavy, . . . Not the least of the reasons why Stir Up is supported so enthusiastically is that he will be ridden by Eddie Arcaro. . . . They say much of his success lies not in his judgment of pace but in the fact that he has an uncanny sense of timing a breathing spell so as to keep a front runner going and simultaneously to break the heart of a challenger. . . . Sometimes you'll see Arcaro's horse leading by three lengths, then gradually you'll see a pursuer cut that down to a length, or even to half a length, until Eddie tells his mount it's time to go again. . . . Horsemen say there's nothing that takes the heart out of a challenger quite so much as to watch a supposedly tiring pacemaker start to draw away again. . . .

Warren Wright.

Matt Winn.

Churchill Downs turfmen were scanning some interesting reading matter today. . . . Webb Everett, racing secretary of Arlington Park and Washington Park, brought with him a batch of condition books, which schedule the events during the first 17 days of the meeting. This first book includes the program of races which will be run during the July fourth week under the sponsorship of Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. . . . The stake schedule for that period is headed by the $50,000 Stars and Stripes handicap. . . . Among those telling friends about

DELAY SIGNING UNTIL HE CUTS MILWAUKEE TIES

Casey Stengel Will Pilot Brewers.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Charley Grimm is coming back to his old job of managing the Cubs, who since last Monday, when Jim Wilson "resigned," have been operating under a pro tem boss.

The return of the popular Grimm isn't clinched—no papers have been signed—but the wheels were set in motion with suddenness yesterday and his formal reentry will take place if and when he can untangle himself from such duties as acting president, field manager, and part owner of the Milwaukee Brewers, with whom he captured a pennant last season.

Part of the plan is to turn over the Brewer management to Casey Stengel, ex-leader of the Braves, who now is on his way here from Glendale, Cal. Stengel, another popular baseball figure, resigned from his Boston job last February when he lost out in an attempt to buy a controling interest in the club.

Grimm's Visit Opportune.

The little item of who was going to be whom in the Cubs' quest for a new field general popped suddenly because Grimm, on his way from Kansas City to Milwaukee, decided he would drop in at Wrigley field to see whether the Cubs would be able to break their 10 game losing streak in the opener of a series with the Pirates. Cold weather caused the losing streak to remain intact for another 24 hours, but Grimm did see President P. K. Wrigley and Vice President James Gallagher.

When Grimm arrived at the park Wrigley and Gallagher were in the former's downtown office trying to locate their man in Milwaukee by long distance phone. Informed that he was visiting the park, the two Cub executives rushed there and went into conference. According to Gallagher, altho he has talked with Grimm on the phone several times during the last few days, the latter didn't know until the conference got under way that he was the first choice for the job he held for six years prior to July 20, 1938, when he threw up the sponge.

Protects Veeck's Interests.

Grimm readily admitted that his ambition was to return to the major leagues — preferably to his former post with the Cubs. But he also pointed out that he couldn't walk out on his Milwaukee obligation on short notice.

"The main thing I am interested in," said Grimm, "is protecting the interests of Bill Veeck [Brewer president now with the marines in the South Pacific], as well as my own in the Milwaukee organization. Stengel should be an ideal man for the Brewers job. Milwaukee wants another winning team in the American association and I want to see that they get it."

Cubs' Bosses Issue Statement.

As soon as the conference, which was brief, was concluded Grimm hurried to Milwaukee to iron out details and prepare the way for the introduction of Stengel.

After the conference broke up the

Venci Wins Gary; Two Horses Break Down at Sportsman's

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Venci, a 5 year old gelding which panicked the horse followers at New Orleans during the winter and spring, made his presence known at Sportsman's Park yesterday when he popped down in front in the Gary purse. This was Venci's fifth triumph of 1944 and if any other horse in these United States has won that many races this year, the experts who follow the fortunes of the thorobreds will be surprised.

Venci whipped a field of 10 in the wide open feature event yesterday, with the favorite, Liberty Flight, getting no better than ninth place. A substitute jockey, Walter Warren, was aboard Venci and delayed his move until the racers started making the turn into the stretch. Then the pair came hustling down the rail for a length and a half decision over Bar Willow. Warren was riding Venci because Jack Martin had suffered a leg injury in the third race.

Venci's Backers Get $19 for $2.

Few among the 9,709 spectators took Venci's southern triumphs seriously and the result was a return of $19 for $2. Likewise Bar Willow was a sleeper, paying $10.40 to place. Shadburn was third.

After Venci had won five races at the Fair Grounds in New Orleans he was claimed from Doug Ness by Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gregory, Chicagoans. This was the horse's 15th start of the year. He also has landed two seconds and two thirds.

The Cicero track's half way mark in its 14 day meeting had its tragic side when two of the racers in the second race broke down. One was the favorite, Shining Light, which had to be destroyed. The other was Dawn, which suffered a leg injury, as the horses came into the home stretch. Dawn spilled its rider, Bruno Pucci, who was well shaken up.

Mares Win Daily Double.

Another big day at the mutuels sent the handle of the seven days to $3,570,561. Yesterday's betting was $524,863, compared to $317,330 on the seventh day of the 1943 spring meeting.

A pair of ancient gal compaigners coöperated in winning the daily double. Valdina Love, a 5 year old mare, took the first race in whipping Dr. Reeder, the favorite. Ballinderry, a 7 year old mare, took the second race. The double returned $35 for $2.

Today's Top Race Divided.

Marc Pena maintained his leadership in the jockey race by getting a victory and two thirds and racing his total to 62.

Today's top race is to be the Western Avenue, $2,500 handicap, which was split into two divisions, with nine named in the first and 10 in the second. The purse distribution in each race will be $2,500.

Two Outsiders Are Added to Field.

Derby Forecasts

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 5.—Representatives of The Chicago Tribune sports department today announced their selections for tomorrow's running of the Kentucky Derby as follows:

ARCH WARD, sports editor—Stir Up, first; Skytracer, second; Pensive, third, and Broadcloth, fourth.

MAURICE SHEVLIN, turf writer—Skytracer, first; Stir Up, second; Alorter, third, and Pen- second; Alorter, third, and Pen-

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 5.—Apparently inspired by nearly 30 hours of continuous rainfall and the prospects of a heavy track, the field for the 70th running of the $75,000 added Kentucky Derby tomorrow at Churchill Downs was set at 19 today with the surprise entry of two outsiders, one a filly which never has run a race.

Whereas the moisture raised the hopes of many of the owners, it didn't change one bit the esteem in which the public holds Mrs. Payne Whitney's Stir Up, star of the Greentree stables and winner of the $15,000 Flamingo, the $5,000 Experimental Free handicap, and the $25,000 Wood Memorial this year. With the hard riding Eddie Arcaro aboard, Stir Up and the other 18 are scheduled to go to the post at 5:15 tomorrow, with Stir Up an odds-on favorite at 6 to 5.

Pensive Is Second Choice.

Individually, Warren Wright's Pensive is second choice at 4 to 1, and M. H. Goff's Skytracer and O. E. Breault's Challenge Me are next in line, but in all probability next to Stir Up in the betting will come the field horses, which will number 10 in the event all 19 entrants go to the post.

The odds on the field group probably will be 3 to 1 with such horses being included as Joe Goldband's Shut Up and A. Baroni's Autocrat.

While government restrictions against unnecessary travel and its early warning to officials of Churchill Downs that the Derby must be confined to Louisville and vicinity, no doubt have prevented thousands from coming for the race, tomorrow's crowd is expected to exceed last year's 65,000 by some 5,000.

Peace Bells Likes the Mud.

The two added starters are Comanche Peak, owned by Mrs. Floyd West, which won a 6½ furlong race here yesterday on a sloppy track, and the filly, Peace Bells, owned by Charles Compton. Peace Bells' owner says she like the mud, but she earned a lot of publicity with the filing of her entry at 11:10 this morning, 40 minutes after the usual closing time for the Derby. The Derby list, however, was not closed until the rest of the day's races had been made up 15 minutes later.

Comanche Peak has valid reason for being entered. It won five races as a 2 year old including the $10,000 added James H. Connors Memorial stakes at Narragansett and earned $13,705 for the 1943 campaign. Yesterday's victory was its second in six starts this year.

First Filly to Start Since 1936.

If Peace Bell goes to the post [the owner has until tomorrow to pay the $500 starting fee,] she will be the first filly to start since 1936 when Gold Seeker finished ninth, and will be the 27th filly to start since Gold Mine ran 15th in the 1875 event. In the event all 19 horses start, the 1944 Derby will break Shut Out's record for net earnings, for as it stands now, the reward will be $66,700. Shut Out earned $64,225 in 1942 when 150 horses were nominated and 15 went to the post.

Derby preparations have run a ragged course since the closing of entries at 148 back in the middle of March. Since then favorite after favorite has been withdrawn and a list which once included such winter book choices as Pukka Gin, Platter, Occupy, and the fleet fillies, Durazna and Twilight Tear, doesn't quite measure up to what had been expected.

Figures to Be a Contest.

Nevertheless, the race tomorrow, particularly in view of the promise of slow running conditions, figures to be one of the best in recent years so far as close contention is concerned. Half of the big field is composed of horses which relish mud, and the favorite revels in it. As Stir Up's rider, Arcaro, says, "There'll be a lot of dirty faces if the boys stay too close to me."

Little Mike Caffarella, who will have the leg up on Skytracer, and Conn McCreary, pilot of Pensive, are not concerned with Arcaro's opinions. They agree it's Stir Up they'll have to whip, but they both think they'll do it.

PHILLIES DEFEAT DODGERS, 3-1, GO INTO 2D PLACE

Raffensberger Wins 3d on Four Hit Job.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 5 (AP).—The surprising Philadelphia Phillies got good pitching again today, this time from Southpaw Ken Raffensberger, and climbed into second place in the National league flag race on the strength of their 3 to 1 victory over Brooklyn.

It was the fifth straight triumph for the Phillies and the third in a row for Raffensberger, a 19 game winner with Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast league last season.

Raffensberger yielded only four blows to the Dodgers—two of them by Frenchy Bordagaray — and his pitching was so effective that only one fly ball was lifted to the outfield. He walked two batters.

N.U.'s Kepford Is Awarded Flying Cross

BY ROY GIBBONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—On Dyche stadium's playing field in Evanston, Ill., Ike Kepford learned the lessons which helped him shoot 16 Jap planes from the South Pacific skies, the former Northwestern university half back said today.

14. Ike Kepford.

Kepford, the navy's No. 1 combat ace, is 24 years old and from Muskegon, Mich. He joined the navy three months before the attack on Pearl Harbor.

His performance on Northwestern's football teams in 1939, 1940, and 1941 brought him national mention. But what he said was the biggest honor he ever has received came to him today during the press conference at navy public relations headquarters, where he was notified he has been awarded the distinguished flying cross.

Order Signed by Halsey.

The order, signed by Adm. W. F. Halsey, is in the form of a temporary citation and reads as follows:

"In the name of the President of the United States, the commander South Pacific area and South Pacific force, takes pleasure in awarding the distinguished flying cross to Ensign [now lieutenant, junior grade] Ira Cassius Kepford, U. S. N. R., for service set forth in the following citation:

"For extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial attacks against the enemy as a pilot attached to a fighting squadron operating in the Solomon Islands area from Oct. 27 to Dec. 1, 1943. On Nov. 11, while covering a task force in Empress Augusta bay, Bougainville, a flight involving more than 100 Japanese aircraft was engaged.

Destroys Four Jap Planes.

"In the ensuing action Ensign Kepford pressed his attack with such determination that he succeeded in destroying four enemy bombing planes and severely damaged another. He repeatedly went down thru friendly anti-aircraft fire in order to press his attack to completion. In addition to the above engagement, he participated in 48 combat missions, six of which were opposed by intense and accurate anti-aircraft fire. His devotion to duty, courage in the face of numerical superior enemy forces, and skilful airmanship were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States naval service."

COLD, RAIN KEEP SOX AND TIGERS IDLE IN DETROIT

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., May 5.—The White Sox, who yesterday leaped out of the American league cellar, thus making room for the Detroit Tigers to topple into that loathsome pen, couldn't play the said Tigers today. The reason: cold and rain, each in quantities sufficient to cause the postponement by itself.

The washout reduced the series to three games or less. If there is sufficient weather improvement there will be a single game tomorrow and a double header Sunday. Orval Grove, who was to have pitched today, will start the next Sox game, whenever and wherever played. The Sox expect to behold the offerings of Stub Overmire, a left hander, who has been nicked twice in his American league endeavors, both times by close margins.

Pitchers Carry Load.

The Sox's splitting of the recent four game series in Cleveland has had some pleasant aspects in retrospect even tho there were two late blowups which lost games after they apparently were Chicago victories. In the two actual victories Bill Dietrich and Ed Lopat were obliged to virtually carry the team on their backs. Squeeze bunts were essential to both victories and few Sox hits reached the outfield. So, if the pitching continues good, the Sox brain trust contends, somebody is liable to hit a double or so most any day, making victory much easier.

After the series here the Sox will move east, even if they have to hitch-hike. Some of the party will proceed on Sunday evening, more on Monday and some as late as Tuesday. The first invasion of the east will be a single game against the Athletics on Wednesday. That series will conclude on Friday, with a night game. There also will be a night game in Washington on Saturday, May 13, and a double header with the Senators the following day. Then the caravan goes to New York and Boston.

Best Wishes for Grimm.

Dykes took time off from his stratagems this afternoon, when he heard Charley Grimm had been made Cub manager to say: "I'm glad Charley is back in Chicago. We'll battle him as hard as ever in the spring and fall, but in between I along with many others will be pulling for his success. He was a fine player and he is a sound baseball executive and one of the swellest sportsmen in the business."

OHIO STATE NINE HANDS MAROONS 14 TO 3 BEATING

Marshall and Crane Play to 3-3 Deadlock

Marshall and Crane Tech, both undefeated in the west section of the City league, the former with six victories and the latter with five, yesterday battled to a 3 to 3 nine inning tie in Altgeld park. The two coaches, Lou Weintraub of Marshall and Sam Edelcup of Crane, decided to call the game at the end of nine innings. The contest will be replayed at the end of the season if both teams are still in the race for section honors.

Lou Prempas worked on the mound for Marshall yielding seven hits, and striking out 11. Gene Revell, who went the distance for Crane, gave up five hits and fanned 10.

In the south section, Fenger moved into a first place tie with Calumet when the latter lost its first game in six starts to Parker, 4 to 3, and Fenger defeated Bowen, 5 to 3, in Bessemer park.

Bob McGorigil, a right hander, yielded Chicago Latin no hits as University high won, 3 to 1, in a Private School league game. It was Latin's first loss in three games.

Platak, Coyle Play for A.A.U. Championship

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Seaman Joe Platak, called the Iron Man of handball as a result of having won eight National A. A. U. singles championships in the last nine years, will attempt to show he deserves the sobriquet when he competes in the finals in both the singles and doubles events in the Lake Shore club this afternoon.

Platak, who captured his only two man national title in 1937 with Bob Weiller of the Lake Shore club as his partner, easily eliminated Jack Srenco of the St. Louis Y. M. C. A. in his singles semi-final match yesterday afternoon, 21-6, 21-3. It took less than half an hour for Joe to dispose of Srenco, the first game in 16 minutes and the second in 12.

In his doubles match, the last competition on yesterday's program, Platak and his partner, Navy Lt. Bob Quinn, defeated Sailor Gus Lewis and Walter Plecan of Buffalo, N. Y., 21-13, 21-20.

After the contest Bob Kendler, representing the Lawson Y. M. C. A., said Platak and his partner never played better. Kendler and Jack [Lefty] Stenson, the latter Lt. Quinn's former playing mate, were beaten in the semi-final round yesterday by Pep Tocchini and Earl Heinrich of Oakland, Cal., 21-0, 4-21, 21-1.

Tocchini and Heinrich will meet Platak and Lt. Quinn for the doubles championship today at 3:30 p. m. Two hours earlier Joe will seek to defend his singles championship against Frank [Lefty] Coyle, Providence, R. I.

Coyle advanced by conquering Navy Lt. Theodore O'Leary of the Kansas City Athletic club, 21-16, 21-17.

Kendler and Stenson will face Plekan and Lewis for third place doubles honors at 2:30 this afternoon.

Grimm Will Manage Cubs Second Time

Cubs' executives issued the following printed statement:

"The Chicago Cubs today offered to Charley Grimm, manager of the Milwaukee Brewers, the job of managing the Cubs.

"Grimm was the first choice of the Cubs following the sudden resignation of Jimmy Wilson last Monday. But the Cub management realizes Grimm's popularity with Milwaukee fans required that a manager of major league caliber be secured to replace Grimm and therefore refrained from contacting him until such man could be secured. After careful consideration of possible candidates the Cubs believe they have found such a man and have asked Grimm if he will accept the Cub management.

"Casey Stengel, long time National league manager and one of the most popular men in baseball in his own right, has consented to manage the Milwaukee club if Grimm comes to Chicago."

First with Cubs in 1924.

Grimm, who has been in and out of Cub jobs of one kind or another so often that he has set some kind of a record, became a Chicago employe the first time in November of 1924 when he was acquired in a deal with the Pirates, for whom he had played first base for six seasons.

When the late Bill Veeck Sr., president of the Cubs, fell out with Manager Rogers Hornsby, Grimm was given the position. He was installed Aug. 2, 1932. He piloted the Cubs to a pennant that season but the Yanks crushed them in four straight games in the world series.

Under Grimm the Cubs won another flag in 1935 but succumbed to the Tigers in the world series. With the team going badly in July of 1938 Grimm, after a meeting with President Wrigley at the ball park, was relieved of his duties and whether he quit of his own accord or by request never has been definitely established. Gabby Hartnett was promoted to the role of No. 1 man and the Cubs again went on to win a pennant. And again were thumped four straight by the Yanks in the world series. Hartnett was fired after the 1940 season to make room for Wilson.

ARMY OBTAINS PRICE SLASH IN CANOL OIL PACT

Post-War Supplies Are Provided.

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—The war department today announced a new agreement it said would give the United States lower cost petroleum and post-war production rights in the 130 million dollar Canol project in Canada—previously criticized by the senate's Truman committee.

Senators Kilgore [D., W. V.], and Ferguson [R., Mich.], said the war department told them that under the new agreement the United States "will receive far better terms than under the original agreements." They were members of the Truman subcommittee which investigated Canol and declared the original agreements with Canada and Imperial Oil, Ltd., were "improvidently drawn, without even an effort to obtain fair and reasonable terms" for this country.

Price Slashed to 20 Cents.

The revised contract provides that the Canadian firm will supply the United States army with crude oil at 20 cents a barrel, plus production costs, and this country will be entitled to get up to 60 million barrels of the field's production after the war.

Under the first contract Imperial Oil would have supplied oil to the United States army at $1.25 per barrel, plus production costs, Canadian currency, for the first 1½ million barrels.

Kilgore and Ferguson said they have not yet had sufficient time to study the new terms or draw final conclusions concerning them.

Army Drops Exploration.

The department said the army had suspended its exploration for reserves in the Canadian northwest, but under the new arrangement further exploration will be continued by Imperial Oil. In addition, Imperial Oil will proceed with development of the Norman Wells field from which the current supply is coming so as to have "an assured supply up to 4,000 barrels per day for the army's refinery at Whitehorse, Yukon territory, which began operations April 30," the department said.

In addition to the use of the petroleum products during the present war, "the new agreement is fundamentally a matter of insurance that in the future the defense of the continent will not be endangered as it was early in 1942 by lack of locally produced oil in the northwest," said Undersecretary of War Patterson.

4 REAL ESTATE SALES TOTALING $700,000 MADE

Four real estate sales totaling approximately $700,000 were completed yesterday. The largest was the purchase by Floyd B. Weakly, attorney, from Pullman Trust and Savings bank, trustee, of the northeast corner of 71st st. and Jeffery av., for $265,000. The buyer represents a syndicate of south shore residents.

Mid Continent Laundries, Inc., bought the former Brooks Laundry company plant at the northwest corner of East av. and North blvd. in Oak Park from the heirs of the John Heist estate for $200,000 cash.

The 44 flat building at the northeast corner of Drexel av. and 80th st., was sold by Live Stock National bank for $147,000.

Dr. Robert J. Newell bought the 26 apartment building at 8011-17 Ingleside av., from Chicago City Bank and Trust company, trustee, for $84,500.

LIQUOR OUTPUT IS NEXT ON LIST, NELSON ASSERTS

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—Chairman Nelson of the WPB told senate investigators today that beverage alcohol is next on the list of essential needs, but that a final decision on resumption of whisky making rests with the war food administration.

Standing firm on his previous assertion that distillers cannot be released from industrial alcohol manufacture for at least "three or four months," Nelson said he expected no new civilian demands that stand in the way of the liquor industry.

He said WPB's only function would be to release facilities. Then, it would be up to WFA to make a claim of the facilities for beverage alcohol, he asserted.

Galvin Is Awarded Third Star for Its 'E' Pennant

Suggest Price Rules Continue for 18 Months

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—The senate banking committee voted today to recommend an 18 month instead of a one year extension of the price control act, which expires June 30.

Sen. Taft [R., O.] proposed the longer continuance to make the proposed new termination date, which would be Dec. 31, 1945, conform with the calendar year accounting systems employed by most business and industry.

Chairman Wagner [D., N. Y.] said only two committee members, Sen. Hawkes [R., N. J.] and Sen. Butler [R., Neb.] opposed the amendment.

The vote came after it was learned that the Republican leadership in the house has decided to abandon its anti-subsidy fight and approve an extension with only one change—court review of office of price administration regulations.

Disclose Strategy Change.

Two members high in Republican party councils disclosed this shift in strategy today. One of them, asking not to be quoted by name, put it this way:

"We are on record in this thing, not once but twice. Every one knows how we feel about it. We have decided tho that we'll not press the issue this time and we'll vote for renewal of the price control law with that one change which would provide for court reviews."

Some witnesses before the banking committee, notably Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve system, have suggested that controls be continued until well after the war to guard against inflation.

Wolcott Is Overruled.

House Republican leadership, it was understood, has overruled the position taken by Rep. Wolcott [R., Mich.] who has always fought against subsidies.

When Wolcott first voiced opposition to subsidies, the Republican leadership backed him to the hilt and got some Democratic support. Subsidy foes pushed a repealer thru congress, but were unable to override President Roosevelt's veto.

The court review amendment that the Republicans will support grants the right of recourse to the federal courts for persons and companies claiming injury by operations of the price control program.

GRAINS DECLINE ON WIDE PROFIT SELLING IN RYE

Heavy profit taking sales of May rye, estimated by brokers to have exceeded 2 million bushels, resulted in a slump in that grain yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. A small early advance lifted the price to $1.32⅝ cents a bushel, a new high since early in February, but when selling started support was less aggressive and the close was at the bottom at a loss of 2¼ cents. The deferred deliveries lost 1 to 1⅛ cents.

Other grains were affected by the action of rye. Wheat finished unchanged to ⅜ cent lower, oats lost ⅛ to ½ cent, and barley was ¾ to 1⅛ cents lower.

RETAIL VOLUME RISES 5 TO 7 PCT. ABOVE YEAR AGO

New York, May 5 (AP).—Retail trade volume this week was estimated 5 to 7 per cent above a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today.

"The increase can largely be attributed to the brisk response to hot weather apparel promotions," the report said. "Main floor departments with accessories, novelties, jewelry, and notions did brisk business. Women's ready to wear maintained the lead in retail distribution."

People and Events

The war department's award for meritorious civilian service was presented yesterday to Henry P. Isham, chief of the purchasing, termination, and renegotiation policy unit, and George Graf, senior engineer of the small arms branch of the Chicago ordnance district. Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, district chief, made the presentations. Isham was president of Clearing Industrial district before joining the ordnance district staff in 1942. Graf was works manager of Superior Products.

CITY TRACTION UNITY SNARLS AIRED IN COURT

Mayor, Street Car Investors Heard.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Some of the immense difficulties that must be overcome if Chicago is to have a financially strong, unified local transportation system were aired yesterday in federal District court before Judge Michael L. Igoe. The court controls the surface lines in receivership and the elevated lines in bankruptcy.

During the hearing, which consumed nearly three hours, a statement by Mayor Kelly was read by William H. Sexton, special counsel for the city. The mayor said the service of the two companies is inadequate and that the lines have no program for improvement. He suggested that unless the investors in the properties find a buyer who will make improvements the city's plan for municipal ownership should be adopted, and the court should use all its powers to expedite action along this line.

Private Ownership Speedier.

The mayor said one of the advantages of private ownership was that unification could be accomplished sooner, possibly in less than a year, whereas two years or more would be required under municipal ownership. He referred to "conditions which obliged the city to propose municipal ownership," but indicated he would be willing to agree to any feasible plan the Illinois Commerce commission would approve.

The specific matter before the court was a series of objections to recommendations for private ownership unification made by a committee of lawyers appointed by the court.

Attorneys for the first mortgage bond holders of the surface lines, who are now getting 5 per cent interest, objected to a proposal by the committee that they accept 2 per cent fixed interest and 2 per cent more if earned. The face value of these bonds exceeds 72 million dollars.

Demand at Least 5 Per Cent.

Two witnesses for this group, I. L. Porter, a vice president of the First National bank, and Prof. S. H. Nerlove of the University of Chicago, testified that 5 per cent would be a minimum rate at which the proposed securities would be marketable. Porter said that historically traction bonds had a bad rating.

Atty. Francis X. Busch, representing L investors, asserted that in railroad reorganizations amounts were scaled down in reorganization, and 4 per cent was a maximum rate of return. Proponents of the first mortgage holders held that less than 5 per cent interest would give them an inferior security, which was not disputed.

Junior Investors Protest.

Guy M. Peters, representing junior security holders, said they would be more injured than the senior security holders by the proposals. The junior security holders, he added, have pleaded for reorganization since 1927, when the surface lines were thrown into receivership because their franchise expired and the city refused—and has continued to refuse—to issue a new franchise to any company except a unified one.

Judge Igoe told the various security holding interests to try to work out an acceptable distribution and report on progress on May 17.

Despite a dip of 3.27 per cent in Butler Brothers' consolidated sales in April, sales of its retail division, Scott-Burr Stores corporation, rose 10.68 per cent to $1,399,628 from $1,264,462 in April, 1943. # Delay in Law on War Items' Sale Is Urged

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—William L. Clayton, surplus war property administrator, today asked a senate military affairs subcommittee to postpone legislation to govern the disposal of surplus war goods. He said he wanted more experience before laws are enacted to guide sales now averaging between 12 and 15 million dollars a month.

Clayton suggested that congress first enact legislation covering contract termination, and that this be done promptly. Thereafter, he proposed that congress designate its choice of a single agency with overall authority in the government's sales.

Expression on General Policy.

He urged further that congress express itself as to general policies without impeding the flow of commerce by cramping the discretionary powers of the administrator.

"It would seem clear," Clayton testified, "that one of the most effective ways of preparing for the post-war problem is to locate and dispose of as much surplus property as possible during the current phase when there is a useful demand and an opportunity to sell with beneficial effect on the domestic economy.

"Every article sold now is one which will not overhang the market after the war."

Most of the goods now being sold consist of raw materials and partly fabricated materials that are left over when war contracts are terminated.

Expresses His Doubts.

"I am in doubt," he asserted, "as to the desirability of legislation on such matters of price and disposal policy as selling thru established channels of trade, selling to manufacturers goods requiring reconditioning before public distribution, sales so as to facilitate purchases by small business, sales to discourage monopoly, maximum mark-ups on resale and the like.

"General principles expressed in statutes may be helpful if they are not contradictory of each other and are capable of administration without impeding the flow of commerce. But there is no substitute for wise administration, and a principle which is ideal for one type of sale may be burdensome and against public interest in another."

DROP IN BUILDING EASING LUMBER LACK, SAYS WPB

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—Some relief in the lumber shortage was predicted today in a war production board announcement reporting more success than had been expected in cutting back 1944 construction activity.

WPB said total volume of military and civilian building this year was not expected to exceed 3½ billion dollars, about 10 per cent under the 3 billion 900 million estimate made last fall.

"The reduction will help materially to conserve scarce lumber as well as supplies of steel and copper, which are becoming increasingly tight, and it is regarded as a welcome relief to the war economy," the report said.

Eric Johnston Re-elected Commerce Chamber Head

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—Eric A. Johnston of Spokane, Wash., was reelected today as president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

OPA'S CEILING PRICE CUTS TURN S. WATER TRADE TO BUYING RIOT

Buying on the South Water market, the country's largest produce distributing center, developed boisterous scenes yesterday as new OPA price ceilings automatically went into effect on unseasonably scarce items.

Strawberries, cucumbers, lettuce, string beans and other fruit and vegetables were marked down to the lowest prices of the year, altho receipts on the Chicago market have been extraordinarily low.

Buyers knew about the new prices, and they went to market early. The market occupies about six blocks on 14th pl., where 166 wholesalers and brokers serve dealers within a 150 mile radius of Chicago.

Thousands of buyers were in the street at 5 a. m., when the market opened. They pulled one another off strawberry trucks, struggling for the right to buy the cargoes. They swarmed onto the buying floors of the produce houses, pressing money on the buyers.

"I just stood there," one seller said, flabbergasted by it all, "and looked down at a puddle of riot. There was nothing to sell, and everybody wanted to buy it."

REPUBLIC STEEL DEBT TOTALING 70 MILLION DOLLARS IS REFUNDED

Cleveland, O., May 5 (AP).—Refunding of more than 70 million dollars in outstanding funded indebtedness and bank loans was announced today by Republic Steel corporation. It was accomplished thru the sale of 50 millions of 3½ per cent first mortgage sinking fund bonds to 11 insurance companies, and arrangement of 24½ millions in new serial bank loans.

The sinking fund bonds are due in 1964 at face value plus 1½ per cent premium.

Republic announced the funds would be used for redemption on June 17 of all its outstanding general mortgage 4½ per cent bonds and for redemption June 5 of all outstanding Gulf States Steel company first [closed] mortgage sinking fund 4½ per cent bonds.

El. Household Reports Big Order Backlog

An unprecedented volume of orders from dealers and distributors for the normal products of Electric Household Utilities corporation for post-war delivery was reported yesterday by E. N. Hurley, chairman, in his annual report to stockholders.

Despite this backlog, the company is storing finished washing and ironing machines, which, because of the uncertainty when sales will be permitted by the war production board, are listed as a noncurrent asset in the company's balance sheet. Together with related materials and parts in process, this special inventory entry amounts to $950,000.

Obtains VT Loan.

Hurley disclosed that the company has completed negotiations for a VT loan of 2½ million dollars.

After provision for redetermination of war contract prices, the company netted a profit of $452,149 for 1943, compared with $359,992 in 1942. No refund to the government was required as a result of the renegotiation of 1942 business, the report said.

A decrease in Monsanto Chemical company's profit during the March quarter despite an increase in sales over the 1943 period was attributed by Edgar M. Queeny, chairman, to the "fact that our costs and taxes are rising while our prices have remained unchanged," and to a shift in sales due to the war. "We are selling phosphorus to the government at a nominal profit instead of selling its more profitable derivatives," he said.

Sales Pass 20 Millions.

Monsanto's sales for the quarter were $20,063,490, compared with $19,967,245. Profit was $1,141,733, against $1,348,711. Income taxes amounted to $2,690,010.

Queeny said that Monsanto's recent agreement to acquire the capital stock of I. F. Laucks, Inc., Seattle, Wash., and certain associated interests involves the issuance of 26,000 shares of Monsanto common stock. Laucks manufactures glues for plywood and other industrial uses.

Gimbel Brothers, Inc., reported consolidated sales increased to $164,318,208 during the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, from $137,643,637 in the preceding 12 months. Profit amounted to $3,168,104, against $3,347,770. Federal taxes totaled 11½ million dollars net after credits, or approximately 75 per cent of earnings.

Bernard F. Gimbel, president, said the company's long term debt had been reduced from $31,999,951 to $21,609,775 during the fiscal year.

RATION CHANGE BOOMS PACKERS' SALES OF MEATS

Meat was moved out of packers' warehouses and into retail stores yesterday in the largest volume since rationing was begun, packing company officials said last night. Another outpouring was expected today as housewives complete their shopping for Sunday dinners. With points removed from all except roast beef and a few grades of steak, the shoppers will be restricted only by the size of their food budgets.

Steady prices were paid for hogs early in the Chicago stock yards, but later sales declined 10 cents a hundred pounds. Chicago hog receipts increased, but arrivals decreased at many of the other packing centers.

The cattle market was the regular Friday cleanup affair, with prices unchanged. Lambs declined 25 cents.

END CORPORATE TAXES, IS PLEA BY HENDERSON

Rely on Individual Levy, He Urges.

Abolition of all corporation taxes and all excise levies except those on alcohol and tobacco was advocated yesterday as a post-war program by Leon Henderson, chairman of the Research Institute of America and former director of the office of price administration.

Leon Henderson.

He made these recommendations in debating with Sylvia Porter, New York financial writer, the subject: "Should Taxation Be Used to Stimulate Post-war Business?" The debate was sponsored by the Executives' Club of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman.

Tax on Individuals Supported.

In place of corporate levies, Henderson said, a graduated personal income tax approximately one-third below current payments should be relied on completely.

Miss Porter recommended that corporation taxes be simplified and reduced to a single flat rate of 15 to 20 per cent, assuming a 140 billion dollar annual national income.

Asked where he thought the graduated income tax should start, Henderson replied:

"I would exempt those incomes which are used almost 100 per cent for maintaining life, and while the exact starting point depends on the level of prices, I could see a sharp elevation in rates at the $4,000 a year level, another rise at $8,000, another at $12,000, and no limitation at $25,000.

"With such a tax on the books and the corporation taxes out of the way, we would encourage industrial expansion, stimulate the competitive system, raise wages and profits, and increase stability. Industry would not have to arrive at its judgments on expansion by taking corporate taxes into consideration."

Tax Structure Held Inadequate.

Miss Porter said the present tax structure is inadequate, lopsided, and repressive, and places a premium on trickery. She proposed that: "Our post-war tax system should be so devised that it stimulates production and thereby employment; that, as a result, it helps maintain a high level of national income, and that, as a final result, it permits us to carry the burden of our public debt."

The speakers disagreed on what should constitute a new enterprise and whether small or large businesses would absorb the larger number of workers the more quickly after the war.

Citing war production as an example, Henderson favored the large businesses. Miss Porter said statistics belied this statement and supported the small companies.

FEEDER PLANTS' SHUTDOWN NEAR IN FORD STRIKE

Detroit, Mich., May 5 (AP).—Suspension of production in feeder plants of the Ford Motor company of Canada was reported to be imminent today because of a strike which already has made 15,000 workers idle at the Ford plant in Windsor, Ont.

Production was hampered in Detroit again today as work stoppages continued in 16 war plants with nearly 9,500 employes idle, but a walkout of 1,300 workers was concluded at two Republic Aircraft plants which had been closed nine days.

Two Windsor plants employing 2,000 persons supplying parts to Ford of Canada already have been closed. Approximately 3,000 foremen in 11 Detroit plants stayed away from their work despite directives of the war labor board ordering them to return.

SHORT-CHANGING CHARGE AGAINST A. & P. DROPPED

Danville, Ill., May 5 (AP).—Allegations that the New York Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company furthered a conspiracy in violation of the anti-trust laws "by the systematic practice of short changing, short weighting, and marking up prices" were ordered stricken from the government's suit against the company today by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley.

A criminal information charging the company and 30 officers and subsidiaries with conspiring to restrain interstate commerce in food and to monopolize this trade was filed here Feb. 26 after a similar case was dropped in the northern district of Texas at Dallas.

Stock Market Climbs; Rails, Specials Lead

New York, May 5 (AP).—Led by rails and specialties, the stock market advanced today. Gains of fractions to 3 or more points were widespread and a number of favorites reached peaks for 1944.

The revival started about noon and trade expanded briskly for a time. Closing prices were at or near highs in most cases altho activity tapered in the final hour.

The comback was based on the failure of the expected technical correction to appear and of holders of securities to liquidate. Investors who had been awaiting bargain prices apparently decided to reinstate commitments and risk a reaction. Political hopefulness, earnings prospects, and waning of invasion apprehension were among motivating factors.

Average Makes Wide Gain.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was up 0.4 at 51.9, the best advance since March 30. Transfers totaled 786,890 shares, the largest since April 19.

At new highs for the year or longer were Park & Tilford, which added 3¼ points on the belief a whisky dividend was in the offing; Austin Nichols common and preferred A, Pacific Mills, American Can, and Union Pacific.

The bond market was strong with railroad issues prominent.

On the Curb Childs preferred rose 5⅞ points on odd lot transactions of 275 shares.

CHICAGO LIST ADVANCES.

Prices advanced on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in active trading. Raytheon Manufacturing preferred, Middle West corporation, and Miller & Hart, the volume leaders, gained fractions. Stocks selling at new 1944 highs included Raytheon preferred, Midland Utilities $6 and $7 prior lien, Parker Pen, and Utah Radio Products.

JONES SOUGHT C. & E. I. RULE, SENATORS TOLD

Washington, D. C., May 5 (AP).—Charges that Secretary of Commerce Jones as federal loan administrator sought to "rule or ruin," the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad company, a borrower from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, were made before a senate interstate commerce subcommittee today by V. V. Boatner, Chicago, a C. and E. I. director.

Boatner told the committee he had been scheduled to become president of the line, but that Jones and the RFC had exercised a controling influence on stockholders and some of the directors to prevent him from attaining the office.

He said that at one time Jones had threatened to exercise power thru loan negotiations to reduce salaries of all C. and E. I. officials to a maximum of $4,800 yearly if there should be a change in the railroad's directorship which would leave Boatner in control.

Appearing in opposition to Boatner's testimony, W. McNeil Kennedy, Chicago, counsel for C. and E. I., and James Homire, legal chief of the RFC's railroad division, told the committee that a majority of the C. and E. I.'s directors had elected Charles T. O'Neal, Chicago, president.

SEC Denies Utility's Plea for Exemption from Bids

Philadelphia, Pa., May 5 (AP).—The securities and exchange commission today denied Northern Indiana Public Service company's request for exemption from competitive bidding requirements of the holding company act in its proposed sale of 220,078 shares of 5 per cent $100 par value cumulative preferred stock.

BRISTOL-MYERS.

Please send me a report on the Bristol-Myers company L. H.

Answer: Rated the third largest producer of "proprietary" drugs, toiletries, and related products, Bristol-Myers has diversified its line with the establishment in 1942 of a division to manufacture vitamin products and the purchase in 1943 of the Cheplin Biological Laboratories, Inc., a producer of chemical, pharmaceutical, and biological preparations.

Principal branded products are Ipana tooth paste, Sal Hepatica, Rubberset brushes, Vitalis, Mum, Ingrams shaving cream, Minit Rub, and Toushay hand lotion. In addition to American plants, manufacturing laboratories are operated in Canada, Australia, Mexico, Cuba, Colombia, Chile, and Argentina.

Stability has characterized the company's earnings with net income exceeding 2 million dollars in each of the last 11 years except 1934, when net profit was $1,966,165. Net for 1943, before renegotiation, amounted to $2,683,557, equal to $4.02 a share, as compared with 1942 net of $2,464,338, or $3.69 a share. The 1942 net is after deducting $250,000 of special reserves but before a $77,000 net renegotiation refund.

Per share net for other recent years included $3.56 for 1941, $3.73 for 1940, $3.49 for 1939, and $3.25 for 1938.

The 667,251 shares of $5 par value stock represent the sole capitalization. Dividends have been paid each year since the present company was formed in 1933, including $1.90 a share in 1942 and 1943, $2.55 in 1940 and 1941, and $2.40 in 1938 and 1939.

The working capital position at the close of 1943 was strong, with cash and marketable securities exceeding total current liabilities.

CITIES SERVICE SYSTEM SPLIT ORDERED BY SEC

Oil, Utility Business Held Incompatible.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 5 (AP).—The billion dollar Cities Service system was ordered today by the securities and exchange commission to dispose either of its utility interests or its "vast and complex" oil business and other nonutility enterprises.

The commission's order, issued under "death sentence" provisions of the holding company act, would break up the 125 company system engaged in oil production, transmission, refining, and marketing; electric and gas utility businesses, natural gas production and distribution, ice supply, steam heating, real estate, water supply, irrigation, transportation, manufacturing, and filling station operations in 48 states and several foreign countries.

Given 15 Days for Decision.

Cities Service is given 15 days in which to select a retainable system.

Technically, the SEC order requires Cities Service to limit its holding company system to the natural gas retail distribution business conducted by the Kansas City [Mo.] Gas company, Wyandotte County [Kas.] Gas company and Gas Service company [serving Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, and Nebraska] and permits retention of the natural gas production and transmission facilities of Cities Service Gas company, Bartlesville, Okla.

"Our order does not foreclose retention in the Cities Service system of all of its oil business, all of its gas production and transmission business and all of its other nonutility holdings if Cities should choose to comply by disposing of its holdings in all utility companies," the opinion said. "Cities may choose to dispose of its utility holdings and retain the rest of the system intact."

Ruled as Not Appropriate.

The two types of enterprises—oil and utility—were ruled "incompatible," by the commission in rejecting the company's contention that its oil business was "reasonable incidental or economically appropriate" to utility operations of the three retainable companies.

If the oil business is treated "as a unified whole," the SEC "could not consistently with the standards of the holding company act permit the whole oil business to be retained in combination with the gas distribution properties," the opinion said.

Arkansas Natural Gas corporation, a subholding company, was ordered to limit itself to gas and nonutility businesses of a natural gas subsidiary, Arkansas Louisiana Gas company.

Among the companies Cities Service is ordered to dispose of if it retains the integrated gas utility system are Arkansas Fuel Oil company, Arkansas Natural Gas company, Orange State [Fla.] Oil company, Transark Oil and Gas company, Chesebrough Building company, No. 8 State Street Realty company, and South Ferry company, all of New York City.

Ontario Company Included.

Also Cities Service Oil company, Ltd., [Ontario]; Cities Service Oil company [Pennsylvania] and Crew Levick company, Pennsylvania oil producing and marketing companies; Consolidated Cities Light, Power, and Traction company and six Canadian subsidiaries; Empire Gas and Fuel company and its subsidiaries [including Cities Service Oil company, Empire Pipeline company, Empire Oil and Refining company, Texas-Empire Pipeline company, Texas-New Mexico Pipeline company, and Empire Pipeline Company of Mexico; Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America, Texoma Natural Gas company; Penn-York Natural Gas corporation; Republic Light, Heat, and Power company, Buffalo, N. # "GOD ON A BATTLE WAGON"

Read this thrilling story of a navy chaplain's service in the war in the Southwest Pacific. First instalment in tomorrow's Tribune.
